Vol. XLIX. MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 24, 1930. C DAILY, FIVE CENTS

MINOR PACT NOW HOPE

Parley Turns to Stop-Gap Plan

Work Slated to Begin Today on Limited Treaty Based on Tripower Action

Early Return of Briand or Tardieu to London Seen as Unlikely in Paris

LONDON, March 23. (AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald came back from a week-end at Chequers tonight to search the somnolent naval conference headquarters for material with which to build a five-power naval pact of limited scope, but resting on a tri-partite agreement among the Americans, British and Japanese. He will begin the preliminary phases of this work tomorrow.

When the Japanese have received word from Tokio about the tentative Japanese-American arrangement, the fate of the treaty envisaged will be settled, and if the word is favorable, it can be rushed to completion within two weeks.

Throughout the day Mr. MacDonald talked at Chequers, as he had done yesterday, for word from either the French or the Italian delegations of some new development that would enable them at last to get together again at the conference table. Italy's demand for parity and France's resolute refusal to accept it with Italy still was the chief barrier to the progress of negotiations.

STATEMENT GIVEN

The only statement of the British delegation tonight was that the conference continues in full confidence that the French delegation also will return. The British and the Americans will meet tomorrow morning.

With no real developments in conference activities, rumors took full play of news today.

It was said that Secretary of State Stimson had had a two-and-a-half hour conference with Mr. MacDonald today, but this proved misleading when it was learned that Mr. Stimson had remained at Chequers all day. Another was that the British planned to make a important statement at 9 o'clock tonight, but the hour passed and the British press conference ended in nothing.

PARIS REPORTS

From Paris came reports of resentment against the British press, which was accused of carrying on a campaign to place on French shoulders the responsibility for the failure of the conference. In British circles Mr. MacDonald was said to be maintaining strict neutrality as between France and Italy, making every move as chairman with the utmost caution to avoid any cause of resentment.

Rome found a strong advocate tonight in Wickham Steed, widely known British journalist and editor of The Times from 1919 to 1922.

Returning to America, Steed declared on Page 7, Column 3)

Native Egyptian Policeman Invited to Luncheon as Fourteenth Guest

CAIRO (Egypt) March 23. (AP)—Comrades of the native officer in charge of the police at Sakkara consider thirteen his lucky number, since it was responsible for his getting an invitation to have luncheon with Queen Marie and Princess Ileana of Rumania.

The Queen and Princess, while visiting the ancient monuments at Sakkara, were invited to luncheon by the head of an excavating party. They accepted, and on arriving discovered that an unexpected guest had increased the number of diners to thirteen. The Queen hesitated to sit down to a meal with a party of thirteen persons, so the native officer was summoned to join them. The lunch was voted a complete success.

COLLISIONS TAKE LIVES OF TWELVE

Railway Coach Hits One Auto, Killing Eight, and Train Crashes Another

AUBURN (N. Y.) March 23. (AP)—Four boys and four girls were killed near here tonight in a grade-crossing crash. A gasoline coach on the Auburn line of the New York Central Railroad, running at high speed, caught the small sedan in which the young folk were traveling broadside, hurled it against a house fifty feet away, and scattered the bodies 300 feet along the tracks.

The bodies were so badly mutilated, identification was very difficult. Hours after the accident the four men only had been identified through papers in their pockets. They were: Earl J. Besaw, Syracuse; Frank Straus, address undetermined; Edward Cheldren and Darius Auletta, Syracuse.

The four girls had not been identified.

The accident happened at Shoemaker Crossing, about five miles west of Auburn. The occupants of the automobile evidently did not see the approaching railroad coach, though the view at the crossing is unobstructed for a long distance.

The crossing has been marked for elimination this year because of several fatalities in recent years.

FOUR KILLED WHEN TRAIN STRIKES AUTO

TRENTON (N. J.) March 23. (AP) Four persons were killed today as a Pennsylvania Railroad express train hit their automobile at the Scudders Falls Crossing, six miles from here. They were Ernest Houldsworth, Thomas Davis, Mrs. Joseph Davis, and Mrs. Clara McMullen, all of Philadelphia.

Auto Club Party Discovers Welcomers All Abed on Reaching Hermosillo

This story by Harry Carr, Times staff representative with the Southern California Automobile Club pathfinding expedition in Mexico, was transmitted directly from the expedition's portable radio station, IPH, and was received locally by Charles Hill, owner and operator of amateur station W6BRO.

BY HARRY CARR
"Times" Staff Correspondent

HERMOSILLO (Mex.) March 23. (Exclusive)—For twenty hours I have been riding down an old Mexican road with the pathfinding expedition of the Automobile Club of Southern California. When we rolled through the international gate at Nogales it was like slipping out into another world and another century.

Changeless, inscrutable Mexico—a battalion of soldiers drilling in the streets, the dulce peddlers with their tables on their heads, old women sitting in the doorways, the dance halls with flaring signs.

QUEER SIGHTS

We are out of Nogales and into the country of the wood choppers—huts of adobe again—hills—burros packed with wood; little store houses of straw standing on stilts; old crones washing their family clothes in creeks; a woman in a tight-drawn reboza driving her burro to the market eighteen miles through the dust; vaqueros riding into town on their huge stock saddles which all but envelop the ponies.

The hills drop away and we are in the rich valleys of the Magdalena River. One of the club cars mired in a water hole. Two peons with saddle horses and a tiny mule hitch on but can't budge it. Four other cars hook on before it can be moved.

Little adobe towns standing in the sun. A drunken Cuban singing to a group of curious peons; shy little senoritas with chocolate cream eyes who are incredibly pretty.

BEAUTIFUL OLD MISSION

San Ignacio and the beautiful old mission built by Father Kino, the real discoverer of Western America—a man of furious energy and leonine courage. He established some fifty missions. This one dates back to 1701; beautiful Moorish domes; caracol belfry stairs and old bells. Christ on the altar modestly dressed in a Tartan skirt about the middle; San Juan Bautista hidden grotesquely in baby clothes given by some grateful mother—daylight fades.

Through the long night we ride down Father Kino's old trail. We arrive at Hermosillo at 4 a.m. The Governor of Sonora has waited for us with a military band, but has gone to bed discouraged.

There are no taxis and no cafe. The police rout out a Chinese cook and gracefully lend us the patrol wagon.

MELLON'S BIRTHDAYS NOW AT 75

But Today Will be Just Another Day for Cabinet Officer in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, March 23. (AP)—A birthday, even his seventy-fifth, is "just one of those things" to Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, who is to celebrate his birthday tomorrow.

"It's just one of those things that come around every year, whether you wish them to or not," he said when asked for a statement on the day.

It will be just another day for the Secretary. It will differ from the usual only in a small private dinner party to be given by Pittsburgh friends. The remainder of the day will be devoted to conferences on the muddled political situation of Pennsylvania.

WALES HAS BRUSH WITH ELEPHANT

Beast, Charging Prince as He Grinds Camera, Shot by Another of Party

RHINO CAMP (Uganda) March 23. (AP)—It was announced today that the Prince of Wales had a narrow escape from an angry bull elephant while taking motion pictures on the 15th inst. The Prince was so intent on his picture that he failed to realize his danger, and the animal was shot by his companions, crashing to the ground barely twenty yards from the camera.

The incident occurred while the Prince was on a two-day hunting expedition. The elephant, apparently enraged by the invasion of his retreat, charged down a hill toward the spot where the camera had been set up. Other hunters shouted a warning to the Prince, but he ignored them. The picture was still being ground out when the great beast fell.

Besides the elephant pictures, the Prince got some good films of the black rhinoceros, but has not yet sighted a white rhino, of which he wants a photograph for his collection.

Engineer Gives Life and Averts Train Disaster

MANSFIELD (O.) March 23. (AP) Charles A. Bell of Mansfield, engineer of the fast New York-Detroit Limited No. 105 of the Pennsylvania Railroad, averted a bad pile-up at the cost of his life when his engine left the rails near Spring Mill Junction, six miles west of here, early today.

With only a fraction of a second to choose between leaping for his life and facing sure death in his cab, Bell remained at his post to set the air brakes when he felt the heavy engine hit the ties and careen toward a ditch at the side of the right of way.

The setting of the brakes stopped nine Pullmans which made up the train and about eighty sleeping passengers were saved from possible death or injury.

Train With Dead Engineer Halted in Nick of Time

KANSAS CITY, March 23. (AP)—Passenger train No. 3 of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad thundered southward toward Excelsior Springs late yesterday with a dead engineer at the throttle. Only the quick action of the fireman in stopping the train averted a rear-end collision with a freight train.

The incident became known today when the family of the engineer, George F. Robinson, 68 years of age, expressed the wish to give the fireman, E. E. Milburn, credit for saving Mr. Robinson's perfect forty-nine-year record with the railroad.

Winds Hamper Liner Europa

S.S. EUROPA, March 23. (AP)—Bucking strong head winds or adverse currents for the greater part of the time, the liner Europa made 704 nautical miles from noon yesterday to noon today, traveling at an average speed of 29.04 knots.

Her sister ship, the Bremen, made 706 nautical miles on the second day of her record-setting maiden voyage. The Europa encountered head winds and a rough sea all yesterday afternoon and last night, but today met beautiful Gulf Stream weather.

The currents were adverse, however.

SAN JOSE, March 23. (AP)—Santa Clara county, its broad orchards rich with bloom, celebrated the thirty-first annual blossom festival at the little foothill community of Saratoga, near here, today. AIR SHOW TO BE OFFERED BY CHURCH

Choir Girls Will Hop Out of Planes in Exhibition to Raise Money

NEW YORK, March 23. (AP)—St. James Methodist Episcopal Church in Madison avenue will celebrate its one hundredth anniversary with a five-day "aerial offertory," its pastor, Rev. George Machin Stockdale, announced today.

The "aerial offertory" will take place at New York airport, Flushing, from April 23 to April 27, and the program will include stunt flying, wing walking and parachute jumping. Eight girls, members of the choir, will be among the jumpers. The last day of the "offertory" being a Sunday, church services may be conducted in a hangar at the field, Mr. Stockdale said.

He said he hopes to obtain money for church work through automobile parking, field admissions and concessions.

"I realize," he said, "that I am undertaking a daring innovation. I hope it is daring enough to startle the world. For this is the Lord's work and Sunday is the day to engage in work for the Lord. St. James' needs money and we will get it if I have to jump from a plane myself."

SEVEN DIE AS FLAMES RAZE HOME

Sleeping Victims Trapped as Fire Envelops House; Five Bodies Recovered

NEW YORK, March 24. (Monday.) (AP)—An entire family of six and a boarder died as they slept early today in a fire that enveloped a two-story house in Bayside. The dead included four children. Five of the seven bodies were recovered from the ruins.

The dead are John Fliss, 54 years of age; his wife, Mary, 48, two boys and two girls ranging in age from 4 to 13 and Charles Jorzon, 43, the boarder.

The fire, believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace, broke out on the first floor and spread to the second, trapping the sleeping victims.

Lick Observers See New Comet

SAN JOSE, March 23. (AP)—Success tonight attended efforts at Lick Observatory to view the new comet, discovery of which was announced Friday night by Prof. Wilk, assistant astronomer at Cracow Observatory in Poland.

Prof. W. F. Meyer of the University of California, on temporary duty at the observatory, reported successful observation with the twelve-inch telescope. "It has quite a perceptible tail," Prof. Meyer said, "and a star-like nucleus."

One from Hoover and three from Hearst. Down to station to see same French Premier off, as he had been replaced. Conference with press at 3:30, conference over at 3:31, dinner with Italian delegation, where films of Mussolini were shown, home to 11 o'clock conference with our own delegation, where was discussed ways and means of procuring board by the year instead of the month. BUSINESS GAINS REPORTED TO HOOVER AFTER SURVEY

Retarding Factors, Some Classed as Psychological, Being Overcome; General Conditions Improve

WASHINGTON, March 23. (AP)—An estimate of the state of American business, nation-wide in scope and expressed in detailed figures of production and distribution of commodities, was made public today by Julius H. Barnes, chairman of President Hoover's business survey conference.

Expressly submitted without conclusions, the statement nevertheless said that "some early retarding factors, partly psychological, appear to have been gradually overcome," and sketched a state of trade and commerce with both good and bad points.

"Comprehensive and detailed reports obtained by the national business survey conference from virtually every important line of business and industry in the United States make it possible to draw a fairly accurate picture of the business situation as it now is, four months after last fall's security decline," Chairman Barnes said.

"These reports come largely from trade association sources, and are transmitted in the main through men who are familiar by long experience with the significance of trends and factors in their own lines of business.

GOOD AND BAD FACTORS

"The reports are received at a time when we have passed through a sufficient portion of the year 1930 to make possible some formulation of reasonable expectations. Current conditions would seem to govern the course of economic events in the ensuing months.

"In many instances the reports deal with existing conditions as compared with the end of the year 1929. They also show to a considerable extent conditions as contrasted with a year ago, and some of them provide data for a range of years. They indicate both strong and weak spots, and show clearly the inter-relation of all industry.

"Some early retarding factors, partly psychological, appear to have been gradually overcome.

"The reports from the various industries indicate that the importance laid upon construction as an influence in restoring industrial balance has not been overemphasized. They show that for a revival of construction in its manifold forms a first requirement is adequate and reasonably priced credit.

"Without presuming to draw conclusions we submit the essentials of the reports for the information of business men.

FINANCE REPORTS

"Since finance is of such importance, we summarize its various reports first.

"January and February bond issues were 23 per cent larger than the same period last year. Bond prices formerly tending downward have turned upward in these last few weeks. Interest rates on standard issues continue lower than a year ago with indications of further softening. The general outlook in the investment field is favorable, although bankers continue warnings against artificial stimulation.

"Customers' rates at their banks have shown a declining tendency. In addition, acceptance rates, call rates and time money rates have all declined and are now substantially lower than last year, some rates marking the low points for several years. There is evidence that the general easing of bank credits is reaching the smaller centers. After downward tendency for some months, total bank loans are increasing, showings funds going into use.

"Excluding New York City with its large security transactions, this indicator of business turnover is now slightly less than the weekly average of last year and slightly greater than the first quarter of 1928, with the seasonal decline this year less than the seasonal decline last year.

SAVINGS INCREASE

"New York saving-bank deposits since the first of the year show steady net increase, substantially greater than last year's corresponding months. Elsewhere some districts show moderate increases over last year and others slight losses.

"New February life-insurance business at $1,003,000,000, exceeded February, 1929, by 3 per cent.

"In most sections a marked increase in receipts of building and loan associations in comparison with closing months of 1929 is seen.

"Farm loans report slight increase with marked decrease in delinquencies and foreclosures, as compared with last year and the pre-

Court Order Cited in Move to Balk Accepted Mode of Refinancing

Bancamerica-Blair Plan Said to Involve Needless Cost of $31,000,000

NEW YORK, March 23. (Exclusive)—Winfield R. Sheehan, vice-president and general manager of the Fox Film Corporation, announced today that he had obtained an order on Saturday from Supreme Court Justice McCook calling on the corporation to show cause on Wednesday why an injunction should not be granted restraining William Fox from refinancing the corporation through the so-called Bancamerica-Blair plan.

Mr. Sheehan, acting on behalf of himself and "all other stockholders of the Fox Film Corporation, similarly situated" also asks the court to compel Mr. Fox "to carry out the conditions, terms and covenants of the trust agreement," with Halsey Stuart & Co., Inc., H. L. Stuart, John E. Otterson and Electrical Research Products, Inc.

In an affidavit filed with the court Mr. Sheehan asserts that the Bancamerica-Blair plan would be $31,850,000 more expensive to the stockholders than the plan offered by Halsey Stuart & Co., while the original financing, which Mr. Sheehan asks the court to compel Mr. Fox to accept, would put $9,050,000 more cash in the treasury of the Fox Film Company than would the other plan.

"SIDE AGREEMENTS"

In his sworn statement Mr. Sheehan said: "I understand also that there were side agreements with Mr. Fox in connection with the so-called Bancamerica-Blair plan which were not revealed or divulged at the directors' meeting."

This declaration was not amplified in the affidavit and Mr. Sheehan at his suite in the Savoy-Plaza declined to add to it, or to discuss the litigation in any way, except to issue the following statement:

"I will oppose with every means at my command this attempt to extract $30,000,000 from the Fox companies. I regret that this suit is necessary and I feel it my duty to protect the stockholders and employees of the companies.

"The Halsey Stuart proposal is $30,000,000 less expensive and provides more cash in treasury. Why should stockholders and employees of the companies, mainly located in Hollywood and other parts of California, assume this terrific and unnecessary burden?

"PLUM FOR BANKERS"

"This $30,000,000 plum falls into the pockets of bankers who contribute nothing to the motion-picture industry. The financing offered by Halsey Stuart is the best, soundest and less expensive and I therefore favor that plan."

In his application for an order to show cause Mr. Sheehan names the following as codefendants with Mr. Fox: Fox Film Corporation, Fox Theaters Corporation, Clarence S. Dillon, as president, and Clifton Erskine as secretary and treasurer

RED "DEPRIVEES" LOOK UP

Soviets Ease Position of Thousands Who Have Had Their Civic Rights Taken Away

[Copyright, 1930, by the New York Times]

MOSCOW, March 23. (Exclusive)—Those who argue that Dictator Stalin's message and the Communist party manifesto which followed a fortnight later meant a real, if temporary, change of policy rather than just "soft pedaling," have found reinforcement for their views in an order the central executive committee—the supreme organ of the soviet government—published today, which has notably eased the position of persons deprived of civic rights.

During the last twelve months "deprivees" have become a feature of life in Russia. Their number runs to hundreds of thousands and their position is pitiable. Whether "deprived" as rural Kulaks or urban Nepmen they found themselves expelled from their homes, forbidden food cards—at a time when almost all food was sold on the card basis—and their children expelled from schools and universities. Thousands of Kulaks were forced to accept labor in lumber camps and actual or virtual exile. Tens of thousands managed to hang on somehow by the eyelids, never knowing what the morrow would bring.

To these the government order grants immediate relief—no measures save actual limitation of voting rights may be taken against any who have applied for annulment of deprivation until such appeal has been considered by commissions appointed for that purpose.

Still more important is Section Four of the government order, which forbids deprivation by anybody save courts or the G.P.U. Recent revelations in the Pravda and other leading newspapers of "excesses" committed by overzealous Communists in the collectivization campaign make it clear that Section Four will apply to a vast number of peasants "deprived" because

BROUGHER QUITS OAKLAND PULPIT

Veteran Coast Pastor Will Go to Boston

Minister Headed Los Angeles Church Many Years

Resignation to Take Effect Late Next Month

OAKLAND, March 23. — After four years as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Oakland, Rev. James Whitcomb Brougher, former pastor of Temple Baptist Church of Los Angeles, today announced his resignation. He will go to the pulpit of Tremont Temple in Boston, one of the largest churches of the Baptist denomination in the United States. The resignation is to take effect April 27, next, coinciding with the plans of the Boston church already announced to welcome him in May.

In a statement to the members of his Oakland congregation this morning, Dr. Brougher said he is leaving because in Boston "the Holy Spirit used my ministry to unite all groups" which, he said, had been unable to unite in choice of a new pastor, and he therefore, believes that such unanimity "represents God's will for me at this time."

ASKED TO REMAIN

His congregation on the 9th inst. had adopted resolutions urging him to decline the call, but Dr. Brougher informed them today that in view of the great opportunities offered for evangelistic and missionary leadership in so large a field, he felt called on to accept.

The Boston church has property valued at $1,500,000 and has an endowment in addition of $600,000. Its annual budget for current expenses is $75,000, and the church gives an equal amount for missions. It employs six paid assistants for the pastor. Dr. Brougher has been promised a midsummer vacation of ten weeks, and an additional two weeks in the winter. The amount of his salary was not stated, except that it is "adequate."

ANGELENO MANY YEARS

Dr. Brougher has lived more than half his life on the Pacific Coast. Born in Indiana, he came to California in 1882 and was graduated from California College in Oakland in 1889. After graduation from Rochester seminary in 1894, he held pastorates at Paterson, N. J., Portland, Or., and from 1910 to 1926 at the Temple Baptist Church in Los Angeles. From Los Angeles he went to the First Baptist Church at Oakland where he has been since. He is prominent in national Baptist church affairs, having served as president of the northern Baptist convention. He is credited with having had a large influence in preventing threatened dissension in the denomination and establishing harmony and unity among its adherents. Dr. Brougher also has national fame as a humorist and lecturer.

His two sons are both clergymen, Rev. James Whitcomb Brougher, Jr., being pastor of the First Baptist Church of Glendale, Cal., and Rev. Russell Morse Brougher having a large pastorate in Brooklyn, N. Y. Two daughters, Mrs. Walter M. Saint, Jr. and Mrs. Norman A. Buist, live in Los Angeles. His wife is a daughter of Rev. S. B. Morse, who baptised him when he was 14 years of age.

SHEEHAN OPENS FIGHT ON FOX

of Dillon, Read & Co.; Philip Lehman, Arthur Lehman, Herbert H. Lehman, Alan S Lehman, Robert Lehman, John M. Hancock, Monroe S. Gutman and Paul M. Mazur as copartners doing business as Lehman Brothers, and Pancamerica-Blair Corporation; Halsey Stuart & Co., Inc.; Harold L. Stuart, John E. Otterson and Electrical Research Products, Inc.

AIM OF ACTION

Both groups were named as defendants in order to bring all the parties before the court. And in a note attached to the papers filed with the court Mr. Sheehan says that he deeply regrets the necessity for the action "and only decided to institute same after lengthy consideration of the attitude of Mr. Fox." Then the note continues: "The action is a protective measure made by Mr. Sheehan on behalf of himself and his interests in the various Fox corporations, the hundreds of employees and thousands of stockholders and his responsibility to these people."

Mr. Sheehan's affidavit reveals his story of his interviews with Mr. Fox following the latter's announcement of his trust agreement with the Halsey-Stuart group, an account of the proceedings at the sole directors' meeting since that time, and of his futile efforts to persuade Mr. Fox to carry out the trust agreement.

SHEEHAN'S POSITION

Mr. Sheehan at the outset of his sworn statement relates that he has been the active head of the entire Fox film industry, except for its financing, since he was elected vice-president and general manager in 1925 and that since 1925 the gross receipts of the company rose from more than $21,000,000 to more than $72,000,000 and that the net profits last year were approximately $15,000,000.

Then he relates how on his arrival here from Europe on December 3, 1929, Mr. Fox informed him that he had made the trust agreement with the Halsey-Stuart group. Nine days afterward he called at Mr. Fox's home on Long Island at his request.

"To my great consternation," the Sheehan affidavit continues, "he stated that he did not feel inclined to go on with the agreement. He said that he was sure that Otterson and Stuart would make vital changes in the personnel of the company and that he was disinclined to continue in a position where he would have to consult his co-trustees. He felt that he was no longer in control as theretofore and he expressed himself as being unhappy under the arrangement."

STATEMENTS QUESTIONED

He then relates that on February 16, last, at the meeting of the directors at the offices of Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Mr. Fox, "I asked Mr. Fox whether he believed the Blair plan to be for the good of the company. Mr. Untermyer, answering for him, said: "We have no choice. It is either this plan or receivership."

Mr. Sheehan added: "I have believed from the beginning that the statements by Mr. Fox, regarding receivership for the company were fictitious and misleading and used by him as a smoke screen to jam his selfish plans and interests through at the expense of the stockholders. The talk of receivership appeared ridiculous or simply a threat in view of the struggle between two recognized, large and rich banking groups which were and are competing for the business of financing the companies."

At the directors' meeting held on the 5th inst., at which Mr. Untermyer was again present, Mr. Sheehan recites that Mr. Fox and the directors "whom he has at all times controlled" voted against a motion made by Mr. Sheehan to submit the Halsey-Stuart plan to the stockholders.

HOOVER SURVEY REVEALS GAINS

Business Trend Indicated to Be on Upgrade

Some Lines, However, Found to Be Slightly Off

vious year. Funds for good farm loans seem reasonably available. City mortgages show smaller volume than last year and year before, with a small increase in delinquencies and foreclosures. Adequate funds are reported available for conservative new loans.

"Reports indicate installment sales approximately equal to last year, with no marked increase in delinquencies.

"Upon the basis of progress already this year, and more matured plans of the various fields of business, it is now possible to restate in larger totals earlier estimates of probable expenditures in 1930 for equipment and new construction. Utilities of all kinds contemplate such expenditures this year to an aggregate of $3,250,000,000, as against $2,863,000,000 last year.

IMPROVEMENT SIGNS

"Other private construction in all of its forms, it now seems probable, will reach at least as large as last year.

"In the construction industries there are continued signs of improvement, except in residential building, which still drags. Contracts awarded in the week ending the 14th inst., totaled $168,000,000, the highest weekly figure in eight weeks. February permits for additions, alterations and repairs in 279 cities show a decided increase in numbers over January, but a smaller total value.

"Awards for concrete pavements for January and February and for State and county roads exceed last year by 52 per cent and are 40 per cent above 1928. Shipments of Portland cement this February were the largest of any February in the last four years.

"The crushed-stone industry, usually dormant until mid-April, expects this year's business to prove 10 per cent above normal and above last year. Shipments of stone, sand and gravel are increasing slowly.

"Common brick has had a very dull three months.

"Lime for construction purposes indicates 40 per cent below normal, while for agricultural and chemical use it is 10 to 15 per cent over last year. Manufacturers expect improvement with the construction season.

OTHER ITEMS

"Window glass is 10 to 20 per cent below last year.

"Paint sales are lower, but manufacturers expect the usual improvement, which places half their year's business in the second quarter.

"Lumber manufacture shows a decline of 13 per cent for the first ten weeks of the year, compared with last year, and shipments are 12 per cent below last year. The rate of shipments recently shows improvement.

"The railroads, on the 1st inst., had an order of 35,400 new cars, as against 37,820 last year, and 21,700 two years ago, and locomotives on order were 450, against 291 last year and 171 two years ago. Steel rails ordered since January 1 were 198,000 tons, against 189,000 tons last year and 125,000 two years ago.

"The program contemplating total expenditures of 1930 equipment and improvements of $1,050,000,000 is obviously well under way. This means $140,000,00 more in the first six months of 1930 than for the first six months last year. Total employees January 15 in Class One railroads were 1,561,000, against 1,594,000 last year and 1,614,000 two years ago. The pay-roll total for February, 1930, was higher than for February last year and 4 per cent larger than February two years ago. Carloadings, so far this year, are about 6 per cent off as compared with last year, but the loadings of package freight—so-called less-than-carload freight—representing merchandise moving into consumption, show about only 3 per cent under last year.

MORE TO BE SPENT

"Electric railways capital expenditures of $147,000,000 are contemplated in 1930, against $103,000,000 last year and reports indicate this program is well forward. The February pay roll indices for car building and repairs are practically the same as for February last year.

"Shipping trades report falling off in tonnage carried.

"Shipbuilding yards this February were employing 28 per cent more men than in February a year ago. They were employing 10 per cent more than in November when a survey showed the yards had contracts for $85,000,000 in merchant vessels and $32,000,000 in naval vessels. Recently new ocean mail contracts have been advertised and contracts for four such routes awarded, meaning in time more new construction.

"Domestic telegraph business since January 1 has averaged one-half per cent below last year, against an expected 4 per cent increase.

"Telephone construction expenditures in January were 25 per cent in excess of corresponding expenditures in January, 1929. There has been a good start on the capital expenditure program of $700,000,000, comparing with $833,000,000 total for 1929. New installations of telephones in January and February were below expectations, but preliminary reports for March indicate improvements in volume. Long-distance telephone business, although below expectations, shows an increase of 3 per cent in January, 4 per cent in February and 5 per cent so far in March.

"Radio tube sales were 12 per cent less in January and February, as compared with last year. New set sales for January and February were 12 per cent more than in November and December and compare favorably with one year ago.

"The electric light and power utilities plan for 1930 total capital expenditures of $865,000,000, an increase of $65,000,000 over last year. The first-quarter contracts indicate good progress in carrying this out. Electricity produced the first half of March exceeds the same period last year by about 2 per cent. The gas companies' construction program of $400,000,000 is proceeding and with the portion allocated to the first quarter likely to be exceeded will equal or exceed 1929. Sales of manufactured gas in January were 2 per cent under last January and in February 3 per cent under last February.

Stocks of gasoline the 8th inst. equaled fifty-three days' supply and have led to a suggestion of the Federal Oil Conservation Board that the refining industry reduce operations to a six-day basis.

COAL PRODUCTION

"Anthracite production has averaged about 5 per cent below last year, weather conditions being moderate.

"Bituminous coal production has fallen below last year, partly because of the same weather conditions and partly by reason of the level of industrial activity being under the level in the early part of 1929.

"The iron and steel industry for the third week in March operated at 75 per cent, against 94 per cent in last year's high activity. Indications are for an increase in production. Structural steel orders are about 4 per cent under 1929. Rail mills are operating at capacity, tinplate mills at 85 per cent. Some line-pipe business is in contemplation. Steel industry still feels a smaller automobile production. Increased structural steel orders are expected to sustain or perhaps increase present rate of activity.

"February production of 359,000 automobiles would indicate an average seasonal trends a 1930 production of about 4,600,000 cars. Current reports indicate increasing production. Dealers' new-car stocks are reported low. February pay rolls exceeded January by 25 per cent and exceeded December by 28 per cent.

SOME CURTAILMENT

"The farm-implement industry reports some curtailment.

"Sales of machinery are normal. Inquiries are in good volume, but there is some hesitancy about placing new orders. Machine-tool orders continue lower, pay-roll indices in this field showing 16 per cent below last year's good figure. Activities in construction machinery are equal to 1928 and are 12 per cent below 1929. The heavy-machinery industry is doing well, being almost up to 1929 record.

"The general volume of chemical activities is unsatisfactory, although February fertiliser sales in the Southern States were 31 per cent greater than last year. The paint, varnish and lacquer industries have moderately receded. Pay-roll indices were slightly higher in February than in January.

"Spring demand for electrical equipment has developed. Some large manufacturers report orders substantially ahead of last year's figure to date. Some branches report conditions moderately below last year's average. The export market is reported favorable. Pay-roll indices this February were 6 per cent larger than February, 1929.

LEATHER STOCKS

"January and February leather consumption was subnormal, with price declines reported. Leather stocks are low but there is much hesitancy in all branches of the industry.

"The low point in hardware was reached in February with a turn for improvement in the first week in March. Average plant activity has been four days a week. Pay-roll indices were 15 per cent under February a year ago. The price situation is better than a year ago. The industry expects increased demand with expanding construction.

"Cotton takings in February were 17 per cent under February, 1929. February pay-roll totals in production of cotton cloth were 15 per cent under February, 1929. January takings of wool were 11,000,000 pounds less than in January, 1929, with February showing some improvement. February pay-roll totals for wool and worsted goods were 19 per cent under February, 1929. Raw-silk consumption in February was about 4 per cent less than in January, but about 8 per cent above February, 1929. February silk in warehouses was 10 per cent less in January, but 46 per cent above February, 1929. February pay-roll totals in silk mills was 6 per cent over January, but 7 per cent under February last year. Carpet and rug production was 12 per cent less than in the corresponding period in 1929. Pay-roll totals were 17 per cent under February a year ago. Manufacturing of clothing and men's furnishings show pay-roll totals for February of 1 per cent over January, and 10 per cent less than February, 1929.

PRINTING GAINS

"Book-and-job printing this February was about 2 per cent larger than last February and newspaper printing was about 3 per cent larger than last year. Advertising in sixty-three leading periodicals was 4 per cent less than in March last year, but larger by 4 1-2 per cent than in March, 1928. Newspaper advertising in 173 leading newspapers decreased about 8 per cent from February last year. Advertising over the radio shows a remarkable increase, March being estimated at 40 per cent over a year ago.

"Practically all retail and wholesale lines report cautious buying. Stocks of merchandise were relatively low. Consumer buying shows little appreciable curtailment. Conditions in rural sections, are reported better than last year. Retail sales in February and the first half of March appear to be lower in dollars than last year, but in view of price variations the quantity of merchandise going over retail counters seems to approach the volume at this time last year."

REDS EASE HOLD ON "DEPRIVEES"

they were unwilling to join collectives.

Including their families, the total may run to millions.

The courts could not have had time or opportunity to handle a hundredth part of the deprivation cases carried out by "factory committees, local, rural committees, House committees, managements of collective farms and labor shock troop units" mentioned by Section Four as having no right to deprive any citizen of rights "in any circumstances whatsoever."

These unauthorized bodies inflicted deprivation—with all it might imply, and often did imply—in the most wholesale manner and it is noteworthy that Section Eight enjoins "severe measures to be taken against those who have thus infringed soviet law."

When one realizes that "deprivation" in recent Russian practice was the nearest thing to the medieval custom of "outlawry" that the modern world has seen, it is possible to estimate the importance of the government's order at the present juncture.

COMMITTEE REPORTS ON RELIGIOUS WARFARE

NEW YORK, March 23. (AP)—The American committee on religious rights and minorities today made public a report of a sub-committee which said soviet religious activities are attributable not to any "objection to any particular form of religion, but to hostility to any religion as such, and a determination to exterpate it for the coming generation in any and every form."

The committee voiced an appeal to Russian authorities "to adopt a more liberal policy in dealing with the conscious beliefs of their people."

The committee added that history has shown that persecution of religion by the state has never achieved its purpose as "the sacred beliefs of mankind cannot be stamped out that way."

Meningitis Wave Spreading East

NEW YORK, March 23. (AP)—Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, said today that the most severe epidemic of cerebro-spinal meningitis since the World War has been spreading east from the Pacific Coast, where it originated more than a year ago.

At the same time Dr. Simon Flexner, another medical authority, said there was no cause for alarm because epidemic meningitis is commonly a winter disease.

Cancer Deaths Show Increase

SACRAMENTO, March 23. (AP)—Deaths from cancer in California during 1929 averaged eighteen a day, the total of 6518 being the highest in the State's history, the Department of Public Health announced today.

The death rate per 100,000 population was 148.4, compared with the rate of 98.9 for the United States in 1928. Cancer caused 10 per cent of all deaths in California last year, figures showed.

WOMAN SLAYER TO BE WITNESS

Mrs. Schroeder Will Appear in Trial of Dague

Companion in Killing Faces Speedy Justice

Convicted Mother Will Carry Fight to High Court

NEWCASTLE (Pa.) March 23. (AP) Her trial is over, but Irene Schroeder will appear tomorrow in the trial of W. Glenn Dague, jointly accused with her in the slaying of Corp. Brady Paul of the Pennsylvania State highway patrol.

Already convicted of first-degree murder, with the jury urging that she die in the electric chair, Mrs. Schroeder is involved in the case of the man who, the State charges, was her companion when Paul was slain, and with whom she fled to the Southwest, and there was captured.

QUICK TRIAL PREDICTED

Attorneys who will defend Dague, a former Wheeling (W. Va.) automobile accessory salesman, in the trial opening here tomorrow, said today Mrs. Schroeder will appear in court for identification by witnesses. Counsel for both sides expressed hope that a jury might be selected by late Tuesday, and it is predicted that Dague's trial will be over by Thursday.

The defense was unwilling today to reveal its plans. Attorneys refused comment on reports that Dague may plead guilty to the charge. Dague spent the day in his cell in sullen silence, apparently as indifferent to his fate as he was on hearing the verdict returned against his companion.

NEW TRIAL SOUGHT

The fight for Mrs. Schroeder is not over, however. Her attorneys tomorrow will file a motion for a new trial and, if refused, will carry their appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Interest in the week-end lull centered in Donnie Schroeder, 4-year-old son of the convicted woman. Playing gleefully in the new "Easter suit" purchased for him by Jack Dunlap, probation officer, and his wife, Donnie was innocently unaware that he may be called to appear in court in Dague's trial, and may soon be taken to his grandfather's home in Benwood, W. Va.

Dague's counsel today said they have not decided whether to take the boy into court for identification as a member of the party with Dague and his mother when Paul was killed. At the same time Judge Hilebrand said he has not decided when to render his decision on the appeal of Joseph Crawford, Mrs. Schroeder's father, for permission to give the boy a home in West Virginia.

WASHINGTON, March 23. (AP)—The number of automobiles in the United States increased by more than 2,000,000, or 8 per cent, during 1929 over the previous year, bringing the total number of motor vehicles registered during the past year to 26,500,443.

New York, the Bureau of Public Roads announced today, continued to lead other States, with 2,263,259 motor vehicles of all kinds.

California was second on the list with a registration of 1,964,341 and Ohio third with 1,766,614.

The United States and the District of Columbia collected $347,843,343 during 1929 in license fees, registration fees, permit fees and fines.

SHOOTING MARS ADIEU OF TEXAS

Fight Occurs as Miss Guinan Bids Good-by

Proprietor of Green Mill Accused by Victim

CHICAGO, March 23. (AP)—Leon Sweitzer, cabaret operator, was shot and seriously wounded early today in the office of the Green Mill Night Club while Texas Guinan delivered her valedictory at her farewell party on the floor below.

Sweitzer, his chest and left leg and arm punctured by slugs, told police from his hospital cot that the shots had been fired by Harry A. Voiler, proprietor of the Green Mill, Arthur Reed, his floor manager, and an unidentified assailant following an argument over the club lease.

TEXAS SAYING GOOD-BY

Texas was concluding her parting address with "Good-by, folks, you can always reach me through a New York police court," when Sweitzer was carried across the floor by club attendants and rushed to a hospital.

Voiler and Reed, accompanied by their attorneys, appeared voluntarily at the Summerdale police station and denied they had participated in the shooting. They were held on open charges.

Miss Guinan also went to the station to protest her innocence of connection with the affair. She was not held, although she remained at headquarters five hours.

"This is my first record at this police station," she said. "I usually make them for the talking-machine people."

ROW OVER LEASE

Sweitzer said he held a lease on the quarters occupied by the club, but had sublet to Voiler under the condition that the club remain in operation until May 1. He learned Voiler intended to violate the agreement by closing the place, he said, and had gone to Voiler's office to demand $2000 as full payment of the rent, but Voiler objected.

The argument started in the club lobby, Sweitzer said, but suddenly Reed struck him with a pistol and with Voiler and a man he did not know carried him to the second-floor office. The bickering was concluded there, he said, when the stranger shot him through the leg and the others fired on him as he turned to flee.

Police sought to connect Voiler and Reed with the recent bombing of the little club, opened by Sweitzer after he relinquished the management of the Green Mill. They also believed they may soon clear the mystery of the slaying of Joe Cada, racketeer who was shot to death February 2 shortly after he had left the Green Mill in company with two other men.

VOILER HAS RECORD

Pat Roche, chief investigator of the State's Attorney's office, said a report that Cada was slain because of a plan to kidnap Miss Guinan for ransom, had been investigated at the time of the killing, but that no evidence to bear out the theory had been uncovered.

Miss Guinan's contract as chief hostess at the club was to have terminated in two weeks, although she had announced she would leave Wednesday for New York to fill a week's special engagement.

Police said Voiler had been sentenced in Detroit in 1918, to serve fifteen to thirty years for robbery of the Statler Hotel and was released through a pardon in 1922. He was wanted in Cincinnati in 1927 in connection with transportation of fight films, records show. Reed, according to the officers, had served several prison terms, including time at Leavenworth, and Folsom.

NORTH CHINA DEFECTION INCREASING

Shonsi Forces Take Over Communication Offices at Peiping and Tien-tsin

PEIPING (China) March 23. (AP) The nominal control of the Nanking Nationalist government over which North China continues to wane, the latest move of the Shansi forces being to take over the wireless administration here.

Yen Hsi-shan, the so-called "model Governor" of Shansi, who is co-operating with Feng Yu-hsiang and the Kuominchun generals in a hostile movement against President Chiang Kai-shek, now is in complete control of the Peiping and Tien-tsin districts.

The northerners at Peiping have taken over the telegraph and telephone offices, the headquarters of the Nationalist commander-in-chief of the land, naval and air forces, the residence of Wellington Koo, which had been set aside as a personal residence by President Chiang Kai-shek, the district Kuomintang headquarters, and various other institutions.

The vernacular newspapers and news agencies in Peiping and Tien-tsin and the government offices at Tien-tsin also are under Yen's control.

BERLIN SHIP LINES FORM UNITY PACT

Hamburg-American Joins With North German Lloyd in Co-operative Agreement

BERLIN, March 23. (AP)—Conclusion of an "agreement for close co-operation" in shipping between the Hamburg-American and the North German Lloyd lines, Germany's two largest maritime companies, is reported here.

The announcement of the agreement is expected to be made officially at the meetings of the two companies' boards tomorrow and Tuesday.

Though a working agreement between these two big companies is admitted to be the most important event in post-war reconstruction of the German merchant marine, the business world is filled with misgivings at the prospect of termination of competition in freight rates.

It is generally suggested that the co-operation probably will prove to be the beginning of the gradual incorporation of the entire German merchant marine into a single unit under a single head, which would offer unprecedented prospects for German shipping.

Ford Never Did Build His Cars Alone, He Says

DETROIT, March 23. More than 2300 concerns throughout the United States supply the Ford Motor Company, Ford said. Business throughout the country is aided by this policy of decentralizing manufacture, he added

CUSTOMS AGENT PLOTS CHARGED

Inquiry Into Conditions at New York Urged

Discharged Officer Asserts Dry Law Nullified

Senator Norris Told About "Smuggling Ring".

WASHINGTON, March 23. (AP)—Echoes of charges made against Col. Arthur F. Foran, comptroller of the port of New York, by the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey were heard today in a letter forwarded to Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, by Ernest S. Braidwood, discharged customs agent.

The letter purported to disclose a conspiracy among customs officials at New York to nullify the prohibition law. It charged corruption and asserted Norris should include an investigation of the Customs Bureau in his resolution to authorize a Senate inquiry into enforcement conditions.

UP TO HOOVER

Foran, whose nomination for reappointment is before President Hoover, was charged with opposing the dry laws and with being "personally unsympathetic to prohibition." Despite opposition from the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League, Senators Kean and Baird of New Jersey recommended the reappointment of Foran. His term expired January 31.

Braidwood, in his letter, said that those who have knowledge of the asserted smuggling ring include "several special treasury agents; at least three prohibition agents, two Federal assistant District Attorneys; several inspectors of customs, two United States appraisers' employees, besides an official of a steamship line operating vessels for the United States Shipping Board."

WITNESSES SUGGESTED

Braidwood suggested that "certain men" be called to Washington who can testify as to the "dishonesty of enforcement officials which the Senate should be willing to have disclosed for the public benefit."

Braidwood charged that politicians attempted to interfere with the removal of "crooked agents" and that customs officials winked at transportation of large lots of liquor to the homes of Federal officials.

A raid on Foran's hunting lodge in Hunterdon county last January was made the basis for the Anti-Saloon League's charges. No liquor was found, but the league presented an affidavit stating that gambling devices, a bar and empty bottles had been found.

Student Taken in Robbery Murder Flees From Jail

MORRISTOWN (N. J.) March 23. (AP)—Alphonse Miere, arrested at Blair Academy, where he was a student, on charges of murder and robbery, escaped tonight from the Morris County Jail after knocking the night keeper unconscious with a club.

The youth, who is 19 years of age, called the night keeper, Arthur C. Fairlamb, to his cell, hit him with the club he had concealed, and with the keeper's keys unlocked his way to freedom.

Miere is asserted in an indictment to have been one of four young gunmen who, January 26, last, held up a cigar store in New York, in which an unidentified negro was shot and killed.

WORSHIPER LEAVES CHURCH TO SLAY FOE

CHILOQUIN (Or.) March 23. (AP) Springing suddenly from his seat in church here today, Winfield H. Cahill, 40 years of age, mill worker, dashed across the street to a pool hall, where he drew a pistol and shot and killed Billy Huff, 35, Indian boxer and logger. Authorities, who arrested Cahill, said the shooting was the result of a complaint filed in justice court by Huff charging Cahill had robbed him.

ITALY REVIVES GUILD SYSTEM

Economic Council Reversion to Middle Ages

Mussolini Heads New Body as Matter of Course

Group to Have Full Control of Business and Labor

ROME, March 23. (Exclusive)—Whether Fascism's new national Corporative Council which vests Premier Mussolini with drastic economic and arbitral powers in addition to his political powers, will solve the problem of reconciling the interests of capital and labor and unifying production is a subject of paramount concern in Italian industrial and business circles at the present time.

The National Corporative Council is a state organ. It might be compared, in American terms, to a sort of fusion of the American Chamber of Commerce and the American Federation of Labor into a body to which powers of making economic regulations and giving advice in such matters are accorded by the state under the dictatorial surveillance of the president.

STARTS IN MAY

The legislation establishing this council was signed by the King last week and the 140 members are to be selected by the end of this month. The body will be ready to function early in May. Adherents of the scheme hail it as the greatest piece of economic legislation of the century, designed as it is to give national ideals to the labor movement and erect a barricade against Marxism, which is founded on the doctrine of class struggle. Others are preoccupied with the thought that the council will have too much supervision over enterprise and too much power of restriction over private initiative. This body, of course, will be exclusively Fascist.

Premier Mussolini's 34-year-old Minister of Corporations, Bottani, who is the leading sponsor of the movement, said:

LONG STUDIED

"The council is not a leap in the dark. It has been meditated since 1928 and has actually been worked out by the presidents of the various corporations. The council is a mechanism to harmonize the interests of capital and labor in the major interests of the state. It is a sort of central corporation coordinating the other seven corporations into which the economic factors of the Italian system are divided. The state does not infringe on private initiative through the council. The council is not a Parliament but a consultative organ which puts syndical autocracy into motion.

"This council represents Fascism's most revolutionary piece of legislation," he continued.

"In the new system the individual is not the instrument of the state, as it has been charged, but the individual must serve the state just as the state serves him. The council will have powers which the Chamber of Deputies never possessed nor ever thought of arrogating to itself."

THEORY TAUGHT

"For the purpose of popularizing and spreading corporative doctrines, chairs have been established in that subject in twenty-six universities and twelve superior institutions," Sig. Bottani said.

The council is to be organized into seven sections, corresponding to the seven corporations under the headings of professions and liberal arts, industry, agriculture, commerce, land transport, sea and air transport, and banking. These sections are to have a total membership of 116. A special method of selection of these members has been provided which will assure that they are all Fascists. These sections may be convened by Premier Mussolini, who is president of the council, singly or in several groups toegther.

MUSSOLINI HEAD

In addition to the tutelage of Premier Mussolini as president and Minister Bottani as vice-president, the council will have a general secretary on whom important powers will devolve.

In addition to the seven sections made up purely of employers and employees there have been constituted two special committees; a central corporative commission and an assembly-general. The Central Corporative Commission is a permanent organ for directing the council's activity and is composed of the council's chief members, in whose designation Mussolini will have much to say. This committee will substitute for the general assembly when the latter is not in session and in addition will co-ordinate activities and give opinions.

HONORARY MEMBERS

Besides the above mentioned membership all Cabinet Ministers, the Fascist party secretary, high permanent governmental heads, the presidents of the several Fascist institutions and associations and ten special experts on corporativism are members of the council, swelling the total to about 150, with Mussolini enjoying the power of extending or restricting this number.

Deputy Ranieri, reporting on the council bill, pointed out its resemblance to the guild system of the Middle Ages and gave his opinion that the present law aims to restore, under different and more highly evolved economic conditions, that religious fraternalism between masters and men which characterized the guilds.

NIGHT COURTS FOR BAY CITY ADVISED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23. (AP) Establishment in San Francisco of a night court similar to those in New York, Los Angeles and elsewhere, has been advocated by presiding Judge Thomas F. Pendergast of the Justice Courts.

Justice Pendergast, on his recent return from Southern California, said that a study of the Los Angeles night court convinced him night sessions met with the needs of working men and women who otherwise would be forced to attend morning or afternoon sessions.

Judge Couldn't Slip Over Even a Dismissal On This Prisoner

CHICAGO, March 23. (AP)—One can't put anything over on Louis Salinsky. He wasn't going to have any smart copper or wise judge slap a fine on him for parking his cab diagonally.

"I want a jury trial," he demanded upon arraignment.

"But I am going to discharge you," said the judge. "The policeman has recommended leniency."

"I want a jury trial." Salinsky insisted. "My lawyer told me to ask for a jury trial."

"O.K.," said the judge. "You may have it."

HONORS PAID DEAD PILOTS AT SEATTLE

Military Rites Conducted for Eielson and Borland, Killed in Siberia

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 23. (AP) While a squadron of military airplanes soared in formation overhead, Seattle paid its last respects today to the memory of Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, American aviators who lost their lives November 9 when their plane crashed in a frozen lagoon near North Cape, Siberia.

After services in the mortuary here where the bodies had rested in state since being brought to Seattle last night from Seward on the steamship Alaska, the remains of Earl Borland, with a group of civilian pilots acting as pallbearers, were taken to a Seattle mausoleum for interment.

Simultaneously, the body of Pilot Eielson was placed on a National Guard caisson and taken to the Great Northern station under a military guard of honor, for shipment to Hatton, N. D., for burial. The procession was led by squads of city and State motorcycle patrolmen and followed by the Sixth United States Engineers' Band from Fort Lawton.

ANGELENO ROBBED IN OKLAHOMA

Bandits Get $10,000 From W. S. Johnson and Leave Him Unconscious on Road

TULSA (Okla.) March 23. (AP)—W. S. Johnson, Los Angeles manufacturer, reported to police that he was slugged and robbed of diamonds valued at $10,000 early today by three persons, one of whom he believes was a young woman.

Johnson, who said he had come here recently from Los Angeles, was found unconscious on a highway near the city at 3 a.m. by motorcycle patrolmen. He regained consciousness and went to police headquarters to report the robbery.

The victim said he was robbed of three diamond rings, one of which contained eight diamonds, after going to a roadhouse. He said he did not remember the resort.

FASCISTS FETE PARTY'S BIRTH

Italy Celebrates Eleventh Anniversary of Day

Mussolini Talks on Mission in Confident Tone

Triumphs of Future Greater Than Past, He Says

ROME, March 23. (AP)—With Fascist demonstrations of party strength and unity in every city and large town, Italy today celebrated the eleventh anniversary of the foundation of the Fasci, the combat units from which the Fascist party arose.

Fascist secretaries in all districts read a message from Premier Mussolini in which the Duce declares that during eleven years Fascism had prevailed over 1000 difficulties of every kind, but that many more no less grave await it.

"They impose upon us always more peremptorily the command and the united discipline by which the Fascist Italian people should always more and more unite into a single group," he said.

NEW GENERATION

"Today the first battle legions find themselves side by side with the young men who have grown up in life dedicated to a faith which unites two ages and two historic moments, the past and the future of the nation. Let us, therefore, regard with tranquil security the unfolding of events. Retrograde forces in coalition against young Fascist Italy do not disturb us. . . .

"Let us make known to everyone that we have the same spirit, the same will and the same motto of eleven years ago. Added to that we have experience, method and a more profound knowledge of men and things. With these reflections we rest one day to remember, while Fascism enters its second decade which will be more glorious and more combative than the first. On guard!"

The message was published yesterday by Foglio D'Ordine, the Fascist order sheet.

MEETINGS HELD

After a meeting in Milan Augusto Turati, secretary of the party, reviewed a parade of Black-Shirt militia. Milan is considered the birthplace of Fascism.

In the Augusteo Auditorium at Rome Deputy Achille Starace, undersecretary of the party, addressed another meeting while squadrons of airplanes went roaring in aerial demonstrations above.

All the cities of Italy were beflagged throughout the day and special illuminations were turned on tonight. Floodlights bathed the public monuments.

Fascist leaders everywhere paid tribute to the memory of Michele Bianchi, one of the "quadrumvirs" of the famous march on Rome in 1922.

BIANCHI HONORED

Bianchi died on February 3, this year, while Minister of Public Works. He was the first of the Duce's four chief aides in the historic march to die.

The simple Fascist rites for the dead were observed. At each meeting an officer of the Black-Shirts called out, as though calling the roll, "Comrade Michele Bianchi." And the assembled militia shouted back as one man "Present."

Twenty-Eight Billions in Savings Accounts

THE TOTAL in Savings Accounts in banks in the United States is in excess of $28,000,000,000. Los Angeles banks show more than $835,000,000 in Savings Accounts...a dollar here for every thirty-two dollars in the Nation. Take Savings Deposits in Los Angeles alone...excluding deposits in all branches outside the city, and the total is more than $600,000,000...about one dollar of every forty-seven in the United States.

It is not merely a coincidence that Los Angeles has this great aggregate of Savings Deposits, and that it appears year after year as the "One White Spot" on the charts of national business conditions. There is a direct and immediate connection between the thrift and forethought which bank savings accounts represent and generally stable prosperity.

For more than a century in the United States the Savings Account has received the best thought of bankers, the careful attention of lawmakers: First to make Savings Accounts in banks SAFE, so the owners could be sure their thrift would not be unavailing. Second, to make these accounts render their owners the largest possible interest return, consistent with that safety.

There is no substitute for a Savings Account.

FARMER IN HOLE DESPITE RELIEF

Agricultural Rescue Crew Sounds Siren Again

"I Told You So" Chorus Asks $1,500,000,000 Now

Inflation Gives Impetus to Debenture Fight

By LAWRENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March. 23. (Exclusive)—Farm relief, perennial issue of American politics, again is on the administration doorstep knocking loudly for attention.

Those who thought it had been solved by enactment of the $500,000,000 farm program early last year were wrong. Plowing time now and from now until after the issue may be expected to move noisily each day until drought or blight visits Canada and the Argentine or fate intervenes in some other manner.

TOLD YOU SO-ERS

The fact is that the Farm Relief Act has not entirely fulfilled its advance notices and hopes of some of its more enthusiastic sponsors. The claim that it would at once send the prices of agricultural products upward to levels satisfactory to the farmers has not been realized and there is no immediate prospect that it will be. Of course, there has not been anything like sufficient time for an adequate test of the act, but the impatient professional farm relievers are already denouncing it as a failure and are crying "I told you so."

The truth of the matter is that since passage of the farm bill the prices of principal agricultural commodities, including wheat, corn, cotton, rye, oats and butter, are considerably lower than they were a year ago when President Hoover issued a call for a special session of Congress especially to solve the farm problem. Wheat is selling in the Chicago pit at from 15 to 20 cents a bushel less than a year ago; corn prices are 10 to 13 cents less, and rye is more than 40 cents a bushel under this time last year. This probably is no fault of the Farm Board, but critics on Capitol Hill are blaming it just the same.

RELIEF EXPENDED

The initial installment of $150,000,000 advanced to the board for loans to co-operative associations and stabilization agencies is so nearly exhausted President Hoover has felt it necessary to call on Congress for another $100,000,000. The farm bloc in Congress, however, waxes indignant because the board is not spending money even faster. When the $100,000,000 request reached the Senate a few days ago Senator Brookhart of Iowa, one of the most vocal of the farm bloc members, exclaimed that it was inadequate.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts inquired how much more he thought would be necessary to afford adequate relief, and Brookhart said that perhaps $1,500,000,000 would be enough at the moment. The Iowan's answer supplies some indication of the ambitious designs of the more rabid farm bloc leaders on the Treasury in the future.

DEBENTURES AGAIN

The failure of the Farm Act to increase the prices of agricultural products has undoubtedly given considerable impetus to the farm bloc's demand for keeping the debenture rider in the tariff bill. The bloc will fight hard to force the Senate and House tariff conferees to accept the debenture in spite of the well-known fact that President Hoover is unalterably opposed to the scheme. Eventually, the debenture probably will be removed from the tariff because the House will never yield to it, although it is forecast that it will not come out until it has caused still more delay in getting the tariff completed.

So far as the tariff itself is concerned it is not likely to have any immediate effect on the major crops involved in the agricultural depression. As long as there is a surplus over domestic needs higher duties will not help farm prices. The classic illustration of this frequently cited is the price of wheat, which is now selling just above $1 a bushel, notwithstanding the tariff of 42 cents a bushel.

TOO MUCH CROP

Chairman Legge of the Farm Board is convinced that the only effective way of preventing a surplus of farm crops is to curtail production. He is, therefore, exhorting the farmers through co-operative channels to cut down their acreage, especially in the case of wheat. If they don't do that, he says, they will continue to pile up surpluses which will glut and ruin the market. He is urging a nation-wide educational campaign to induce the farmers to reduce the cultivated acreage for the major commodities.

Such statements as these by Chairman Legge cause farm bloc members to see red, especially Senator Brookhart, who contends that instead of reducing acreage the farmers should be encouraged to raise all they please. If there is a surplus, says the Iowan, the government should take it over and dispose of it as best it can, footing the bill out of the Treasury. One of the ways of disposing of the surplus now being advocated by Brookhart and others is to ship vast quantities of wheat to destitute China at a public cost of several hundred million dollars.

OUTLOOK UNPROMISING

The outlook for reducing the annual wheat surplus is far from promising despite Mr. Legge's pleas for curtailed acreage. The Department of Agriculture recently estimated that the acreage sown in wheat this year instead of being reduced will be slightly greater than last year. A large surplus in this crop now exists. In addition, it is reported that the Canadian wheat pool has nearly 200,000,000 bushels on hand and is simply waiting for favorable conditions before throwing it on the market.

There are also reports that Russia after several years of preparation will soon be able to effect large-scale farming and place huge quantities of wheat on the world market at attractive prices which will break through tariff barriers to some extent.

LEGGE IN TROUBLE

Chairman Legge is beginning to discover that he has undertaken one of the most thankless tasks ever assigned to a public official in this country. When the wheat market was sagging a gigantic stabilization corporation was organized and supplied with credits deemed sufficient to hold prices up. The coporation proceeded to buy wheat from the co-operatives. Instantly, the cry of "State socialism" went up from eastern quarters. Here was "government in business" with a vengeance, it was declared.

The market braced and the stabilization corporation quit buying temporarily. Then prices went into a decline again and the farm relievers on Capitol Hill began belaboring Legge and his board for not maintaining the market. Now the stabilization corporation is said to have resumed buying, but more cautiously, and it is a fact that wheat prices have started upward slowly during the past week after dropping perilously close to the dollar mark.

FANCY! LONDON THOUGHT CHICAGO'D JAIL CAPONE!

CHICAGO, March 23. (Exclusive) Al Capone achieved international prominence yesterday when the London Daily Express called the detective bureau by trans-Atlantic telephone and asked for permission to interview him.

The English reporter spent the first three minutes, at a cost of $48, trying to convince Sergt. Yore that the call was not a hoax.

"But Al's not here," Sergt. Yore explained finally. "He lammed out yesterday after the chief got through talking to him."

"He what?"

"He lammed—you know—beat it. I don't know where he went."

The London press man seemed to be shocked.

"Oh, I say, you're blase about those chaps. Don't you—'er—sort of shadow them about?"

"Naw," yawned the sergeant, "we just let 'em run around till they get knocked off. Then we scoop 'em out of a ditch and call up the widow."

"Fancy! Well—I hardly know what to say. I'll have to ring off now."

The call extended four minutes past the flat-rate period. At $16 an extra minute the toll amounted to $112.

Buffalo Police Make War on Fugitive Thieves

Fifth Victim Wounded But He Flees Hospital

Men in Two Encounters Fire on Motor Squad

BUFFALO (N. Y.) March 23. (AP) Four men were killed and one was wounded early today in two encounters between the police automobile squad and men riding in stolen cars.

The wounded man escaped from the operating room at City Hospital, while the surgeons about to operate on him for two bullet wounds were absent temporarily. He climbed down a fire escape.

In both clashes with the police the men in the stolen cars opened fire on the police auto squad machine, Lieut. Arthur D. Britt, in command, said.

Eight automobiles were reported stolen a short time before midnight Saturday and Lieut. Britt and three of his men cruised the East Side in search of them.

DRIVER SPEEDS AWAY

About 1:30 a.m. one of the missing automobiles was spotted. Driving alongside, Britt ordered the driver to pull in to the curb. Instead of complying the driver speeded away and fired at the police car.

The police returned the fire. After the first volley, the stolen car swerved into the curb and knocked off a water hydrant. The occupant, identified as Walter Krajewski, was thrown through the front of the car. He died immediately.

After reporting to police headquarters Lieut. Britt and his crew returned to the East Side. In Genesee street they met another stolen car with four men in it. All except the man at the wheel opened fire on the auto squad.

DRIVER STRUCK

The battle continued for several blocks. Then bullets from a police riot gun struck the man at the wheel and the car swerved into a pole.

The man at the wheel, Henry Pistwoski, was killed and the three others were wounded. Two of them, later identified as John Dzadzynski and Edward Dombkiewicz, died on the operating table.

Dombkiewicz was a brother of Peter Dombkiewicz, recently sentenced to life as a member of the "blond" bandit gang.

Krajewski, the first man killed, is said by the police to have been the man wanted for the slaying of a policeman in the hold-up of a chain store two months ago.

Telephone to Aid Rangers

SACRAMENTO, March 23. (AP)—Construction of a forest service telephone line of ten miles in Santa Cruz county linking Loma Prieta and Woodwardia is being carried on by State forest rangers, and will be in operation for the coming fire season, State Forester M. B. Pratt said, following a recent inspection of the work.

Employing a new practice in building forest telephone lines, the wires are to span canyons instead of being strung on poles on the sides of the canyon, Pratt said, thus reducing the cost and making the line safer from destruction in case of fire in the underbrush.

THRONE COSTLY TO MONARCH

Amanullah Must Pay $2,500,000 to Regain His Kingdom

LONDON, March 23. (Exclusive)—A slight hitch has arisen over King Amanullah's return to Afghanistan, Nadir Khan, the present monarch, who has been willing to step down for the former King, now announces that he has spent $2,500,000 to suppress the rebellion and restore order, and that he has pledged his own credit to repay it. Nadir Khan proposes that when Amanullah is in position to pay this debt, he can have the throne back.

NEAR EAST ASSOCIATION SEEKS AID

Refugees Dependent on Outside Help, Catholic Leader Declares

NEW YORK, March 23. (Exclusive)—The Catholic Near East Welfare Association will make its fourth annual appeal for members and renewal of memberships beginning the first week of April.

The roll call in the diocese of Los Angeles will be conducted directly this year instead of through local parishes as in former years. This course has the approval of the directorate of the association, including Cardinals Hayes, O'Connell and Dougherty, it being considered that the organization is now firmly established as a pontifical society with a national membership of 1,000,000 American Catholics.

Outlining the need for the continued support of its membership, Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, vice-president of Georgetown University and president of the association, declared that although conditions in the Near East were not as critical as in the post-war period, permanent rehabilitation measures are now necessary. Large colonies of refugees are still living under inadequate shelter, without food, and dependent on outside help, said Dr. Walsh. The problem of caring for orphaned and homeless children will always be uppermost, he said, and additional burdens have now reverted to the Catholic Near East Welfare Association, due to the liquidation of operations of other organizations.

PROFESSOR TO STUDY NITROGEN FERTILIZER

BERKELEY, March 23. (Exclusive)—Prof. W. P. Kelley of the University of California citrus experiment station at Riverside, has been granted leave of absence to make a review of all important research in America and Europe which has to do with nitrogen as a fertilizer. The inquiry is made possible by arrangement with the American Society of Agronomy, of which Prof. Kelley is chairman. The citrus industry alone in California spends approximately $10,000,000 every year for fertilizer materials, most of it containing nitrogen. Studies of nitrogen fertilization have been under way for some time at the citrus experiment station.

Move for Warrant Follows Suits Against Patrons

Millionaire Inventor Seeks to Prevent Such Action

MIAMI (Fla.) March 23. (Exclusive)—Although George D. Morgan, Buffalo millionaire inventor of the safety block signal used on many railroads, is exerting his influence against the move, the District Attorney of Dade county today was asked to swear out a warrant for Mrs. Della Garson Clark on a charge of polite racketeering growing out of the recent society circus.

Mrs. Clark is said to be the daughter of Mrs. Morgan, one-time comic opera actress, by a former husband. Morgan denies that she is his stepdaughter, but does not deny that he has one.

Mrs. Clark is a native of Sacramento, and the ball she held here in the height of the winter season was attended by the elite of Miami and Miami Beach.

The names of twenty-five socially prominent men and women, named as patrons and patronesses of the circus, were printed in the papers.

Now that Irene Bordoni, an entertainer at the party, with a $2000 claim, and others whose claims total $4000, have sued these social registerites, pressure is being brought to bear on the prosecutor to have Mrs. Clark arrested and brought back here to explain what she did with the receipts of the affair.

The defendants said they never authorized the use of their names. Two of them, Frank E. Gannett, Brooklyn newspaper publisher, and Col. E. S. R. Green, son of the late Hetty Green, will not be sued, Miss Bordoni's lawyers announced today.

Panama Official Sends Challenge to Rounsevell, Seeking to Avenge Dead Father's Honor

PANAMA, March 23. (Exclusive)—Panama's Assistant Secretary of Foreign Relations, Dr. Ricardo Morales, has challenged Nelson Rounsevell, publisher of the American daily, Panama-American, to a duel, seeking to avenge his dead father's honor. His father was Dr. Eusebio Morales, former Minister to Washington and Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. Rounsevell has been attacking a British-owned Panama corporation which is mining gold in the interior of Panama, stating that the Panama officials are on the company's pay roll. Washington has denied Mr. Rounsevell's assertions that the British company's proximity to the Panama Canal is dangerous to the canal's defenses, intimating that investigations by the War Department have disproved Editor Rounsevell's charges.

The Panama government, in investigating the charges that Cabinet members are on the British pay roll, ordered Rounsevell to the witness stand. He intimated that Eusebio Morales, as well as the late Horacio Alfaro, late Foreign Secretary and brother of the present Minister to Washington, were both on the pay roll of the mining company.

His son Ricardo, at Washington, on hearing of Rounsevell's charges, immediately sent seconds demanding the satisfaction of a duel with Rounsevell. Mr. Rounsevell apologized, publishing his withdrawal of his charges in this morning's paper. In his article he intimated his information had been given him by Duncan F. Alves, who was the company's head. But Alves denied that Cabinet members were ever paid, and asserted they were only consulted while they were not holding office.

BERLIN JIBES AT PARLEY

America's Letting France Out of Half of Her Debt Blamed for Trouble at Naval Session

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ

[Copyright, 1930, by the Chicago Tribune]

BERLIN, March 23. (Exclusive)—America's allowing France to get out of paying half of her debt to the United States without giving a real promise to disarm is at the bottom of the failure of the London naval conference, according to the Berlin Tageblatt, Germany's leading republican newspaper.

Not required to pay more than half of her debt to America, and receiving huge reparations from Germany yearly with billions more to come, France is feeling her oats, the Tageblatt adds. With all that money she can afford to arm to the teeth, double the size of her fleet, not to mention her army. That determination is what upset the London conference.

It really all goes back to the Versailles Treaty, the Berlin Tageblatt explains, since the organizers of the Versailles Treaty gave dominating power and untold wealth to France without asking airtight disarmament provisions for her.

"France, which pretends to fear unarmed Germany, does not hesitate to compel the whole world to undertake a larger armament program," says the Tageblatt. "She has fallen into the 'Wilhelmian' error." Wilhelmian refers to former Kaiser Wilhelm, and is the favorite phrase of the German Republicans for sword-rattling politicians.

The Germans have been observing the present difficulties at the London conference with undeniable satisfaction, viewing these troubles as "punishment for the iniquitous Versailles Treaty."

BODY FOUND TO BE THAT OF AUTHOR

Death Victim Identified as Prof. J. H. Smith Who Won Pulitzer Prize

NEW YORK, March 23. (AP)—The body of an elderly man who fell dead on the street in Brooklyn Friday has been identified as that of Prof. Justin Harvey Smith, author and historian, who won the 1919 Pulitzer prize for history, and formerly served on the faculties of Harvard University and Dartmouth College.

The body was identified by George A. Plimpton, head of Ginn & Co., publishers, of which Prof. Smith was a partner. Physicians said the professor had died of heart disease. He was 73 years of age.

In 1920 Columbia University gave him the $2000 Pulitzer prize for "The Letters of Santa Anna," adjudged the best book on American history published the previous year. In 1923 he received the first Loubet prize of $1000 for the best book in English on the history, geography, archeology, ethnology, philology and numismatics of North America.

LIMITED TREATY NOW CHIEF HOPE

"DANGEROUS BLUFF"

"Parity is possible between Great Britain and the United States because they have made up their minds not to fight each other," he said. "Italy has been talking for years about a war with France. All Italian children have been taught to look forward to it.

"This may be all a bluff, but it is a dangerous bluff. As France is nervous about her security for other reasons, she is not going to accept parity with Italy. She knows that even if parity was granted, Italy would not have money enough to build a fleet equal to the French unless the United States lent it."

The miracle that observers of the conference believe will be necessary to save the five-power negotiations from failure did not appear over the week-end.

TREATY PROSPECT

The treaty now envisaged would be operative for five years and would furnish a stop-gap until the whole question of national defenses in sea, land and air can be reviewed under the auspices of the League of Nations.

Any treaty written at London binding Great Britain, Japan and the United States to definite building programs for the next five years will, of course, contain provisions that the restrictions are contingent on developments in the fleets of other powers. This applies particularly to Great Britain, for if, at any time, the French and Italian naval tonnage combined should exceed hers, she might have to notify the United States and Japan that she needs more warships.

This contingency is considered to be only a remote one, however.

TARDIEU AND BRIAND UNABLE TO LEAVE PARIS

PARIS, March 23. (AP)—Calendars for both the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate for the Parliamentary week beginning tomorrow contain important questions which must be disposed of immediately, it was said in official circles today.

These circles regard it as extremely unlikely that either Premier Tardieu or Foreign Minister Briand can afford to return to the London naval conference unless the reduction parley takes such a turn as absolutely to necessitate their presence there.

Celebration of Reconstruction Begins in Tokio

TOKIO, March 24. (Monday.) (AP) The capital today began a three-day celebration in commemoration of the reconstruction of Tokio and obliteration of scars of the holocaust by earthquake and fire of September 1, 1923, which were officially pronounced completed after six and one-half years' work and the expenditure of $369,500,000.

Today's feature of the celebration was Emperor Hirohito's journey of inspection through the restored areas, a five-hours' progress of twenty-two miles along broad, new boulevards, equal to the best in the occident. The boulevards were elaborately decorated. Hundreds of thousands of his subjects lined the avenue to welcome their sovereign.

BYRD PARTY SETS SAIL

Antarctic Flagship Carrying Fifty Members Leaves Dunedin on Second Lap of Trip Home

DUNEDIN (N. Z.) March 23. (AP)—Carrying fifty members of the Byrd Antarctic expedition homeward, the bark City of New York, flagship of Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, sailed this afternoon from Otago Harbor for Tahiti, en route for New York.

Admiral Byrd was among a crowd of more than 10,000 that thronged the wharves to say good-by. He is remaining here for a few days to complete business affairs and will travel by mail steamer homeward, rejoining the City of New York at the Panama Canal. He bade his shipmates farewell before the tug took the bark down the channel.

Pushing out into a gray mist and bucking a stiff easterly breeze, the Byrd flagship, after sixteen months in the waters under the Southern Cross, started the expedition's journey home from its conquest of the South Pole by air, and its triumphs in the fields of exploration and scientific research.

The steamship Eleanor Bolling will follow her in a few days. The ships are leaving many friends behind them in Dunedin. Capt. Melville and the crew of the City of New York have become particularly popular here since making it their base on arriving in November, 1928. Their adventurous trips to the great ice barrier won the admiration of all, including even the native Maori chieftains.

Capt. Melville was entertained by the master mariners of the port and also by a big gathering of Maoris. One Maori chief expresses his delight that such small craft as the City of New York were able to venture successfully into the far regions of the southern seas.

GANDHI INVITES HELP OF WOMEN

But Leader Warns Against Neglecting Children

Two Sets of Volunteers to Be Organized

Social Worker Seeks Aid in Anti-British Drive

SUVA (India) March 23. (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi announced today on his arrival from Jambusar that women who can arrange satisfactorily for the care of their children should join in the civil disobedience campaign against the British government.

His statement was in reply to questions asked here by Miss Kamala-Devi Chattopadhyaya, a prominent social worker. He explained that he neither desires nor expects women to neglect their children in furthering the cause.

Miss Chattopadhyaya proposed to tour Bombay presidency and enroll two sets of women volunteers, one to take active part in the civil disobedience campaign, and the other for propaganda work. It is understood that Mrs. Gandhi will lead the first party of thirty-seven volunteers from Ashraf, proceeding by train to Bulsar and thence to Titel, where they will join in the campaign to violate the salt laws.

By an innovation in the campaign arrangements, mixed camps for both sexes will be established for the volunteers wherever possible.

COMMUNISTS ARRESTED

POTSDAM (Germany) March 23. (AP)—Police today arrested 120 Communists who were attempting to liberate inmates of the Struveshof, or reformatory.

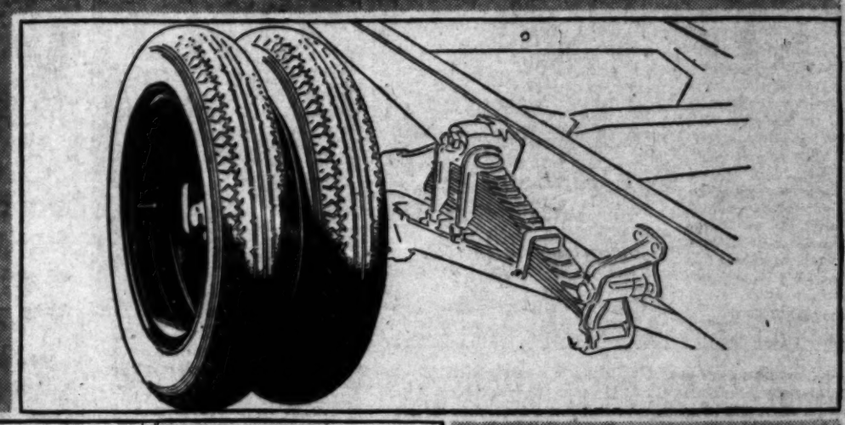
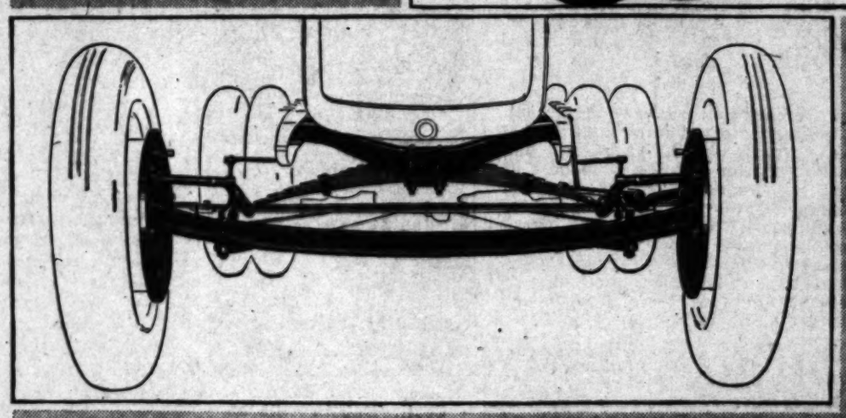
New features of the FORD TRUCK

Dual Rear Wheels and Balloon Tires

Interchangeable all around





New Front Axle and Spring

Unusually sturdy front construction

ONE of the first features of the Ford truck to impress you is its rugged strength. At the front end, for example, the special Ford design transverse spring is heavier than formerly, with wider leaves. The new front axle, a chrome-alloy forging, is twice as strong as before. The front radius-rod is heavier, and the king-pins, wheel bearings and thrust bearings are larger.

Likewise, the front brakes have been made stronger, the drum diameter having been increased from 11 to 14 inches, the same as on the rear wheels. This provides a high degree of safety.

A feature of the Ford truck which you will find convenient and economical is the new wheel and tire equipment. Dual rear wheels can be installed at small additional cost. With the dual equipment, balloon tires of one size are used throughout, so that all six steel disc wheels and tires are interchangeable all around. Only one spare wheel and tire need be carried.

Other new features of the Ford truck which add to its reliability and performance are the 4-speed transmission, which gives a wide, flexible range of speed and power, and the new spiral bevel gear rear axle. The axle-shafts are heavier than formerly, and because of the three-quarter floating design of axle construction, they serve only to turn the wheels, without carrying any of the weight of truck or load.

Your Ford dealer will be glad to show you these and many other features which make the Ford truck such a remarkable value.

Nature's joyful cry of thousands who have proclaimed Olive Tablets the perfect substitute for calomel.
Prepared by a practicing physician who used calomel's old-time ingredients—the safe, gentle vegetable laxatives and tonics—in the formula for Olive Tablets. Prescribed by physicians for chronic constipation and torpid livers.
Olive Tablets do not contain calomel. They are purely vegetable laxative and tonic.
Nature's own remedy is the "keynote" of these little, olive-colored tablets. They act upon the bowels and liver to relieve constipation. They never force them to action.
Next time you have that "dead head mouth"—that dull, dead feeling—sick headache, bad complexion, you will quickly note how sure and pleasant results are after one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

CENTENNIAL OF MORMONS NEAR

Latter Day Saints to Hold Great Celebration

Salt Lake City Mecca of Many Thousands

Anniversary Fetes Planned in Many Cities

SALT LAKE CITY, March 22. (Exclusive)—More than 600,000 "Mormons" will celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the organization of their church in a program that will last for a week, beginning Sunday, April 6.

While this celebration will be centered in Salt Lake City, celebrations will be held by the various Mormon congregations throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico, South America, nearly all the European countries, South Africa, Australia, Hawaii, the South Sea Islands, parts of Asia, and every other place where there is a Mormon organization.

Each night during the observance, an elaborate pageant will be presented depicting the rise and progress of the church. One thousand persons will participate in this feature, including at least 300 musicians.

FOUNDER OF CHURCH

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, known more commonly as the Mormon Church, was organized under laws of the State of New York, April 6, 1930 at Fayette, Seneca county, N. Y., by Joseph Smith, a young farmer. He was assisted in the organization by five other men.

Joseph Smith claimed to have received angelic visitations and other heavenly manifestations, and during one of these was directed, he said, to a hill not far from his home, in which he discovered a hidden record engraved in ancient script upon plates of gold. This record purports to contain a sacred history of the early inhabitants of the American continents, the forefathers of the American Indian.

This record was translated by Joseph Smith, through the assistance of an instrument called the Urim and Thummim, spoken of also in the Bible. This instrument he said he found with the gold plates.

SACRED VOLUME

The translation of this record was published 100 years ago as the Book of Mormon, which is considered by the Latter-Day Saints to be a volume of sacred scripture.

With the growth of the church, and its extension to other lands and nations, the Book of Mormon was translated and published in nearly a score of different languages. It is from the name of this book that members of the church receive their nickname, "Mormons."

During the century of the existence of the church, its people have gradually migrated westward. Their first movement was from the State of New York and vicinity to Ohio. After a period of residence there, they moved to Missouri and later to Illinois, making their headquarters at Nauvoo.

WESTWARD TREK

The final move was to the Rocky Mountains, to the Valley of the Great Salt Lake. This migration was made across trackless plains, before the coming of the western railroads, most of the travelers journeying by ox-team from the Missouri River to the barren and uninhabited shores of the "Dead Sea of America." Hundreds of them walked the entire 1000-mile stretch, pushing handcarts in which were all their earthly possessions. Much suffering was endured on the pioneer trek westward, many of them dying on the way.

The first contingent of pioneers reaching Salt Lake Valley arrived July 24, 1847, the anniversary of which date is observed throughout Utah as a State holiday. This original group was directed by Brigham Young, who succeeded to the leadership of the church after the death of Joseph Smith.

COLONIZED WEST

Under the direction of President Young, the "Mormons" continued to colonize western America after establishing their base at Salt Lake. They went east into Colorado and Wyoming; west into Nevada, California and Oregon; south into Arizona, New Mexico and Old Mexico; north into Idaho and the Provinces of Canada.

Past and Present Heads of Religion

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, commonly known as the "Mormons," will observe the 100th anniversary of the organization of their church in a week of celebration in Salt Lake City and other "Mormon" centers beginning Sunday, April 6. Above are shown pictures of Joseph Smith (center,) first president of the church; Brigham Young (right,) who led the Latter-day Saints to Salt Lake Valley, and Heber J. Grant, president.

CROSSROADS STUDY MADE

Rail and Highway Grade Intersection Solution Chief Topic of Safety Conference in May

WASHINGTON, March 23. (Exclusive)—Separation of grades at highway intersections as well as at railroad crossings will be one of the chief committee recommendations discussed at the third National Conference on Street and Highway Safety to be held in Washington the latter part of May.

Sending out invitations for the conference to State and city traffic authorities today, Secretary of Commerce Lamont called attention to studies being made by the committee on protection of railway grade crossings and highway intersections which will bring in a report dealing with remedies for congestion at focal traffic points. The report will discuss both grade separations and traffic circles.

"Highway intersections are the controlling points governing the usefulness of highways," the Lamont statement says. "The intersection of two equally important highways limits the time available for movement along each highway to somewhat less than one-half of the total time. The restriction becomes important when the volume of traffic on one highway requires more than 50 per cent of the time available at a major intersection."

Another recommendation of the grade crossing committee will be that the width of roadways be increased in approaching grade separations or circles.

A half-dozen other committees are busy with intensive studies of various phases of the motor traffic problem, according to Mr. Lamont. The ends sought by the committees are to increase the elements of safety, cut down the hazards of careless driving and bring about more co-operation between drivers and pedestrians.

Uniform practice in making the left turn will be one of the goals of this year's conference. The inside direct turn on the green light has been found the most common type but many eastern cities still are using the outside rotary turn, involving a wait for the light to change and a few use a method involving a turning interval in the light change cycle. This lack of uniformity causes much trouble for tourists.

How to get the pedestrian across crowded thoroughfares is another problem being studied. Traffic authorities are agreed, according to the Lamont statement, that pedestrians should observe traffic lights but should have the right of way over right-turning vehicles.

ARTIFICIAL TROPICS PERMIT EXPERIMENT

BERKELEY, March 23. (Exclusive)—By means of artificially created climates simulating the worst kind of tropics and arid deserts, established in various rooms of an old building at the University of California, experimental support has been obtained for the theory that the important factor affecting white men in the tropics is reduced body cooling power. This alters the body processes and tends to lower vitality and resistance to the many diseases prevalent in tropical countries. A report on this experimental verification of observations made several years ago in tropical districts in Australia, has been written by Associate Professor E. S. Sundstroem of the department of biochemistry, with the partial collaboration of C. E. Bentel and Phyllis Harroun, and the temporary assistance of Jeannette E. Abbott, M. M. Goldstein and Lena Levine, all graduate students.

MORE TIME GIVEN FOR DR. WESTLAKE BRIEFS

Fifteen days' additional time for the preparation and filing of briefs in the case of Dr. Frank Westlake, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Laura Sutton, has been granted by the District Court of Appeal. Attorney William T. Kendrick, representing the physician, obtained the extension after explaining the length of the trial transcripts and the fact that he has been busy on other court matters.

MERCED, March 23. (AP)—A State Bureau of Commerce within the State Department of Finance will be proposed at the next California Legislature, to develop Asiatic and South American markets for California fruits. Assemblyman E. G. Adams of Livingston will father the bill. Success of the movement, it is hoped, will avert the necessity of reducing fruit and grape acreage.

HOBOKEN PIER FIRE CONTINUES

City's Worst Blaze Since 1900 Does Damage Which May Total $4,000,000

HOBOKEN (N. J.) March 23. (AP) The city's worst fire since 1900, which started at 10 o'clock last night and swept the upper part of the water front, was still being fought tonight by firemen, who believe further spread of the flames can be prevented.

Piers 15 and 16 of the Lamport and Holt Line were virtually demolished by the flames, which also consumed a great quantity of merchandise and several freight cars and pier shanties.

The piers were valued at $2,500,000 each. No official estimate has yet been made of the damage, which may mount to $4,000,000.

The flames reached Pier 14 twice, but both times fire apparatus stationed on the pier extinguished them.

BYRNS PREDICTS DEMOCRAT GAIN

Says G.O.P. Will Lose House Control This Fall

Tennesseean Bases Views on National Survey

Snell Sees Only Off-Year Election Reaction

WASHINGTON, March 23. (AP)—The flat prediction that President Hoover will face the problem of dealing with a Democratic-controlled House in the last two years of the present administration was made today by Representative Byrns of Tennessee, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee.

The assertion was based upon a political survey conducted by Byrns. He predicted the Democrats will increase their number in the House in the fall elections by seventy members. With the 165 members now, they need but fifty-three additional votes to give them a total of 218 seats in the House of 435 members. The Republicans now have a majority of 102, with one Farmer-Laborer and several vacancies.

"Not only will the Democrats regain thirty seats lost in the 1928 elections," the Tennessean asserted, "but from the survey made we conservatively estimate that we will gain seventy seats, and there is an excellent possibility of our taking twenty more."

Byrns declared that the "failure of the administration's efforts to successfully carry out one major project within an entire year, the economic depression, the obvious failure of the London arms conference, and nation-wide unemployment conditions, have created dissatisfaction throughout the country and the voters will register their protest this fall."

Noting that it is customary for the Democrats to "stage a comeback in off-year elections," Chairman Snell of the House Rules Committee, said the Democrats will regain between thirty and forty seats. Snell said the Republicans now hold approximately that number which normally are in the Democratic column. However, the New Yorker added, the Democrats are due to lose some seats now held, and predicted that Republican control of the House will continue during the last two years of the Hoover administration.

RAIL BOARD REFUSES GAS PLANT PERMIT

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23. (Exclusive)—After public hearing, the Railroad Commission has denied the application of Commercial Gas Common, Ltd., for a certificate to operate an artificial gas plant in Lancaster, Los Angeles county, and to issue $68,000 of common capital stock for the purpose of financing the project. The commission found that unless the gas consumption for each consumer should be twice that ordinarily used in similar towns throughout the State the company would not have sufficient revenue to pay operating expenses.

FIDELITY SAVINGS
Fortieth Year of Service

Let THRIFT Insure Your Future

"THRIFT alone can insure your future as you would wish it to be. Building and loan associations accentuate the old-fashioned quality of thrift and no system of savings affords equal protection and equal reward."

That message, addressed several years ago to Fidelity investors by G. H. Wadleigh, Chairman of the Board, holds true today.

For more than thirty-nine years Fidelity has advocated thrift through two great channels of saving:

by assisting the individual to finance his home, paying for it from income;

by making it possible for the individual to invest his funds SAFELY, at the liberal return of 6 per cent.

Fidelity has never deviated from the sound fundamental principles laid down by its founders in 1891 . . . and to these principles, which have built the institution to its present magnitude, Fidelity will always adhere.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

JUVENILE CRIME RING DISCLOSED

Ben Friedman, Junk Dealer, Asserted "Fagin"

He and Two Youths Held in Orange County Jail

Latter Said to Admit Score of Recent Burglaries

SANTA ANA, March 23.—Believing that they have broken up an amazing juvenile crime ring, authorities today were unraveling details regarding a score of thefts and burglaries in the county, with expectation of unearthing that many more "jobs" perpetrated by an organization of youths that has operated for the last two and a half years.

Ben Friedman, 37-year-old Anaheim junk dealer, is held in the County Jail, facing two charges of receiving stolen property, as the asserted "fence" for the youthful gang, and also as their "Fagin" or tutor, in crime and sponsor of their operations, according to officers.

Also under arrest are Clifford Hobson, 18, and Edward Davis, 18, both of Anaheim, said by the Sheriff's office to have admitted approximately half of the forty or more burglaries. Several other boys are said to have been involved, including brothers of the Hobson and Davis boys.

Questioned today by Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff P. W. Howard, Hobson and Davis admitted a score of burglaries that had heretofore been unsolved, it was said, and were expected to relate details of various other offenses, scattered widely through the county. The boys, it is said, declared that Friedman had provided them with tools for committing the burglaries and had arranged to dispose of their loot.

Exposure of the gang came through young Davis, who was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Jess Buckles Thursday night in the act of entering a pumping plant near Anaheim. Information given by the boy led promptly to the arrest of Friedman by the Anaheim police yesterday. Friedman was charged in connection with the asserted purchase of 800 pounds of copper and brass, said to have been stolen by the boys from the Standard Murphy and Coyote leases near La Habra, and sold to Friedman, it was asserted, for $77.

Friedman posted $500 bail at Anaheim but was rearrested immediately for the Sheriff's office, on a second similar charge. Various pumping plants, service stations and lunch stands were looted by the gang.

Walnut Packing Plant Contract Made in Valley

NORTH LOS ANGELES, March 23.—The contract for the building of the $35,000 walnut-packing plant for the growers' association of San Fernando Valley, has been awarded to George A. Chapman, Van Nuys builder, who, within the last two years, has erected most of the large structures at the Metropolitan Airport near here.

The new plant will be of concrete and brick throughout. It will replace the old plant at North Hollywood, in the old Lankershim district, the center of walnut-growing activities within recent years having shifted from the eastern part of the valley into the central and western parts.

The building is to cost $35,000, with an added equipment of $10,000 they will have a capacity of handling about 2000 tons of walnuts annually. This year's production, it is estimated, will be about 1500 tons. Last year the tonnage was 1100 tons, jumping in one season from 500 tons. This big gain was caused by scores of walnut groves in the valley coming into mature production for the first time.

The building will be designed to increase capacity to 4000 tons, if desired, within the next few years. This, it is believed, will be sufficient to handle the valley's nut crop for a number of seasons to come, or until the valley area is denuded of walnut groves and built up solidly with homes and backyard gardens.

Roller Skating Causes Death

ALHAMBRA, March 23.—The exertion of roller skating proved too great a strain on the heart of Jesse D. Carter, 56 years of age, of 305 Fetterly street, Belvedere Gardens. He was enjoying the sport at the Walhalla Rink, 409 South Atlantic Boulevard, last night, when he became suddenly very tired and sat down on a bench to rest. Almost immediately he toppled to the floor.

The inhalator squad from the local fire department was called, but failed to revive him. Dr. Ben F. Chamberlain pronounced the man dead of heart disease. The body was removed to the mortuary of F. A. Utter & Son.

Two sons, Glen and Hazen, both of Bedvedere Gardens, were with their father at the rink. The deceased was a restaurant proprietor.

HOMER CHAILLAUX IN VETERANS' HOSPITAL

INGLEWOOD, March 23.—Homer Chaillaux, Seventeenth District commander of the American Legion, and past commander of the local post, has been taken to the Veterans' Hospital at West Los Angeles, where he successfully underwent an operation for appendicitis. His condition when removed to the hospital was said to be serious, but reports from there today say that he is now on the road to recovery. As an engineer officer during the World War he was awarded the Congressional Medal for conspicuous gallantry in action.

REDLANDS SENIOR MADE CLUB SOLOIST

Miss Thelma Griffith

REDLANDS, March 23. — Miss Thelma Griffith, senior at the University of Redlands, has been chosen soloist for the University Women's Glee Club, and will go with the organization on the annual spring tour, which begins Friday.

Miss Griffith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Griffith of Mentone, and, during her four years at the University of Redlands has made an enviable reputation through her voice of wide tonal range, and her gracious interpretation of the numbers. She has been chosen soprano soloist for the annual Easter cantata which will be presented the Sunday before Easter in the University Memorial Chapel by the College Choir.

The itinerary of the Women's Glee Club this year includes a trip to San Diego through Imperial Valley, with engagements in the Coast cities on the return trip.

Unique Garden Contains Only Native Plants

CHATSWORTH, March 23.—The home garden of Mrs. Bessie Guillemont at her Valley Circle Boulevard ranch, is uniqué in that nothing is grown but what are flowers native to the hills surrounding this section of San Fernando Valley. Between thirty and thirty-five varieties of native California flowers and plants are to be seen. Some of them have never before been transplanted for domestic purposes.

Mrs. Guillemont has scoured the hills and canyons near here for rare specimens, and only after painstaking effort has she been able to transplant them and keep them growing.

Among the rare assortment in the garden are the monkey flower, or diplacus glutinosis; the lupine, eschscholtzia; Mariposa lily, collinsia photinia, manzanita and a score of other wild flowers that seem to hold up their heads even more proudly when given their high-brow botanical names.

There are a number of gardens in San Fernando Valley where recent comers from the East have made a speciality of growing wild flowers, but none is so replete as the various posey beds cultivated by Mrs. Guillemont.

Field Meeting Will be Tuesday

ONTARIO, March 23.—With peach and appricot trees rapidly leafing out and the deciduous-fruit season getting under way, George P. Weldon, Chaffey pomologist, and H. J. Wilder, San Bernardino county farm advisor, plan an all-day field meeting for growers of the district in Chaffey deciduous orchard on East Sixth street, Tuesday.

Facts will be given relating to fertilisers to apply to peach trees, pruning methods, grafting methods and hybridization work to secure better-adapted varieties.

Demonstrations will also be given in fertilizer application and in side-grafting of peach trees, which has been a marked success under study of Prof. Weldon. Farm Advisor Wilder will give a talk and demonstration on soil moisture.

Two Bathers at Hermosa Saved From Drowning

HERMOSA BEACH, March 23.—Two Los Angeles residents were rescued from drowning in the surf here this afternoon after the pair had ventured beyond a safe distance from shore. The first rescue, shortly after noon, was made when Miss Ruth Wesbecher, 17 years of age, of 1489 West Forty-ninth street, Los Angeles, was assisted to shore and given emergency treatment at the Hermosa Beach Police Station. Miss Wesbecher was taken from the water in front of the Surf and Sand Club.

An hour later Clifford Larson, 22, of 4809 South Figueroa street, Los Angeles, was brought ashore at the same spot by Clarence Slater, when the former became exhausted. Both bathers were able to continue to their homes after emergency treatment.

ELECTION HEARING AT HAWTHORNE TONIGHT

HAWTHORNE, March 23.—Protests against the proposed special election to determine whether or not this city shall consolidate with Los Angeles, will be before the City Council at its regular meeting tomorrow night. The election proposal, the resolution for which has been ordered by the Council, follows the receipt on the 10th inst. of a petition bearing 726 names in which the election is asked. Both the petition and the protests are supported by a large faction and interest in whatever action the officials may take in the matter is high.

ROTARIAN ENTERS POLITICS

Service Club President at Beaumont Files Papers in Race for City Council, Making Six Candidates

BEAUMONT, March 23.—Joseph E. Roberts, president of the Rotary Club, representing an oil company in that organization, filed his nomination papers for the City Council Friday with City Clerk Richardson, together with W. M. Cress and Ray T. Samson, making six candidates for the three places to be filled in the coming election. Roberts is serving his ninth year as president of the local school board, refusing to stand for further election. He has in that time been one of the leaders in establishing and maintaining a Class A rating for the local high school. During his administration the Olive Grammar School was built and the new high school completed. He is a native son and has been active in civic life here since youth, except for a few years in the Northwest as a young man.

William M. Cross, who formerly filled the position, but resigned more than a year ago, is agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. Ray T. Samson, deputy sheriff and business man, is active in the Izaak Walton League. Cross is seeking the two-year short term and the others the four-year term.

Candidates previously filing papers are E. J. Gillis, who retired a few weeks ago after a quarter of a century as cashier of a local bank; George G. Laver of a local hardware store, incumbent by appointment, and Donald M. MacPherson, proprietor of a nursery and garage, and for several years president of the Farm Bureau.

All six of the candidates are prominent in business and civic affairs of the community and all of them stand high among its citizenry. An interesting contest is looked for.

No opposition is expected in the candidacy of Frank Richardson and Mrs. Nellie Mull for City Clerk and Treasurer, respectively. Both are now filling unexpired terms by appointment.

The school board election for successor to President J. E. Roberts presents but one candidate, Roy C. Adams. Ex-Mayor Philip Truby, who previously announced himself, withdrew from the race. All candidates are united on a platform of a successful Japanese Cherry Blossom Festival day here Sunday, the 30th inst.

EIGHT YOUTHS HURT IN CRASH

Truck Brakes Fail and Car Goes Over Embankment

San Antonio Canyon Mishap Near Scene of Fatalities

Accident Mars Outing of El Monte Eighth-Graders

UPLAND, March 23.—One boy seriously injured, and seven others slightly hurt, was the outcome, police announced today, of what nearly developed into a tragedy late Saturday in San Antonio Canyon, where several weeks ago six boys lost their lives in a similar accident.

A truck bearing eight El Monte eighth-grade boys went over the embankment in San Antonio Canyon at almost the same place a touring car plunged six weeks ago, carrying six boys to death. The truckload of El Monte boys was not going at an excessive speed, which probably spared the lives of all in the party.

Carnell Coon, 13 years of age, of 708 Clark street, El Monte, suffered compound fractures of both legs above the knee. The other boys were practically unhurt. Four truckloads of eighth-grade boys had been at Camp Baldy in the canyon, and on coming down the hill the brakes burned out on one truck, causing it to run wild. It plunged forty feet to the bottom of the canyon. G. L. Hill, 40, 326 Nevada street, El Monte, teacher of the boys, suffered a dislocated shoulder.

CENSUS MAN DISGUISED RACKETEER

Supervisor Stanley Goode Warns Public of Spurious "Enumerator's" Wiles

SANTA ANA, March 23.—Census Supervisor Stanley Goode, in charge of census operations in Orange and Riverside counties, looked up from his list of tentative enumerators today long enough to issue a warning to those who may doubt the official status of enumerators who will begin their work April 2.

"If the person being interviewed has any doubt as to the identity of the enumerator, ask for his certificate of appointment and authorization," said Goode. "Every census-taker will be equipped with this document. There is no obligation to give information to those who do not have them.

"If the person being interviewed is still suspicious after the document has been produced, further information as to official status can be secured by telephoning my office," he added.

Goode issued the warning after it had been called to his attention that some cities have reported "census racketeers" already operating.

These men call in the guise of census enumerators and ask questions regarding refrigerators, sewing machines or some other household article. After the information is carefully noted in an official-looking book, the "racketeers" announce that upon payment of a small sum down they will be glad to install a new refrigerator, sewing machine or whatever it may be the "racketeer" is selling.

Goode has nearly completed his appointments for this city and is now working up his list for the Northern Orange county communities. Former service people are given first consideration if their other qualifications are approved, he pointed out. The list for the entire county will be made known soon.

VENTURA COUNTY CENSUS TAKERS TO MEET TODAY

VENTURA, March 23. — Thirty-six men and women who are to serve as enumerators in the 1930 census of Ventura county are to hold an all-day meeting in the courtroom of Judge Malvren Dimmick Monday.

The conference, under the direction of Supervisor R. C. Keene, is to begin at 9 a.m. A noon recess will be taken to the Athene Club, where luncheon is to be served.

At this session, Keene said, the enumerators will receive full instructions and all the necessary paraphernalia for conducting the decennial count of inhabitants.

The canvas is to open on April 2.

Construction of New Precooling Plant Started

ORANGE, March 23.—With the project scheduled to be pushed to early completion, excavation work has started for the $75,000 precooling plant to be erected for the Consolidated Orange Growers on a site immediately adjoining the citrus-packing plant.

The initial work is being done by the Foster Rock Company of Fullerton, which was awarded the subcontract by the Gay Engineering Corporation of Los Angeles, the general contracting firm.

According to Frank H. Collins, packing plant manager, it is hoped to complete the structure and have it ready for operation by June 1, shortly after the start of the 1930 Valencia season.

SCHOOL BROKEN INTO FOR FOURTH TIME

UPLAND, March 23.—Someone evidently wants to go to school here and cannot find any other way of getting there than by breaking in. For the fourth time this month the Tenth-street school here has been broken into, but, according to a close check, nothing of value has been taken.

Former Boxing Champ Displays New "One-Man Top"

BURBANK, March 23.—Friends of James J. Jeffries, one-time world's champion heavyweight and now a San Fernando Valley rancher, are reviving that old song, "Where Did You Get That Hat?" For "Jim" is strutting around his Burbank rancho under a sombrero big enough for several average-sized cowboys.

The huge headpiece was presented to "Jeff" as a token of esteem from his fellow-townsmen after he had donated the use of 125 acres of his ranch for the Elks' first annual stampede. Scheduled for Sunday, April 13, the stampede will bring from all parts of the West an aggregation of trick riders, rope twirlers, cowgirls and cowboys that promises to duplicate the old-time rodeo in all its thrilling moments.

Among the contestants for thousands of dollars of prizes will be Bonnie Gray, who jumps a horse over an automobile load of passengers; Rose Smith, famed trick rider; Mabel Strickland, only girl steer roper; Paris Williams, winner at Cheyenne in 1929 in trick riding; Howard Tegland of Miles City, Mont.; Earl Thode of Belividere, S. D.; Johnnie Schneider of Hanford, Norman Cowan, Sam Garrett, Buff Jones, Ed Wright and 200 other contestants will ride "bronks," rope and entertain with specialties.

Funds realized from the stampede will go to the Elks' building fund, Ralph O. Walton, chairman of the affair, declares.

Rights in Mill Creek Revoked

REDLANDS, March 23.—Revocation of the rights of the Southern Sierras Power Company to divert water from the several creeks of the upper Mill Creek was reported to local interests today by Howard Conkling, in charge of the division of water resources for the State.

The power company has done a considerable amount of investigation in the many years it has held right to take water from the falls, but no actual construction work. The rights were for diversion of between 150 and 160 miner's inches of water from Alder Falls, Lost, Vivian, Willow and High creeks. The revocation was at the request of the Southern Sierras Power Company.

Thirty years ago Prof. C. G. Baldwin of Pomona College filed on the Valley of the Falls water, with a plan to develop power, but never went very far with the scheme. Later his interests were taken over by the Southern Sierras.

Water companies of the district which have rights in the Mill Creek stream today expressed doubt that any development would threaten the falls, as immediate protests would be carried into court if necessary, not only by those having rights below, but by people who consider the falls an asset scenically.

ROAD ACROSS PEAT BED TO BE REPAVED

SANTA ANA, March 23.—Work on the repaving and raising of a strip of pavement across a peat bed west of Talbert on the Talbert-Huntington Beach Boulevard was launched today, according to Nat Neff, county superintendent of highways. The road has settled more than five feet during the past fourteen years, according to Neff. A new dirt fill is being made across the peat bed, which is nearly a quarter of a mile in width, and a new pavement will be laid across the fill.

COSTA MESA, March 23.—Plans for the construction of a new grammar school building in the northern section of this city to take care of the rapid growth in that district and to relieve congestion at the present Costa Mesa grammar school, are under consideration by the Costa Mesa school board, it was announced by Charles E. Dunn, clerk. The board has been considering the move for some time. The school board may call a bond issue soon to settle the matter.

Predictions of Prosperity for Growers Made

ONTARIO, March 23.—Navel and Valencia oranges will yield "exceptionally attractive returns" this season, according to J. A. Steward, general sales manager of the Mutual Orange Distributors, in a prediction made here Thursday night before the managers of his organization, gathered at Hotel Ontario.

Steward compared the present year with that of 1927-1928, a comparative crop season, with average in favor of the 1929-1930 crop. An estimate was made of 23,000 to 24,000 carloads of Valencia oranges to be shipped this season and navel shipments will reach about 5000 carloads, Stewart estimated, with virtually all of them out of the way by May 1.

Mutual Orange Distributors is now building a new $75,000 citrus fruit-packing plant on North Euclid avenue, to operate under the name "Upland Mutual Groves, Inc." Officers of this organization are: George O. Gaylord, president; O. D. Hayward, vice-president; M. R. Lewis, secretary-manager, and G. H. Parsons, Andrew Henderson, J. Wilbur Smith, Charles Minot and A. J. Webster, directors.

Mutual Orange Distributors officers present included: C. P. Early, general manager; J. A. Steward, sales manager; A. D. Knight and S. B. Marshall, assistant sales managers, all of Redlands; E. J. Brickell, manager supply department; H. L. Thomason, and A. L. Chandler of Los Angeles.

Bright Future in San Fernando Valley Augured

SAN FERNANDO, March 23.—Prospects for increased business activity and for bumper crops in San Fernando Valley were never brighter than they are at present, following the recent heavy rains, according to a survey compiled by W. A. Robinson, manager of the local branch of the Security-First National Bank.

The banker's survey reveals that rainfall to date in the valley totals more than twelve inches, which is greater than the total rainfall for all of last season. Valley farmers assert that never before has the soil had such an abundance of moisture favorable for the planting of crops, according to Robinson.

His figures show that there are 33,052 acres planted or being planted to seasonable crops in this section and 25,960 acres producing permanent crops. These include melons, cabbage, carrots, asparagus, onions, potatoes, lettuce, peppers, alfalfa, corn, beans, tomatoes, roses and bulbs. Acres planted to citrus total 9600; walnuts, 9380; deciduous fruits, 3200; grapes, 1900; figs, 424; olives, 800, and berries, 56.

ODD CLUB BANQUETS IN TOWN

Whittier College Group of Cosmopolitan Membership Has Annual Dinner

WHITTIER, March 23.—Seventeen members of the Cosmopolitan Club of Whittier College and their friends attended the annual banquet of the club given at Gay Lum Lo Cafe, Los Angeles, last evening.

For a number of years these clubs, composed of the cosmopolitan students and others interested in educational work, have been functioning successfully in the colleges composing the Southern California College Conference, the club here being particularly active.

Robert Bau, a Chinese student and a senior, was master of ceremonies at the banquet, and was assisted by Dr. Louis T. Jones, member of the faculty at Whittier College, Mrs. J. Kam Machida, Chinese, and Yung Cheh Shen, Korean, educated in Japan.

Following the banquet, which was a sumptuous affair, a trip of inspection to some of the most interesting places in Chinatown was directed by Mrs. Machida, an American-born Chinese. Shen was formerly a student at Stanford University.

Those attending the banquet were Bau, president of the club; Prof. Jones, faculty adviser; Mrs. Machida and Shen, assisting hosts; Miss Martha Rudder, Miss Rosa McCusick, Miss Margaret Larson, Miss Marie Laura Ray, Miss Evelyn Starbuck, Miss Vera Fremlin, Miss Ella Kirby, Mrs. M. B. Brownson and Harold Marling, Ralph H. Onizuka, Edwin Pressley, Franklin Starbuck and Granville Starbuck.

The countries represented by this group were the United States, England, China, Japan, Korea, Hawaii, Sweden and Norway, so that the gathering was truly cosmopolitan. The object of these clubs, which have gained such a wide popularity in the colleges of Southern California, as well as in eastern universities, is to promote a better understanding between all nations, and thereby create a world-wide friendship.

Discussion was led by School Superintendent Augustus Weakley of La Crescenta for the administrators; Miss Lydia McCold, county supervisor of reading, for the supervisors, and Mrs. Gertrude O. Howard, principal of the Queen-street intermediate school, for the teachers' group.

Visiting administrators and supervisors inspected the Queen-street intermediate school, which, like other local grammar schools, are doing outstanding work in activity lines.

Luncheon was served to several hundred visiting school executives, supervisors and teachers shortly after noon and the program followed. Superintendent of Schools George W. Crozier and Miss Lucy H. Purdum, assistant superintendent here, were hosts of the day at which was termed an exceptionally interesting and enjoyable meeting.

PRICELESS 'RAMONA' SOUGHT

First Edition of Helen Hunt Jackson's Tragedy of Indian Life Searched for by Pageant Group

HEMET, March 23.—Officials of the Ramona Pageant Association here have just instituted a search to obtain a copy of the first edition of the novel "Ramona," by Helen Hunt Jackson, as the first step toward establishing an historical library of the lore of the Ramona country.

According to Mrs. James H. Welch of the pageant association the book, "Ramona," was first published in 1884 after Mrs. Jackson's Congressional mission to San Jacinto that led to her expose of the persecution of the Indians in the immortal story.

The pageant association also is anxious to obtain copies of Century Magazine, printed in 1883, in which a number of articles written by Mrs. Jackson concerning the Missions and Indians of California appeared, for the archives.

The research department of the pageant association, in making preparations for the 1930 production of the dramatization of the famous novel, to open the latter part of next month, has just obtained authentic information as to where "Ramona" was written.

While many localities of Southern California have claimed to have harbored Mrs. Jackson while she was preparing the famous story, copies of letters have been obtained which reveal that the book was written while she was residing at "The Berkeley," Fifth avenue and Ninette street, New York City, during the spring of 1884.

The plot of the novel and the drama staged annually in the Ramona Bowl, including the killing of the Indian hero by a white settler, are historical facts, authenticated by records of the San Jacinto Justice Court, copies of which are in the possession of the pageant association.

BACON PUZZLE MAY BE SOLVED

Caltech Mathematics Professor Studies Shakespeare

Millionaire Indicates Bacon Seek Proof of Theory

Science of Figures Helps in Literary Problem

PASADENA, March 23.—If one ever proves conclusively that Bacon wrote the masterpieces of works attributed to Shakespeare, probably will be Dr. Edwin Bidwell Wolfe, professor of mathematics at the California Institute of Technology.

As further indicative of the modern version, "Scientific Method," where angels fear to tread, Wolfe has been attempting to spare time for six years to work out mathematical proof with which to strengthen the claims of those who believe Bacon wrote the plays and sonnets popularly attributed to the bard of Avon.

Dr. Wolfe undertook what is commonly thought to be the exclusive province of nonscientists, when poets and professors of literature, at the behest of a wealthy Pasadena literary enthusiast.

CUNNING DESIGN SUSPECTED

This unnamed millionaire contends that Bacon employed the name in many places to hide the Shakespearean plays. In an effort to prove that Bacon's signature was a telitale thread throughout the works attributed to Shakespeare, this patron of literature is spending considerable time and money to prove that letters have been placed do not appear by accident, but by cunning design.

In the painstaking analysis of scores of combinations of words, sentences and letters which Dr. Wolfe claims when arranged according to mathematical pattern reveal the truth noted, but so far, it is said, no proof that the claim is correct was anything that could be found.

The research has involved in amassing a great deal of material concerning the life and works of Bacon's full name, Francis Bacon, and the author of the Shakespearean works.

By assigning numerals to each letter in the alphabet, it is claimed that certain words and combinations can be found that correspond to certain other words through the application of mathematical method, which appears in many Shakespearean instances in Shakespeare.

CLOSE TO DISCOVERY

In certain instances it is asserted to have appeared on the verge to a discovery that Bacon's name or initials appear with such regularity as to make it mathematically probable that the wording of the plays and sonnets was deliberately haphazard, but further discovery of the Shakespearean words has more than upset all previous calculations.

As far as the application of mathematical principles is concerned, usual investigation, it is based principally to basic computation, subtraction and addition.

But like all true scientists, Dr. Wolfe asserts he will not accept solution to the problem as correct until later, be it favorable or unfavorable to followers of Shakespeare or Bacon, or to both, in the event he proves neither wrote any of the immortal works.

He was taken to the County Hospital, where he died shortly after a charge from the shotgun had torn away his left arm.

The tragedy occurred at the Brown cabin in Chino, a mile south of here, where Hoyt and his wife had been living in a tent while benefiting his health. Mrs. Hoyt had feared an effort at self-destruction, and watched her husband carefully Wednesday.

Instead of the charge entering the breast, as Brown had apparently intended, it struck the left arm and tore it off. Brown lingered at the cabin until a blood clot caused his death.

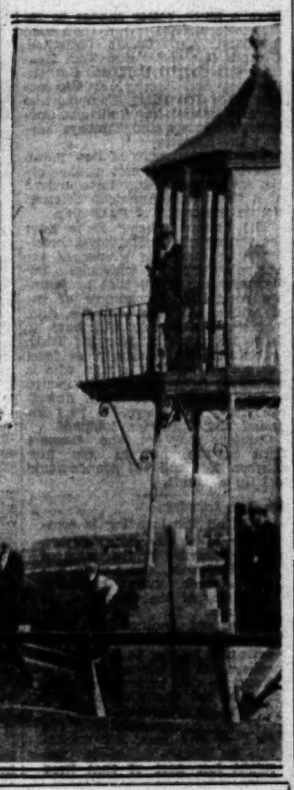
VICTORIAN CAPTURES HANDICAP AT AGUA CALIENTE



WARM ENTRY GETS HOT!

Here's Victorian, Warm Stables campaigner and favorite in the Agua Caliente handicap, who rewarded his backers by winning the rich turf feature yesterday in record time and enriching his owners by $99,600. Jockey George Ellis is up. The victor has just been decorated by the charming daughter of Wirt G. Bowman, president of the jockey club. Below is the finish of the classic with Alexander Pantages trailing the winner and Donnay in third position.

Alexander Pantages Takes Second Money; Donnay Finishes Third in Border Track Classic

BY RALPH HUSTON
"Times" Staff Representative

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) March 23.—"Class will tell" is the theme song of the turf, and class told here this afternoon when Victorian, the mighty atom from Kentucky, won the first running of the Agua Caliente Handicap—the world's richest stake.

Victorian shouldered top package of 126 pounds, overcame troublesome interference, and won by three lengths from that veteran California campaigner, Alexander Pantages. Donnay, flashy performer from the Rancocas stable, was third, and My Dandy, which had set the early pace, had enough left to finish fourth.

Victorian ran the mile and a quarter in 2:03 1-5, a new record for the new track. George Ellis rode a brilliant race on the son of Whisk-Broom II and the fine effort was a tribute to the training activities of Tommy Taylor, who handles the Warm Brothers' stables of Louisville, Ky.

The field was just about the smallest in the history of the annual event, which is an outgrowth of the old Coffroth Handicap. Only fourteen started, Jim Dandy being scratched, and Victorian drew down $99,600 for his winning effort. This raises his total to $225,975 in matter of money won, and ranks him third behind the immortal Zev and Display in American money winning horses. Alex Pantages added $6000 to the Alle Carrodle stable's coffers; Donnay collected $4500 and the Reichert Brothers collected $1500 for My Dandy.

The field got away to a beautiful start with My Dandy and Brown Wisdom, coupled as the Reinehert entry, getting away together. My Dandy immediately leaped to the front, closely followed by his stable mate. Then came Dowagiac, Victorian, Uluniu and Alex Pantages.

My Dandy was two lengths in front at the half, still followed by Brown Wisdom, Victorian, finding the pace not too fast, moved up to third, Alex Pantages was fourth

CARNERA TO INVADE CITY THIS MONTH

Giant Italian's Ring Debut on Coast Not Yet Decided Upon by Managers

Primo Carnera, gigantic Italian heavyweight, will arrive in Los Angeles from Denver on the 29th or 30th inst., or April 1 at the latest, according to Frank Churchill, Western and local representative for the boxing behemoth.

Churchill engaged in a prolonged conversation with Bill Duffy, spokesman for Carnera's coterie of managers over long-distance to Kansas City last night.

"We are not certain as yet," announced Churchill, "whether Carnera will make his Pacific Coast debut in Los Angeles, and then go north, or start in Seattle and wind up in Los Angeles."

Carnera in any event will come to Los Angeles directly from Denver, as he is scheduled to make a picture.

Churchill as yet has made no definite plans for the Carnera bout.

"I had Long Tom Hawkins, negro heavyweight, in mind for Carnera," said Churchill, "but Hawkins has disappeared, and the last I heard of him he was in Cincinnati."

Churchill expects to make a definite announcement within the next few days.

Cop Polo Thriller From Midwick in Overtime Game by 11-to-10 Score

BY FRANK ROCHE

[illegible] mid riding horsemen from the plains of Argentina, who [illegible] the American polo world with their performances on the [illegible] this winter, were given the scare of their lives yesterday at the Midwick Country Club field.

[illegible] selves trailing Midwick at half-time by a 6-to-2 margin.

Midwick, with its two leading stars Eric Pedley and Long-Legged Elmer Boeseke showing the way, was clicking to perfection. Neil McCarthy and Carleton Burke, the other two members of the Purple four, were also doing their bit as never before. Everything pointed to a Midwick victory when the two teams came out for the second half and Elmer Boeseke swooped down on the white pill like an eagle and crashed it across for a goal, giving the local players a lead by a 7-to-2 score.

Then like an avalanche the Argentines swept down the field to score four goals in one of the most amazing rallies ever seen at Midwick, Alfredo Harrington, the best No. 1 man that ever played on this Coast, led the rally. It was Harrington who scooped up the white pill at the throw-in and smashed it across for a goal before the Midwick horsemen knew just what direction it had gone. It was Harrington again who did that same thing a moment later to the utter amusement of spectators and Purple players alike. Then the captain of the Argentine team, Manual Andrada scored. Then Harrington again shot into the center of the picture to score again for the Argentines.

Spectators who had visions of a Midwick victory rubbed their eyes hard after that brilliant display of polo. Midwick was still leading by

Godfrey, Carnera, Risko and Campolo Feature This Week's Fight Card

NEW YORK, March 23. (AP)—Boxers in the lighter divisions, for the most part, will rest on their laurels this week while the heavyweights go to the head of the class.

George Godfrey, Primo Carnera, Johnny Risko and Victorio Campolo, among others, will be "doing their stuff" in various sectors of the fistic front.

Risko and Campolo are matched in the ten-round feature bout of a charity show in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. The Garden tried to put this battle on some time ago, but the New York State Athletic Commission stepped in and ruled that Risko was "too small" for Campolo. The Garden promptly matched the two in one of the bouts of the Sharkey-Scott show and Risko cuffed the big Argentine fighter around for ten rounds only to have Referee Kid McPartland call the bout a draw.

Godfrey, the "Black Menace" from Leiperville, Pa., meets Roy (Ace) Clark in a ten-rounder at Philadelphia tomorrow night. Clark recently lasted six rounds with Carnera, puiting up a great battle. He weighs 235 pounds; Godfrey, 250.

STUBBLEFIELD LEGION VICTOR

One Driver Killed in Auto Races at Speedway

Stubby Stubblefield was practically the only man in the 100-lap main-event auto race at the American Legion Stadium yesterday, who was not affected by the shroud of bad luck which hung over the drivers and their cars as they sped at a reckless pace over the five-eighth-of-a-mile track. The result was that Stubblefield brought his mount home in first place without having to barely extend himself over the last half of the course. Francis Quinn drove a beautiful race from beginning to end in finishing in second place. A flat tire on the fiftieth lap cost him two laps and possibly the race. Walt May finished third after throwing a wheel on the forty-second time around when he and Carl Ryder tangled on the south turn. Ryder's car went through the fence but he was uninjured. Charles Geiston took fourth and Phil Pardee fifth. The winner's time was 53m. 16 8-10s.

The day was marred by an accident in which Kenny Stoddard was seriously injured. Legion officials announced later, however, that he had died in the General Hospital from a fractured skull and internal injuries. The fatality occurred on the fifty-seventh lap at a time when Shorty Cantlon was leading the race. Officials said that Cantlon was about to lap Stoddard when the latter's car suddenly shot into the fence. The mount rebounded onto the track directly in front of Cantlon's fast-traveling Miller Special. Shorty plowed into Stoddard's car which turned over several times finally throwing the driver out into the upper part of the track. The race was halted and

MERCURY SOCCERITES IN STARTLING VICTORY

The Los Angeles Athletic Club soccer football club turned in a startling 4-to-2 victory over an exceptionally strong Viking line-up in yesterday's game at Loyola Field. The game was one of a series for the Los Angeles Cup and the Mercuries by their showing yesterday will go a long way in the playoff.

In the preliminary game the aggressive Pasadena A.C.C. eleven defeated the Sons of St. George, 2 to 1. Like the Vikings were the favorites over the Mercuries, the Sons were picked over Pasadena, so both of yesterday's games may be classed as upsets.

The Mercuries were the first to score in the second game, the goal being a converted penalty kick by Lackie Thomson, center forward. Smith, recruit inside right, had driven a sure kick into the net, but the penalty was called and Thomson came through. The entire first half was featured by the fine goal keeping of Joe Koelmel of the Mercuries, who saved no less than three goals.

Soon after the start of the second half the clubmen scored again when Mervyn Scott's cross was headed into the net by Harry Owens. Hedbloom scored soon after for the Vikings, but Mervyn Scott of the Mercuries added another to the club total after picking up Jimmy Allan's perfect crossshot. Another club goal by Bill Pearson gave the Mercuries a 4-to-1 lead, the second Viking goal being the result of a penalty kick by Thomson.

Claude Brown's Pasadena team came from behind to nip the Sons in the opening game, the half-time score being 1 to 0, in favor of the Sons, due to Miller's early goal. Bruce, center forward, equalized in the second half and the same player counted the winning goal ten minutes before game time. For Pasadena, the work of Bruce at center forward, and Sammy Wallace, veteran fullback, stood out. Duff, a new halfback, also played a fine game for the winners.

HOLLYWOODERS NOSE OUT OLYMPIC CLUB

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23. (AP) Hollywood defeated the San Francisco Olympic Club soccer football team here today, 2 to 1, and won a place in the finals for the California cup.

Andy Walker, outside right of the Hollywood team, made the kick which broke a 1-to-1 tie. Walker booted a high shot which Wolters, Olympic gowie, was unable to block. The winning kick resulted from a foul by Hansen.

Copeland made the first goal for Hollywood in the first half, while Thornton scored for the Olympics on a cross from Houston. The halftime score was 1-1.

STRIBLING TO BOX SCOTT AT LONDON

MIAMI (Fla.) March 23. (AP)—W. L. (Young) Stribling, Macon (Ga.) heavyweight, and Phil Scott, English champion, who was defeated by Jack Sharkey here last month, have booked to fight at Albert Hall, London, April 10, "Pa" Stribling announced here. Terms were not made public.

SEATTLE TEAM WALLOPS HOLLYWOOD SQUAD, 12-7

SAN DIEGO, March 23. — Earl Brucker, one of San Diego High School's numerous contributions to baseball, was the shining light of a 12-to-7 victory scored by the Seattle Indians over the Hollywood Stars here today in an exhibition game that attracted a big crowd despite the fact that the eyes of the sporting world were focused on Agua Caliente. It was the third triumph for Ernie Johnson's hustling tribe in the four contests played this spring to date.

Brucker, on trial with the Indians, smacked two homers and a double in five times at bat to account for eight of the dozen

Favorites Win in First Round Play-Off Matches for Southland Team Championship

RANCHO, LOS ANGELES IN SEMIFINALS WEDNESDAY

Winner to Face Girard, Riviera Victor for Interclub Crown; Close Battles Expected

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Los Angeles vs. Rancho, and Riviera vs. Girard.

That will be the line-up on Wednesday in the semifinal round of the Southern California interclub team match championship play-off.

First-round matches were played yesterday over neutral courses with the favorites scoring easy victories.

MILO MARCHETTI

Golfers who looked for San Gabriel to give Girard a battle were disappointed. The San Fernando Valley champions unleashed a concentrated attack to turn back the Mission Club team, 8 to 1, in a match played over the Pasadena Country Club course.

From present indications, Girard should win the upper bracket and meet either Los Angeles or Rancho in the final match, which is scheduled to be played a week from Wednesday at the Riviera Country Club.

Both favorites, Los Angeles, defending champion, and Rancho, were not pressed.

Capt. Paul R. Jones lacked his full team strength against Victoria, but Rancho won easily, 8 to 1, in a match played at Midwick.

Los Angeles traveled to Brentwood to defeat the Long Beach Country Club, 7 to 2.

In the fourth match of the day, Riviera defeated Pasadena at Hillcrest, 6 to 3.

RANCHO POWERFUL

Under the careful direction of Jones, who has taken an active interest in having the Rancho team at its best throughout the season, the Pico Boulevard team has been playing a superior brand of golf. The players are teaming up well, and it looks like Rancho will have an edge against Los Angeles which, however, also boasts a truly great team of low handicap stars.

The playing of George (Jix) Von Elm, former national amateur champion and Walker Cup team member, is proving to be an inspiration to the team. George has been a member of two interclub champions, Rancho in 1927 and Los Angeles in 1928.

Following the removal of his tonsils, Von Elm's recovery and the improvement in his game have been phenomenal. At Pebble Beach in the national amateur, Von Elm looked anything but well. Yesterday he was hitting his shots more like Von Elm of 1926, when he defeated Bobby Jones.

OLSEN SCORES ACE

Following a year at Detroit, Von Elm has decided that Los Angeles is the best place to live in, after all, and will now make his permanent home here. He is associated with Harry Atwater.

Von Elm plans to leave about April 10 for the East to sail with the Walker Cup team for England.

Among the highlights of yesterday's matches was a hole-in-one scored by F. S. Olsen of San Gabriel on the seventh hole at Pasadena.

Olsen was playing against Aubrey Devine, University of Southern California football coach and former all-American, and Forrest Cornett. We can't quite understand how D. Paul and F. Summers of Victoria managed to defeat Lee Pendergrass and Art La Sarge, unless the latter arrived too late to help out.

When La Sarge failed to show yesterday afternoon, Pendergrass decided to go out and play alone. On the first tee, the long hitting Rancho youngster didn't quite connect with his drive. It rolled clear over the second undulation of the fairway, which, if you know Midwick, is close to 300 yards. Lee's effort so flabbergasted both Paul and Summers that they almost completely missed their drives.

"If you do that when you miss 'em," inquired Paul, "what do you do when you hit one?"

Pendergrass recently made a 300-yard hole-in-one at Rancho, and is one of the longest drivers in Southern California.

FAIRBANKS PLAYS

George Bronough and Dr. L. G. Campbell of Pasadena enjoyed their match even though they did get licked. They had the pleasure of playing against none other than Douglas Fairbanks and John Saunders, both rabid golfers. Fairbanks and Saunders won, 2 and 1, after a fine match.

On Wednesday, Rancho plays Los Angeles at Lakeside, while Riviera and Girard hook up at the north course, Los Angeles Country Club.

THE Sportlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

Spring Song of the Average Golfer

You take the fairway, and I'll take the traps,
I like the thrill of the thickets and rough;
Give me my hundred and seventeen raps,
Out in the wilds where the going is tough;
I like to joust in the sand-filled abysses,
I get a kick from the Outer-Bounds wham,
I am the bloke who can cheer when he misses,
O, what a liar I am!

You make the green, but the bunkers suit me;
I like to battle where heel prints are thick;
What do I care if I hook from the tee?
Even the water holes give me a kick;
Give me the sun and the blue of the heavens,
Out where a fellow can get in his slam;
I never growl at the "eights" or "elevens"—
O, what a liar I am.

THE American atmosphere is now rife with the whirring noise of foreign gloves. Vittorio Campolo, the human skyscraper, will throw a number of them in the general direction of Johnny Risko at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Primo Carnera, the 270-pound descendant of Romulus, or Remus, is still around making threatening gestures, although he has yet to face anything tougher than a punching bag, leather or human. And in a short while Max Schmeling will be on his way over to annoy Jack Sharkey, who seems easily annoyed at times.

These three invaders at least have a much better chance to remove the ancient crown than such invaders as Charlie Mitchell, Georges Carpentier and Tom Heeney, who fought Sullivan, Corbett, Dempsey and Tunney. In the second place Schmeling, Campolo and Carnera haven't any Sullivans, Corbetts, Dempseys and Tunneys barring the highway.

The fragrant odor of new mown kale has lured the best of the foreigners over and they have arrived at a time when American defenses are on the seamy or leaky side.

The present scheme is to have the winner of the Sharkey-Schmeling fight meet the winner of the Campolo-Carnera whirligig, but Dempsey may upset that by jumping back into the middle of the pit with a glove on each fist. And, meanwhile, Campolo will have to prove his place by stopping Risko or beating him decisively. At least Campolo is meeting a man who is willing to fight and who happened to outfight the same South American a few weeks ago. He isn't inhaling any Carnerian lollipops.

Campolo may get the Carnera fight anyway, just to see how thirteen feet and 500 pounds would look in a clinch.

Another Invader

Not all the invading is coming from outside heavyweights. A dark hornet by the name of Kid Chocolate, the Cuban entry, is much more dangerous than any of the Campolos or Carneras. He has already thrown out another hint that it is about time to dust off the entrances leading to the cyclone cellars. Al Ridgeway is something to stop in less than two rounds, but the Cuban entry did it.

If one heavyweight had the class of McLarnin, Kid Chocolate or Singer the fight fan might lose part of that tired feeling that haunts his system today.

The Years Manage to Keep On

The veteran baseball fan, turning possibly for the first time to news of training camps and exhibition games, saw where Walsh worked out a few innings. In fact, he read where two Walshes worked out. This seemed to be reasonable because Walsh used to do the work of two or three pitchers. One year he worked in sixty-six games and either won or saved 55 of them. But it wasn't the old Meriden marvel the veteran fan read about. It was Ed's two sons.

Further on the veteran fan read where Glen Liebhardt of the Athetics won his game. "When did Cleveland trade Liebhardt?" he began to wonder. Then he suddenly discovered that the Athletic pitcher was young Glen, not the old-timer. The veteran fan began to feel a trifle old. For the first time he noticed the increasing pressure of the years. "Are all these ball players," he thought, "the sons of the fellows I used to watch? Have I got that far along?"

And then once more the old light came back in his eyes and his chin popped up again. Here were the lines that wiped away at least a few of the years—"Jack Quinn looks as good as ever"—"Grover Cleveland Alexander allows one hit in three innings"—and neither of these was the son of Jack Quinn, or the son of Grover Cleveland Alexander. They were the same pair who were hanging around from twenty to twenty-five years ago.

So the light came back to the hills again.

Today's Golf Lesson

One great mistake the average golfer makes is to figure that he had to glare at the ball as if it were the head of a rattlesnake or cobra.

It has been shown that it isn't necessary to see the ball in order to make a good shot. But it is necessary to keep the head from popping up, because that upsets the entire balance of the swing. An uplifted head is largely a matter of proof that tension and tightness controlled the body and arms and that the swing was not smoothly made.

Yet it is absolutely important to have the hands and club head swing past the chin or the eyes before they turn to the direction of flight—to the left for a right-handed played. If the chin or eyes or head should happen to swing too soon to the left, it will be just too bad. For when that happens the down swing breaks up into a number of pieces and neither power nor control is left. The punch goes from the hands and the speed slips away from the club head.

Whoever wrote—"I didn't raise my head to be a golfer" sang one of the most truthful of all tunes. Watch any good pro or good amateur and notice how he whips the club head through the ball before the head is raised or the chin is lifted. And when he doesn't keep his head down, he will flub one also, even as you and I.

Try to unlock the neck and body and that may help. The head must be the anchor to the swing, but it isn't an anchor moving with the tide. It is merely supposed to keep its place and let the hands and arms swing the club head without any final and wrecking interruption.

But before this can happen there must be body balance and swinging smoothness.

COAST LEAGUE PREPS BOAST GREAT MARKS

PASADENA, March 23.—As in former years athletes in the Coast Prep League, headed by the defending Southern California and State championship San Diego Cavemen, are going to make quite a splash in the annual Southern California track and field puddle this season, if records to date are any criterion of what is to follow later.

Back in 1927 Frank Wykoff and his Glendale cohorts started Coast League athletes on their present era. That year Glendale took the Southland and State blue-ribbon events, scoring 37½ in the former. In 1928 Los Angeles High nosed out Long Beach for the Southern California title, but the Jackrabbits revenged themselves to win the State crown a week later. Then last year San Diego again came through for the Coast League. Coach Glenn Broderick's San Diegans recovered the Southern California title and moved the State cup from Long Beach to the border.

And now 1930! Statistics show that three Coast loop stars have the best Southland records in the 100-yard dash, low hurdles and broad jump. They are: Norman (Red) Franklin of Long Beach with 9.9s. in the century; Capt. Barton Smith of Long Beach, with 25.5s. in the low barriers, and Capt. Jimmy Willson of San Diego, with a leap of 21ft. 11in. in the broad jump. Then there is the San Diego quartet, Pearson, Warburton, Ortiz and Fletcher, in the half-mile relay, with a recorded time of 1m. 31.2s. Also, other seasonal records in the Coast League are not to be sneezed at.

True to history, the Coast League landslide tends to be checked by short-pants boys from the Major City and Bay leagues. Present indications, however, favor San Diego to repeat her double victories of 1929 on the track and field, with Manual Arts, Inglewood and perhaps Long Beach right on her heels. Led by her all-American sprinter, Jimmy Willson; her State quarter-mile medal winner, "Sandy Hair" Irvine Warburton, and her Southern California mile champion, Evans Dowers, San Diego is indeed a powerful crew.

Following are the Coast League and Southern California records to date:

100-yard dash—Franklin, Long Beach, 9.9s.

220-yard dash — Ortiz, San Diego, 22 2-5s.

440-yard dash—Warburton, San Diego, 51.3s.; Ortiz, San Diego, 52 1-5s.

880-yard run—Rothburn, Long Beach, 2m. 4.5s.

One-mile run—Powers, San Diego, 4m. 46s.

120-yard high hurdles—Anderson, Alhambra, 16 1-5s.

220-yard low hurdles — Smith, Long Beach, 25.5s.

880-yard relay—Four-man, Santa Ana, 1m. 32s. (Team composed of Reboin, Numum, Daniel and Paul.)

Discus throw—Russell, San Diego, 120ft. 1½in.

Pole vault—Grow, Long Beach, 11ft. 3in.

Alger, Long Beach, 11ft. 3in.

High jump—Larson, San Diego, 5ft. 11in.

Broad Jump—Willson, San Diego, 21ft. 11in.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

120-yard high hurdles—DuPey, Inglewood, 15 3-5s.

220-yard low hurdles—Smith, Long Beach, 25.5s.

TROTTER POINTS U.C.L.A. TRACKMEN FOR ARIZONA

Following the lop-sided Bruin victory over Caltech in a dual meet last Saturday at Pasadena, Coach Harry Trotter, U.C.L.A. track mentor, will start to groom his athletes today for the forthcoming dual affair with the University of Arizona track and field aggregation on the Westwood oval on April 5.

By an agreement with the Wildcat athletic authorities, the Westwooders will use but fifteen men in the meet, as a return for a similar courtesy extended by Arizona in the dual meet between the two universities last year at Tucson. Therefore, Coach Trotter will have to develop some "iron men" who can collect points in more than one event.

"Chuck" Smith, stellar sophomore sprinter, is a dead cinch to be one of the lucky fifteen a week from Saturday. "Chuck" has won ten points in every meet so far this year with first places in both the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash. His best time in the century has been 9 9-10s., and his best furlong time is 22 5-10s.

Among the others who are fairly certain of being included in the fifteen are Capt. Johnny Hill, sprinter and shot putter; Kenneth Knight, broad jumper; Ray Smith, distance runner; Jerry Stewart, pole vaulter; Freddy Kuhlman, pole vaulter and low hurdler; Johnny Talbot, dash man; Bill McCarthy, quarter-miler; and Ansel Brenniman, javelin thrower, broad jumper and pole vaulter.

ANGELS RALLY TO DOWN CUBS BY 7-TO-4 SCORE

runs with a couple of home-run wallops.

Clyde Barfoot, after having three runs scored off him before he got a man out in the first inning, pitched effectively during the remainder of his five-round stretch. Ed Baecht followed Barfoot to the mound for the Angels and looked as impressive as ever. Baecht struck out five Cubs in four innings and Beck's homer accounted for the only score off his sizzling slants. The Cubs got only three hits off the Philly cast-off and one of those hits was an out to everybody in the park but "Beans" Reardon, the boy bandit. If Baecht doesn't have a whale of a season for the Angels this year we'll be plenty surprised.

Before Barfoot got comfortably settled on the mound the Cubs had a run. Reason for that was because Beck hit Barfoot's first pitch over the left-centerfield barrier for the circuit. Grimm followed with a double and scooted to third on Hornsby's hit to right. Wilson walked, filling the bases. Cuyler sizzled a single to right to bring Grimm and Hornsby home and send the squat Mr. Wilson to third. But Barfoot snapped out of it at this juncture and retired Stephenson, Bell and Hartnett on easy pop-ups.

After two were out in the second the Angels broke into the run columns. Dittmar singled and so did Warren. Dittmar broke for third on Warren's hit to right and was running neck and neck with Cuyler's throw when the ball squirted off Bell's glove into left field, enabling Ditty to tally.

Bill Skiff made his Angel debut in the fifth when he batted for Barfoot and was thrown out by Beck.

Bush started pitching for the Cubs in the sixth and the Angels promptly bunched a couple of hits off him for a run. Singles by Sigafoos and Harper and Jacobs's infield out produced the tally.

Beck slugged his second home run of the game in the seventh, the ball landing out into the bleachers. After that the Cubs never had a chance the way Baecht was wheeling 'em over the plate.

The Angels put on their big blow-off in the home half of the seventh, which started mildly enough when Warren fanned. Baecht then slapped one to right and showed utter disdain for Cuyler's prize arm by stretching the blow into a double. Baecht, however, was out at third when Beck took Haney's roller and heaved it to Bell for the putout. But Johnny Moore put new life into the rally by doubling to center and Sigafoos followed with a single that scored Haney and Moore to tie the score. Harper then got his third hit of the game, a single to right, and Sigafoos moved to third. Harper promptly stole second and crossed the plate behind Sigafoos when Bell threw Jacobs's grounder away. Jacobs reached second on the wild heave and came home with the last run of the day when Jigger Statz dropped a "Philadelphia double" into right, Cuyler completely losing the ball in the sun.

The Angels and Cubs resume their series at Wrigley Field tomorrow and Wednesday. The Pittsburgh Pirates and Cubs provide the excitement Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The score:

Clarke, Pirate third-sacker, hit a home run to put the game on ice. Art McDougal, southpaw hurler on the Seals staff, was the whole show in the morning game. He held the Pirates to three safe hits, while his team-mates found Land and Sanders for eight bingles.

JUNIOR OLYMPIC GAMES Training Tips

BY BOYD COMSTOCK

Director of Junior Olympic Games for Southern California

(This is the fifth of a series of articles by Mr. Comstock on Junior Olympic Games events and how to prepare for them. Other articles will appear from time to time.—Ed. note.)

V. BASKETBALL THROW

1. UPWARD ACTION: The ball is lifted or pushed upward and outward and no attempt is made to spin the ball, although a slight spin may come from the finger grip. The lifting push is a mechanical action and will not be disturbed if it is speeded up to get the required height and distance as will be necessary if the boy is small and lacking in strength. In fact, the only way to get the desired result is by speeding up the upward action.

6. POSITION: The position should be maintained throughout the test and the boy should keep his mind and eye fixed upon the basket. The ball should be tossed back to him by assistants so that he will not be forced to shift his leg position once he has started. After a few preliminary throws the action becomes mechanical and a big percentage of throws should result.

7. THE DESTINATION: The shots should be made cleanly, going into the hoop without striking the backstop. This method, however, gives good results when the shot is a trifle short, high or strong. The boy should give some attention during his preliminary throws to wind conditions and other local hazards.

8. MENTAL CONTROL: This is an outstanding fundamental and the lack of good percentage in large contests is generally due to lack of mental control. For this reason it uation at all times, and all boys should on every possible occasion shoot against competition so that they will be accustomed to it in the finals.

9. THE FOLLOW-THROUGH: The follow-through is most important in this event also. It means here that the boy should allow his hands and arms to go upward and outward without checking as soon as the ball has been released. This action in itself is a great help and eliminates the jerk that stops the ball or an excessive movement that throws the ball too high. A boy should check his efforts as he goes through a test so that he will know his faults and be able to improve upon his form.

PAMPAS HORSEMEN WIN THRILLER AT MIDWICK

one goal when the sixth chukker started but Juan Reynal, No. 2 man on the Argentines, dashed up the field to make a goal just after the period opened to even the count. He took the ball on a pass from Harrington and cut it across the mouth of the goal, while the crowd roared.

PEDLEY BRILLIANT

Our own Eric Pedley, who played one of his brilliant games, then swept into things and smashed the pill across for a goal for Midwick. Jose Reynal then evened the count with a goal for Argentina. The crowd was in a terrible uproar as the chukker ended.

In the seventh chukker Juan Reynal scored a goal on a whirlwind ride down the field, breaking his mallet as he hit the pill sending it across the goal line. Neil McCarthy then scored for Midwick and the score was still knotted. Both teams battled like gamecocks until the chukker ended.

In the eighth, which is the time limit for polo games, Juan Reynal made one of the most brilliant shots in Coast polo history. He crashed into the sideboards 200 yards from the goal line and, while leaning at a 90 deg. angle, smashed the ball across the field for a goal. This gave Argentina a lead and it seemed as though they had the game tucked away. But with only twenty seconds to play a foul was called on the Pampas four. Elmer Boeseke attempted the foul shot but missed it by inches. Then the ball went back in play with ten seconds to go. Alfredo Harrington rode across Boeseke and another foul was called on the South Americans. The crowd was in a pitter of excitement when Eric Pedley rode down on the ball and sent it across high in the air for a goal, tying the score at 10 all.

JOSE WINS GAME

The team came out for the ninth chukker with their ponies covered in a lather of sweat. They battled up and down the field with every chase after the ball being a great horse race. Midwick had two splendid chances to score on shots by Boeseke and Pedley but missed them by inches. Argentina also missed a couple of shots for goals by a hair-breadth margin. Then Jose Reynal rode pell mell into the battling men and horses to crash the ball across for the goal that won the game.

The Argentines and Midwick will play again Wednesday and Sunday. The South Americans, undefeated to date, will wind-up their four at the end of the tournament here and return to their homes in the lower continent, they announced yesterday.

Amateur Puck Title Series on Tonight

The nip-and-tuck series for the amateur ice hockey championship will be continued tonight at the Palais De Glace rink when Ernie Miller's Shell Oilers again collide with the Arrowhead Valley Club in a game that should produce plenty of action. The last mix-up between the sextets, staged last Thursday, resulted in a 3-to-3 deadlock. Which means that Ernie Miller's Well Pullers still lead in the game score with two victories against one scored by the clubmen.

Buster Smith continues to be the principal threat of the Oilers with Johnny Curran and Dave Patrick the men to stop on the Arrowhead line-up. Smith and Curran made goals single-handed Thursday night that had the fans cheering wildly, while it was Patrick's thrust from center ice that tied up the game.

Henry Siemer, owner and operator of the Palais, announced that he is still negotiating to bring a Canadian team here to meet the winners of the series in a championship post-season play-off. Four out of seven games will decide the issue at the Palais in the affair now in progress.

HOLLYWOOD AND RICHFIELDS MIX

Local Ice Hockey Rivals Clash Tonight

All the bitterness engendered by a season of tough competition between teams always hostile will be poured into one last splurge tonight when the Los Angeles Richfields and Hollywood Millionaires terminate the California Hockey League schedule at the Winter Garden Ice Palace.

The pucksters are expected to put on a blazing finale, with the Millionaires hoping to wreak havoc with their old "jinx" and the Oilers determined to keep the Millionaires in their place and at the same time prepare for the forthcoming crucial series.

As a result of the existing bitterness and the freedom with which the players swing sticks and fists on each other, the atmosphere should be surcharged with feeling and filled with foreign bodies.

To the Millionaires there is nothing further to hustle for after tonight and so they can gamble everything on this one showing. To the Oilers, there must be the ever present thought that beginning Thursday they will meet the San Francisco Tigers in a two-game play-off to decide which team will meet the Oakland Sheiks for the league title. Beyond that, the Oilers sight a profitable series with the Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins.

Los Angeles must do some heavy preparing for the Tiger series as it will be total goals in two games that will decide it, which means that Guy Poole, Jake Lawrence, "Chick" Bond and other Oiler sharpshooters will have to be in form. And it looks to the Oil men like the Millionaires are as good victims as any, particularly since there is no team Richfield would rather beat.

Several eastern clubs are bidding for the services of the Oilers' star wing, Poole, and it may be that in the next few weeks he will decide whether he is to be in this league or the majors next season.

The Oilers have set themselves a high goal, the California league title, but if they are to reach it they must be going at top form for three full weeks. The first contract will be to nose out San Francisco. The second will be to trip the champion Oakland Sheiks in a five-game series. After that will come two of the greatest intersectional series ever played here, the Hawks and world-champion Bruins.

Line-ups:

Lauksburr	Defense	Brandow

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Keeping well in the shadows of the shrubbery growing profusely about the bungalow, Werper made his silent way to a point beneath an open window of the room in which he could hear his host and hostess talking earnestly. Almost the first words he overheard filled him with excitement. Lady Greystoke was speaking: "I always feared this might happen, but it seems incredible."

"Whatever the cause," replied Tarzan, "the fact remains that I have lost everything, and there is nothing for it but to return to Opar and get more gold." "Oh, John," cried Lady Greystoke and Werper could feel the shudder through her voice, "I would rather live in poverty always, than have you risk the hideous dangers of Opar. Is there no other way?"

"There is no other way half so easy to obtain another fortune, as to return to the treasure vaults of Opar and bring it away," replied Tarzan. "You need have no fear. I shall be very careful, my dear, and the chances are that the inhabitants of Opar will never know I have been there again. They do not know the value of their treasure. In fact few of them know of its existence."

Tarzan had made his decision and Lady Greystoke accepted his judgment. The following morning Werper announced his intention of departing. His party made but a short march when Werper pretended he was ill. He sent one of Achmet Zek's trusted blacks back over the trail to watch for the departure of Tarzan, then to return and report the direction taken by the ape-man.

LEA FIELD ACTIVITIES ON UPGRADE

Start of Several New Hobbs Area Projects in Week Reported

ARTESIA (N. M.) March 23. (Exclusive) — With several new wells starting in the Hobbs area, Lea county is showing fresh oil activity. Another new well has started work in this sector, it being the McKinley No. 1 of the Amerada Petroleum Corporation, on Sec. 30, 18-38. It is expected to reach the production horizon in 90 to 100 days.

The State No. 1-C of Cranfill & Reynolds on Sec. 16, 23-36, has encountered 9,000,000 feet of gas at 3360 feet and is expected to reach oil within the next 300 feet.

Disappointment is felt because of the failure of Henderson & Dexter to obtain a gusher in their Arnold No. 1 on Sec. 23, 17-30, in Eastern Eddy county. Sulphur water was encountered in the test at 3678 feet, but the flow has been plugged off. Operators believe they have a commercial well and will try to produce the Arnold well from the upper zones.

Oil men have been closely following developments in the State No. 57 of the F. W. & Y. Oil Company on Sec. 19, 19-28, four miles south of the Artesia field. It is expected to prove or condemn a new territory within the next week. Drilling is under way below 3325 feet, in black lime.

TOM REED ORE BODIES IN REACH

Cross-Cutting to Vein to Be Finished This Week and Hoisting Started

KINGMAN (Ariz.) March 23. (Exclusive)—Assistant Manager Light of the Tom Reed mine states that the pocket will be cut and cross-cutting to the vein will be under way this coming week.

This is one of the most important phases of the present development in the property. Following the opening of an ore body on the 950-foot levels, where the ore shoot was drifted upon for a distance of 400 feet, the company found it necessary, for more economical mining, to sink the main shaft to facilitate the mining and hoisting of ore for the mill.

This entailed the installation of a $35,000 pump to handle the water, which in itself took time, along with the sinking of the shaft below the 1100-foot level. As soon as the cross-cutting is completed, stoping and hoisting of enough ore to put the mill on the basis of 300 tons a day will be possible.

Mexico Copper Production at New High Mark

MONTERREY (Mex.) March 23. (Exclusive)—More copper was produced in Mexico during 1929 than in any single year of the industry, according to a statement issued by the Department of Industry, Commerce and Labor of the Mexican government. Total production for the year was 86,553,669 kilograms, or 95,200 short tons, valued at 72,000,000 pesos, equivalent to nearly $36,000,000 United States money.

The Boleo Copper Company of Santa Rosalia, Lower California, produced nearly one-third of the total, it was stated. This company is owned by the Rothschild interests of France. It owns its own fleet of cargo ships which transport the blister copper from the company's private deep-water port at Santa Rosalia to France. The State of Sonora was second to Lower California in copper production last year. In 1928, the total copper production of Mexico was approximately 75,000 tons.

Promising Ore Find Reported in Verde Mine

JEROME (Ariz.) March 23. (Exclusive)—There is report that Verde Central has struck good ore in its south drift on the 1400 level, in new territory. Verde Central conditions and ore are very similar to those in the near-by United Verde.

Operation is by a subsidiary of the Calumet and Arizona, with concentrates and ores shipped to the United Verde Extension smelter in Clemenceau. Ore of value is being taken out at a number of points on different levels, but there is understanding that no large lenses have been developed. Most of the product is a chalcopyrite, subject to easy concentration.

Yates Output Cut Proposal in Operation

AUSTIN (Tex.) March 23. (Exclusive) — Complying with the amended recommendations of the oil producers of the Yates field in Pecos county, the Railroad Commission has issued an order putting into effect for a period of sixty days a reduction of the allowable production of the field from 130,000 barrels daily to 110,000 barrels daily.

This reduction is made as a trial measure and if it works to the satisfaction of the producers it will be continued or reduced to 100,000 barrels at the end of sixty days, it is believed.

DEEP TEST NEAR TAFT INTERESTS

Project Drilling Ahead at 9400-Foot Level

Paying Oil Sand Held About 1200 Feet Deeper

The possibilities of the Standard Oil Company's Mascot No. 1 deep test for oil near Taft, developing into a commercial producer now is being widely discussed by operators since the project would have to produce from a depth of nearly two miles in the event that it should penetrate a good oil sand.

Yesterday the Mascot No. 1 was drilling below 9400 feet, as the deepest hole in the world. Since spudding in January 4, 1929, a production test has not been justified, it is said, although a few scattered showings have been penetrated. These occurred so high in the hole that they were considered insignificant.

The deepest projects to produce oil in California are located at Signal Hill. Production has been obtained in several of the Jergin Syndicate wells at depths slightly below 8500 feet. The flow from these deep producers has been slight and in several cases they were extremely wet and gas flow failed to show much kick.

At Santa Fe Springs, little production has been obtained below 8100 feet, for it has already been determined that the oil-producing formation, what little there is below 8100 feet is quite wet as was demonstrated by Oscar Howard's Hathaway No. 7, which had a production test at 8750 feet, although it went to 9350 feet and was the world's deepest hole until eclipsed by Standard's Mascot No. 1 during the past week.

That Standard may continue with ease to the 10,000-foot mark is thought probable because the project is preparing to land six-inch casing. Nine-inch casing is set to 6350 feet and hole is open to present depth. The larger the casing is at extreme depths, the easier the company is able to operate a drill large enough to withstand the tremendous pressure necessary.

OUTPUT OF MARICOPA WELL LOW

Standard Oil Bonynge No. 1 Reported Doing About Fifty Barrels a Day

MARICOPA, March 23. (Exclusive)—Standard Oil Company has been disappointed in the production from its Bonynge No. 1 well on Sec. 16, 11-23, of Maricopa Flat. Field reports indicate the well is doing about fifty barrels daily with a cut of 30 per cent, while the gravity is only 13 deg. The hole was drilled to 5240 feet, but was plugged back to 3561 feet for a production test.

The Barnsdall Oil Company is preparing to spud in another well on the Flat. It is Hazelton No. 3 on Sec. 17, 11-23. The company's first two wells came in with a total production of 5000 barrels daily.

Blanck & Heasley are making a comparatively shallow test on the flat. Their one well on Sec. 8, 11-23, is being swabbed to agitate production. The hole is down 2250 feet, with the casing set at 2220 feet.

The Doyle-Clune Oil Company is running casing in its well on Sec. 8, 11-23. Top of the brown shale was struck at 3647 feet—considerably deeper than is ordinarily the case in this area.

The Doyle Petroleum Company is nearing production in two of its wells on Sec. 8, 11-23, where the company already has several hundred barrels of daily production.

Operations in Kern Oil Area Slacken Pace

BAKERSFIELD, March 23. (Exclusive)—New development work in Kern county fields dropped off considerably during the week, compared to activities of the past few months.

Only two wells were started in Kern county last week. They are Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company No. 62, on Sec. 8, 32-24, Midway; and General Petroleum Corporation's Glide No. 5 on Sec. 21, 27-28, Poso Creek.

Tests for water shut-off were Wellington Oil Company's No. 2, on Sec. 8, 11-23, Maricopa Flat; and Union Oil Company's Gibson No. 5 on Sec. 36, 27-20, Belridge.

The Pan-American Petroleum Company began deepening and redrilling three wells in the Elk Hills on Sec. 1, 31-24. They are No. 2-E, No. 6-D and No. 10-D. The Standard Oil Company is deepening its No. 225 well on Sec. 31, 12-23 in the Sunset field.

New Fellows Well Rigs Up

FELLOWS, March 23. (Exclusive) The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company is rigging up its No. 9 well on Sec. 8, 32-23, near Fellows. On the same section the Republic Petroleum Corporation is working on one and has another under way on Sec. 7, 32-23.

Republic's Fee No. 35 well is being cleaned out. Bottom is at 3130 feet, with casing cemented at 2835 feet. The company's Fee No. 37 on Sec. 7 is down more than 1600 feet and steadily going ahead.

CROOKED-WELL DRILLING STUDIED

Costly Problem of Oil Industry Gets Laboratory Attention

Comparative Sizes of Drilling Bits Shown

Union Oil Company Engineer Grinnell holding toy fishtail used in laboratory experiment. Baby derrick erected for purpose of studying drift from vertical.

THE oil industry finally decided to do something about the Los Angeles basin, familiarly known among operators as the home of the crooked hole. After drillings in this region which have deviated from the vertical as much as 2600 feet in a total of 6000 feet, the problem is to be taken to the laboratory.

It has been fairly well established by use of the acid bottle and several other surveying devices, that a large percentage of oil wells are crooked and that the drift arising from many causes, is chiefly due to bearing down on the drill pipe in an effort to make hole more rapidly. Speed in town-lot drilling has caused hundreds of crooked holes.

Finally, the Union Oil Company decided to study the problem at close range, so it built a miniature derrick, twenty feet high, on the Hellman lease at Dominguez, and started operating a rig known as Dominguez No. 16. This rig was all cut down to "toy" size. It drilled with a two-inch fishtail bit instead of using a twenty-four or eighteen-inch bit to start.

TYPE OF EQUIPMENT

The rotary table, Kelly-bar, drill pipe, drill collars and bits used were of toy proportions. In conducting the tests, drilling blocks thirty inches high were built with different earthen materials, mixed with cement, to produce specimens of different texture, varying degrees of hardness, interbedded with hard shells, boulders, etc., in order to reproduce formations similar to those encountered in actual drilling. These formations were tipped at various angles to make it possible to study at first-hand the effect of the pitch of the formations on the drill.

Each block was numbered and its general formational composition noted in a log book. The definite test to be conducted on each block was determined in advance and the block drilled according to instructions. When the block had been drilled it was sawed in two, so the hole could be examined and the effect of the speed of rotation and weight on the drill during the various stages noted.

RECOMMENDATIONS MADE

From these drilling tests and observations in the field Frank F. Hill, manager of field operations for Union, says the following recommendations for better drilling have been made:

(1.) Do not permit drill pipe to buckle in hole under too much weight. It can produce a bad hole and cause unnecessary fishing.

(2.) Use only reasonable amount of weight on bit and feed regularly —or under uniform pressure.

(3.) Use long drill collar, the nearest diameter to the size of the hole being drilled, leaving only such clearance as required for fishing, this will keep hole in alignment.

(4.) Drill the formation clean with as fast rotation as conditions will permit and do not try to bore as with an auger.

(5.) Keep up good pump pressure and sufficient volume to wash the hole clean of cuttings.

(6.) Keep bits sharp, use the best wear resisting materials for cutting edges. Dress drilling bits and core bits true to gauge so they will rotate concentrically with drill pipe axis, maintaining sufficient clearance above cutting surface of bit to permit bit to work back to vertical if it has been forced off by some minor obstruction. The natural tendency is for drill pipe to hang vertically in the hole.

(7.) Where reducing hole or piloting ahead with small tool, a good precaution is to center the new hole by rotating a diamond point bit for a short distance or use a guide pilot bit for starting off.

STRIDES IN YEAR

"Great strides have been made during the past year," says Mr. Hill, "and I believe that crooked holes soon are going to be a thing of the past, because there are enough instruments available now and enough knowledge of drilling technique to overcome this difficulty. There is no reason to doubt that another year will see as great additional improvement in drilling as we have witnessed in the past year.

"Our investigations lead to the conclusion, and we feel that it is generally the opinion of others who have made a careful analysis of drilling conditions, that the one greatest contributing factor in badhole making is the attempt to force drilling beyond reasonable limits by applying too much weight to the bit or riding a dull bit with excessive weight. This causes buckling of the drill pipe at the point of least resistance, usually just above the most rigid member in the drill stem column, nearest the bottom, which is the drill collar immediately above the bit. The shorter the drill collar, and the smaller the drill stem in relation to the well diameter, the more acute the angle of deviation can become."

CINNABAR PROPERTY IMPROVES

Strike in Montgomery Declared Richest Yet for Nevada Company

LOVELOCK (Nev.) March 24. (Exclusive)—The Nevada Quicksilver Company reports that the new ore body in the Montgomery area shows a width of six to seven feet of excellent mill ore, with three to four inches sampling around $1000 per ton, in mercury. The strike is the richest ever made on the Montgomery claims, and is said to compare favorably with historic quicksilver discoveries in California and Spain.

The find was made in the No. 4 raise from the main tunnel, about 400 feet east of the main workings. Heavy production continues from the main Nevada Quicksilver workings.

President John G. Clark of the Tungsten Production Company states that the mill at the Nightingale tungsten mines, forty-nine miles southeast of Lovelock, will be placed in operation about April 1. A 220-horsepower Diesel engine and large rock crusher have been added to the equipment. A large tonnage of commercial ore is reported blocked out.

The Nevada-Mexico Mining Corporation is exploring or developing five properties in Nevada, besides operating mines at Jalisco, Mex. Properties worked in this State include holdings at Beowawe, Mill Canyon, Tenabo, Lee Canyon and Swale Mountain. Products mined by the corporation include gold, quicksilver, lead, silver, zinc and diatomaceous earths. Detroit, Philadelphia and Los Angeles people are understood to be chiefly interested in the corporation.

RICH ORE IN TOMBSTONE EXTENSION

Discovery Reported at 130-Foot Level Running High in Values

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) March 23. (Exclusive)—Much importance locally is attached to developments on the Tombstone Extension property, two miles south of this point on the Bisbee highway. At depth of 130 feet was cut an ore body that samples 20 per cent in lead, as well as high in silver, with some gold and copper.

Several carloads have been shipped to a Douglas smelter and the supply is said to be ample to assure regular shipments for months to come. The shaft has been deepened and it and two drifts are reported in ore. Ownership mainly is in C. M. and H. H. D'Autremont of Tucson and W. E. Holt and W. H. Hasselgren of Tombstone. The mine was worked forty years ago but has been untouched since then until recently.

H. O. Hammond and E. J. Ewing of Tucson have secured the Giscoma lease on the old Emerald mine of the Phelps Dodge holdings and state they will do much development work and possibly install a mill. The Emerald, near the water level, showed strong indications of rich copper, but the whole district would have to be unwatered to prove the theory.

OPERATIONS AT CANANEA MINE TOLD

Company Working Upper Levels of La Colorada Mexico Property

CANANEA (Son.) March 23. (Exclusive)—Cananea Consolidated is reported to be taking only upper-level and medium-grade ores for smelting for its La Colorada mine, leaving the deeper high-grade for the future.

Some of the ore is declared to be almost pure bornite, running around half metal in volume, but the stuff going to the furnaces samples around 15 per cent. Lower grades go to the concentrator. Operations are on a five-day basis with production approximating 3,500,000 pounds a month.

Operations are reported suspended on the Santa Barbara property of the Butte-Cananea Mining Company, due to the low metal market. The mine has had much development and prospecting work upon it in the past year.

OLD M'CRACKEN PROPERTY SOLD

Pioneer Mohave Mine Again in New Ownership

West Coast Holding Company the Purchaser

Resumption of Operations to Start by June 1

KINGMAN (Ariz.) March 23. (Exclusive)—The famous old McCracken mine, in the southern part of Mohave county, a property with a marvelous pioneer record, yet with several more recent failures, again has changed hands. It has been sold to the West Coast Holding Company, through E. Ross Householder of this city, and will be in charge of George A. Camphius, mining engineer, with work to be resumed not later than June 1.

After a production record of $4,000,000 in silver-lead ores, there is declaration that recent explorations have shown the presence of immense bodies of rebellious low-grade material, that may need development of a process different from the usual milling. Several mills have been built on the property, the latest only a few years ago. Water has been a problem in the past, pumped from the remote Santa Maria River, against a 1500-foot head.

The Stoody Corporation, a California concern, is behind the Borisana Mining Company, which is blocking very remarkable tungsten ore on its property. A tunnel, now 1670 feet long, is expected to reach its vein objective within 300 feet more, at about 300 feet below old workings. L. B. Rece is in local charge.

At Scanlon Spring, on the Colorado River, is a small mill, operated by Smith Brothers and Ray Brundage on ores from the Old Childers property, eleven miles back in the hills. It is told that an eight-foot vein has stringers sampling $125 a ton in gold. A recent clean-up resulted in a small gold bar, brought here for shipment.

MINE PLANT ADDITION IN LAST STAGE

Enlargement of Bagdad Mill to 200 Tons Daily Near Completion

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) March 23. (Exclusive)—The Southwestern Engineering Corporation is nearing completion of a contract for enlargement, from fifty to 200 tons daily capacity, of the mill of the Bagdad Copper Company, southwest of this city.

The original plant was considered merely for experimentation in flotation processes that might be used on the ores. Hereafter it is expected the mill will take care of all ore extracted in the course of rather extensive development work, till there shall be installation of a great reduction plant on which may be expended as much as $7,000,000.

This is to include several parallel processes, with especial attention to electrical deposition of the copper, to save transportation of concentrates to a smelter elsewhere. It is declared that there has been development already of 40,000,000 tons of sulphide ores and of three times that quantity of carbonates and oxides, with a copper average of 1 1-4 per cent.

A new working shaft is being sunk, ore bins are being built and, on a 2000-acre tract two miles southwest of the works, is being laid out a very modern sort of townsite. George G. Thomas is general manager of the enterprise. Surveys have been completed for location of a broad-gauge railroad from Hillside station on the Santa Fe's Phoenix branch, the route over a rather difficult country.

South Jackson Mine to Renew Activity Soon

H. E. Woolrich, president of the Moore Mining Company, accompanied by L. E. Snider, left Los Angeles this week to resume operations in the South Jackson mine at Jackson, in the Mother Lode district. This property is situated about one mile south of the well-known Kennedy and Argonaut mines that have been steadily producing gold ores for the past sixty years, and have a reported production record of $40,000,000 in gold to date.

According to company reports it is planned to commence ore extraction from the 345-foot level. A crew is to be put to work overhauling the 100-ton stamp mill as it is contemplated to resume milling within thirty days. A large tonnage of good milling grade ore has been developed on the third level similar in character to that mined in the Kennedy and Argonaut mines and characteristic of the Mother Lode area.

New Kern Area Test on Slate

TAFT, March 23. (Exclusive)—The Hart Oil Company of San Francisco has entered a new wildcat territory in Kern county. Location has been selected on Sec. 20, 31-24, 300 feet south and 600 feet east on the west quarter of the section.

The location is about halfway between the Buena Vista Hills and Elk Hills producing territories and is approximately a half-mile from the nearest production.

OHIO MINING IN EXPANSION STEP

Orlean Mine of Hornsilver District Acquired

Important Find Reported on Gold Gulch Estate

Victory Divide and Goldfield Company in Pact

TONOPAH (Nev.) March 24. (Exclusive)—The Ohio Mines Company, operating the Townsite properties in the Hornsilver district, has announced plans to take over the adjoining Orlean mine. This property has produced a large amount of good ore, and recently emerged from a long period of litigation. Large ledges of milling ore, chiefly valuable for gold content, are said to be in sight. On the Townsite group the main shaft is down 400 feet, with strong veins of commercial ore said to be exposed.

An important strike at the property of the Gold Gulch Mining & Milling Company, located in the Marietta district, is reported by D. A. Whitaker, manager. At a depth of 100 feet an eight-foot ledge has been opened, with high mill values said to be disclosed in silver, gold and lead. The management asserts that the 70-ton mill will probably go into commission shortly. The company is the successor of the London Silver Lead Company.

The reorganized Victory Divide and Goldfield Development companies have announced that they will join resources in development of a promising copper deposit, located about eight miles from Furnace Creek, Inyo county, Cal. The ledge is said to average around seventy-five feet wide at surface, and tunnels will be extended to prospect for the sulphide zone.

The silver-lead ore body struck recently in the Santa Rosa mine, near Keeler, Cal., has widened to nine feet, with wide shoots sampling 60 per cent lead and several hundred ounces of silver, according to advices reaching Tonopah. The Santa Rosa is controlled by the West End Consolidated, one of Tonopah's oldest producers. President Fred Ninnis states finances have been raised for further work on the West End mine and outside properties, with the future decidedly promising.

The Nevada Massachusetts Company, placed the new seventy-five ton mill in commission last week at its Silver Dyke-Wagner tungsten mines, near Sodaville. A large tonnage of excellent ore is reported blocked out.

New Method of Prospecting to be Discussed

Members of the Southern California chapter of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers will have the pleasure tomorrow evening of listening to a discussion of geophysical methods of prospecting for minerals by Hans Lundberg, field manager for the Swedish-American Prospecting Corporation of New York City.

The meeting will be held at the Windsor Tearoom at 6:15 p.m. Robert L. Boyd, delegate from the local chapter to the recent convention of the Institute in New York, will give a brief review of the convention.

Mr. Lundberg is to illustrate with lantern slides and motion pictures the methods employed in locating various kinds of mineral deposits by the application of electrical principles. It has been demonstrated, according to eminent engineers, that certain kinds of minerals, even in the ground, are conductors of electricity, and some important deposits are said to have been discovered by their reaction to electrical vibrations.

WALKER MINING TO PAY INITIAL

Plumas Copper Estate Will Disburse $131,250

First Dividend Per Share to be at 7 1-2 Cents Rate

Empire Star Leases More of Old Mine Workings

SACRAMENTO, March 24. (Exclusive)—The Walker Mining Company, working an extensive group of copper producers at Spring Garden in Plumas county, announces that its first dividend, at the rate of 7½ cents per share, will be paid to stockholders of record April 25. The corporation is producing 1,200,000 pounds of copper monthly, and reports that an immense tonnage of commercial ore is blocked out.

The amount distributed in the first dividend will be $131,250. The management declares it is the intention of the corporation to pay dividends quarterly, but that the rate will not be increased until a substantial cash reserve has been established. The company started work twenty years ago as a subsidiary of the International Smelting Company, controlled by the Anaconda Copper Company.

The Empire-Star Mines Company has granted more leases in old areas of the historic North Star mine at Grass Valley, and has leased the old Massachusets Hill mine dump. Ore from the various leases will be treated at the old North Star mill.

Discovery of specimen gold ore on the 1500-foot level of the Empire mine was reported last week. The shoot was found in territory virtually abandoned for fifty years, and is said to show several inches of high grade, with an important vein indicated. Building of an aerial tramline from the North Star mine to the Empire mill is proceeding rapidly, and will go into commission within sixty days.

Manager C. R. Murdock of the Carrie Mining Company reports that a pilot mill is to be erected shortly at the Carrie mine, in Amador county. Production will be maintained in a small way while the shaft is being deepened and extensive lateral developments pressed. A six-foot vein of good mill ore recently was opened near the shaft, and is said to be showing consistent improvement.

REVIVAL OF NOTED MINE ON DOCKET

Diamond Drilling Work on Old Vulture Estate at Wickenburg Pushed

WICKENBURG (Ariz.) March 23. (Exclusive)—Diamond drilling is being pushed on the noted old Vultige mine, under the management of D. A. Finlayson, with hope of picking up the faulted ledge, which in pioneer days produced millions in gold.

Interest in the district has been stimulated by the recent discovery of high-grade on the Gardner property, a few miles distant. Development on this mine is proceeding, with construction to it of a road from the Vulture highway.

Keen disappointment is expressed over the closing down of the Tonopah Belmont property, twenty-eight miles southwest of this point. That the stoppage may be considered permanent is indicated by advertisement for sale of the company's mechanical equipment, with inclusion of the mill, hoists, power plant, pumps, buildings, etc. It is reported that the vein was found seriously faulted at depth, a condition that had been known before, but had been picked up.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Free Gold Absent

LAS VEGAS (Nev.) March 3.—Question: I am an amateur prospector and I found this cropping of samples. The red rock is the cropping on surface and the dark samples are from three-foot depth. Would like to know what the specimens contain. T.

Answer: The red and yellowish specimens are mixtures of hematite (iron peroxide) with yellowish-brown limonite (hydrous iron peroxide,) manganese in low percentage, some clay and silica. The remaining samples are of clay and limonite. All of the samples tested together gave slight zinc reactions and, as surface ores, the prospect looks encouraging for more or less gold.

Hornblende

SANTA MONICA, March 3.—Q.: I found these samples about twelve miles north of Phelan, Cal., right near the surface. As I am not familiar with the various minerals I would appreciate a general analysis of each specimen. B.

A.: No. 1 is partly hornblende schist and is part of a boulder; titaniferous iron in flakes sparingly present, with more or less pyroxene. No. 2 is a mixture of silica and is hornblendic rock. No. 3 is typical hornblende; it is also known as "fake platinum ore."

Two Samples

PASADENA, March 4.—Q.: Try sample No. 1 for mica-lithia or potash and No. 2 for gold, silver or other precious metal. Y.

A.: No. 1 carries potash mica, but it is not water soluble. Lithium absent. No fire assays made. No. 2 is altered rock, containing microscopic mica (potash mica,) some micaceous iron ore and microscopical pyrite traces. Native gold absent.

Three Samples

OLIVE VIEW LABOR CAMP, March 4.—Q.: Inclosed you will find three samples of ore taken from the mountains near Olive View, Cal. Please analyze the specimens and oblige. S.

A.: Sample No. 1 is lime carbonate carrying traces of micaceous iron and microscopic molybdenite. No. 2 is part of a lime carbonate boulder and not tested for strontium. No. 3 is a thumb-specimen of dolomite containing traces of hematite, and traces of microscopical molybdenite.

Four Samples

VICTORVILLE, March 5.—Q.: Am sending four specimens for classification by your In the Earth department. Would like to know if there is any vanadium, uranium or bismuth present. S.

A.: Sample No. 1 is ferruginous quarts containing traces of pyrite, traces of chalcedony (also quartz,) traces of chalcopyrite, (iron-copper sulphide) and limonite, (hydrous iron peroxide.) No. 3 is quartzitic rock carrying iron oxides, copper traces, traces of pyrite, and it runs low in zinc percentage. No. 4 is quarts; it carries more or less lead, zinc, iron and copper.

Base-Metal Ore

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—Q.: Will you kindly classify and give qualitative analysis of the inclosed sample from Kern county, Cal. Also its probable mineral contents. B.

A.: It reacts for arsenopyrite, pyrite, and blende (zinc sulphide:) For gold and silver values please consult assayers.

Slaty Clays

PARKER (Ariz.) March 6.—Q.: I am sending you two more samples of rock from San Bernardino county close to the Colorado River. Sample No. 2 is at the base of sample No. 1. Please analyze the same. Could specimen No. 1 be used as a greenish magnesium ore for the new magnesium metal industry, or any other industrial use? X.

A.: The white sample No. 1 carries a rather low percentage of magnesium with lime carbonate, silica and magnesium silicate. The brownish-gray No. 2 specimen reacts for hydrous manganese and magnesium silicate, both in low percentages; lime carbonate present with more or less silica and iron. Rather doubtful regarding uses by you suggested.

Three Samples

ROSCOE, March 7.—Q.: Does sample No. 1 carry any gold or any other substance worth while? It is from a small ledge eight inches wide, and the locality is near Newhall. No. 2 looks like oil shale—is it? It comes from the same locality and also from a narrow ledge; it comes up at an angle of approximately 75 deg., and located not far from some oil wells. No. 3 was taken near Mojave—what is it? Does it carry any gold?

M. P. L.

A.: No. 1 reacts for a low percentage of manganese; iron is present, and it is a conglomerate rock. No. 2 is far removed from oil shale; it is quartzitic rock carrying traces of white-iron pyrite, (marcasite) and pyrite, (iron disulphides.) Some of the pyritiferous matter is altered, and similar rock might give low values in gold by fire assays. No. 3 is a mixture of rotten iron shale with altered pyroxene, and carries some iron sulphite with sulphur anhydride. Further on this by quantitative analysis.

Six Samples

LOS ANGELES, March 8.—Q.: Please analyze the six samples and oblige. W. C. B.

A.: Correspondents are once more politely informed that letters are necessary in order to receive answers through this column. The mere wrapping of samples in pieces of paper, numbering them, and making use of short-hand messages are not in compliance with the requirements set forth at the head of this column for satisfactory tests.

Two of your samples were not numbered. One of such packages described contains two specimens. The large one is partly honeycomb quartz, with iron silicate and iron oxides. The smaller rock is low grade jasper and both samples carry traces of copper. The milk-white quartzitic rock, numbered 2, contains limonite, altered pyrite, and low-grade tourmaline, known as schorl. Nos. 3, 4 and 5 were very loosely wrapped and probably No. 3 (greenish) with streaks of limonite in center, contains hornblende. No. 4 marked "copper rock" carries, approximately 2 per cent copper, with iron oxides and quartz. The probable No. 5 sample is of quartz, hornblende and iron silicate. All of the samples were tested together for free gold—with negative results.

Two Specimens

PASADENA, March 8.—Q.: I am sending to you direct by express two samples of ore from the same ledge. One of the samples is massive, and the other granular—just as it comes from the ledge. I mark this No. 1, and the massive one No. 2. Will you kindly give me analysis of both samples. The specimens occur in, and are from, San Bernardino county, near the Ord Mountains. J.

A.: The massive sample seems to be Diorite (greenstone in part.) It is a very tough rock. It carries, approximately, 50 per cent silica, 8 per cent iron oxide, 6 per cent magnesia, and probably represents but little commercial value. The earthy matter, and the pieces of rock mixed with it, is a mixture; it carries some sulphur and iron sulphate, aluminum silicate, altered pyroxene and no free gold.

Free Gold Present

ARTESIA, March 9.—Q.: Please analyze the two samples of sand and give me a report thereon through column In the Earth. Both samples are from Little Horse Thief Canyon. G. P.

A.: No. 1 carries approximately 40 per cent magnetite. Hornblende, hematite (massive and micaceous varieties) present. Ilmenite, microscopic pyrite, quartz, and seven small colors of native gold found. No. 2 carries a higher percentage of magnetite, with all of the named minerals as found in No. 1. Microscopic pyrite traces, and free gold a trace. Flake platinum is absent from both samples.

OLD BIG JIM REVIVAL PENDS

OATMAN (Ariz.) March 23. (Exclusive)—A. G. Keating and the old Big Jim corporation are back in Oatman, with possession of their old property from the United Eastern organization. John Henderson, who was in charge of operations at the time the famous Big Jim ore body was struck, has been named as the superintendent.

The main shaft, from which about $4,000,000 was hoisted from a maximum depth of 650 feet, is to be deepened materially, to permit exploration on a new working level, probably at 1000 feet. New interest has attached to the vein, which runs to a Tom Reed connection, ever since the new ore was developed at about 1000 feet depth in the latter property, while in a second Reed property ore has been found down to 1400 feet. Work has been started on rehabilitating and retimbering the shaft, which was badly damaged by fire five years ago.

The Goldroad mill is working about 350 tons a day of tailing slimes that sample $2.73 a ton, and is reported to be securing satisfactory results in cyanide precipitation. It is proposed to mix the material with ore from the Line Road tunnel, where a winze has been sunk in $20 rock.

United American's north crosscut on the 1100 level now is in 360 feet, with about 130 feet to be run to a connection with the Tom Reed vein.

Project Again on Production at Fruitvale

FRUITVALE, March 23. (Exclusive)—Producing 120 barrels daily, the Brackenbury No. 1 well of Shell Oil Company is back on production after having sanded up.

Brackenbury No. 1 is located on Sec. 27, 29-27. Bottom of the well is at 4040 feet. The well was brought in several months ago at a level several hundred feet above the present depth.

Shell has several other drilling jobs in the vicinity.

The Mohawk Oil Company has drilled out the cement plug in its No. 7 well on Sec. 27, 29-27, in this field. Bottom of the hole is at 3730 feet and production is expected at 4100 feet. This concern is getting about 1000 barrels daily from its six pumping wells on the same lease.

RETAIL STORES NET EARNINGS DECREASE

(Exclusive)—Consolidated Retail Stores, Inc., have reported for the year ended December 31, last, net income of $579,279 after amortization, depreciation and Federal taxes, equal after preferred dividends to $1.45 a share on 298,432 common shares, as against $933,252, or $2.72 a share on 287,906 common shares in 1928.

Ticker Tales Heard in Wall Street Rounds

NEW YORK, March 23. (Exclusive)—Although the Fox tangle has not as yet been settled the forward movement in Warner Brothers Pictures continues. It is understood that the holdings of the Wilmington people who accounted in a large measure for the advance in the stock are still intact. Record-breaking earnings appear to be in the making for Warner Brothers, and a realization of the business being done by the company has attracted many followers to the stock.

Many prominent operators have taken a long position in United States Steel. On the premier industrial issue M. J. Meehan & Co. have this to say: "It now looks as if a stock split is entirely unlikely at present, but we do not see how with this great earning power and enormous financial strength the directors can continue to keep dividends down to a $7 level and for this reason believe that there will be recognition of the rights of stockholders either by increased cash disbursement or stock dividends before very long.

Current strength in Packard Motors is accompanied by reports that the company will exhibit models at the Daytona races, all equipped with the much-heard-of Diesel engine. Should these reports be correct another important forward step will have been taken by Packard. Great things are expected from the use of the Packard Diesel engine in the aviation industry and in time to come this should prove a satisfactory source of income.

Earnings of Loew's, Inc., in the second charter of its current fiscal year, ended around the 4th inst., are understood to have displayed a material increase over those in same period a year ago. In sixteen weeks ended March 10, 1929, net income was $3,149,925. It is likely that net profits for twenty-eight weeks, ended around the the 14th inst., comprising first the half of the current fiscal term, will aggregate around $7,500,000. Such earnings would be equal after preferred dividends to more than $5 a share on 1,383,993 common shares. In the corresponding period a year ago the net income was $5,251,958 after all charges, equal after preferred dividends to $3.50 a share on 1,355,139 common shares then outstanding.

Bottom is at 3512 feet with the casing set to 3474 feet.

The Standard Oil Company is credited with completion of its Fee No. 9-K which is doing 100 barrels of 22-deg. gravity oil daily. The well is on Sec. 9, 11-23. Bottom is at 3659 feet with casing set at 3631 feet.

AFRICA COPPER FEARS FLOUTED

Competition of Mines With America's Remote

Douglas Official Back from Surveying Field

Says Labor Conditions Most Serious Handicap

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) March 23. (Exclusive)—That Africa will not for many years, and possibly never, be a serious competitor of Arizona in the copper market, is declared by S. P. Applewhite of this city, an executive of the J. S. Douglas corporations.

He has just returned from an interesting African trip, in which he was afforded an excellent opportunity for study of a number of copper mines. Most important of all he considers the labor condition, with a native hardly worth a twentieth of an American mining operative.

The African wage is from $2.50 to $7.50 a month, but the miner's food, housing and medical care cost about $1 a day additional. There must be railroad transportation to the east coast of Africa, 1500 miles, and then the long water carriage to European ports. The heat also forms a barrier to use of white labor. The fuel used is coal, which costs more than $10 a ton at the mine.

Mr. Applewhite especially was interested in the Roan Antelope property, in which a share was held by the United Verde Extension, a J. S. Douglas corporation.

THE FIRST OF BOSTON CORPORATION, NEW YORK, Paying Agent
HARRIS FORBES TRUST COMPANY, BOSTON, Authenticating Agent

The following information (transmitted by cable) is furnished by Señor Francisco Ratto, Minister of Finance of the Province:

Province of Buenos Aires The Province of Buenos Aires is the most important province of the Argentine Republic and ranks first in area, in population and in railroad mileage, as well as in industrial, agricultural and commercial development. The area of the Province (117,700 square miles) is greater than the combined areas of the New England States and the State of New York. The population exceeds 3,600,000, being more than one-fourth of the entire population of Argentina. A separate Federal District (analogous to the District of Columbia, U. S. A.) containing the city of Buenos Aires, capital of the Argentine Republic, adjoins the Province and, with its population of more than 2,000,000, provides a permanent and important market for the food and other products of the Province.

Authority and Purpose of Issue The issuance of these bonds is authorized by Law 3941 of November 2, 1927 enacted by the Legislature of the Province. The proceeds will be used to provide school houses and other public buildings in various parts of the Province and to redeem $4,000,000 of short-term obligations of the Province issued to provide funds for like purposes. Under contracts already entered into by the Province, 110 school houses have been completed or are nearing completion and plans have been prepared for 223 additional school buildings. This new construction will result in a substantial saving through the release of rented buildings.

Security These bonds are the direct obligation of the Province of Buenos Aires which pledges its full faith and credit for the due and punctual payment of principal, interest and sinking fund. In addition, Law 3941 authorizing these bonds appropriates, as subject to specific charge and lien for the exclusive benefit of the bonds issuable thereunder, an annual amount out of the revenues of the Inheritance Tax calculated to exceed the maximum annual requirement for interest and sinking fund on such bonds.

After deducting annual prior charges from the Inheritance Tax receipts for 1929, the remainder is equivalent to more than 5¾ times annual service charges on this issue and more than 3¾ times annual service charges on the total amount of bonds authorized under Law 3941 including bonds not yet issued—calculated at current rates of exchange. Such remainder is equivalent to more than 7 times annual service charges on this issue at par of exchange.

Finances The revenues of the Province continue to reflect the constant improvement in its financial status that has been manifest for the last four years. For the fiscal year 1927 the revenues collected amounted to $48,995,000; for 1928 to $54,581,000, and for 1929 to $57,750,000. The fiscal year 1927 showed a deficit of $1,993,000. The fiscal year 1928 closed with a surplus of $443,000, and the fiscal year 1929 with a surplus of $224,000.

For over 30 years, with the exception of two years during the World War, the Province has never failed to provide funds for the interest payments on its external debt. The Province funded the 1915 and 1916 interest payments at the time and sinking fund payments were resumed in 1919 and 1920.

The total funded indebtedness of the Province, including this issue, amounts to $268,340,000 and the assessed value of privately owned real estate is in excess of $5,000,000,000.

All conversions of Argentine pesos into United States currency have been made at par of exchange, namely 42.45 cents per paper peso. The current rate of exchange (as of March 19, 1930) is approximately 37.75 cents per paper peso. The Caja de Conversion (Argentine Currency Conversion Office) was closed continuously from August 1914 until August 1927, when it was reopened. It was again closed on December 16, 1929. The total amount of gold held by the Caja de Conversion exceeds, however, $427,690,000 (as of March 19, 1930) representing a reserve of over 77% of the currency in circulation, which gives Argentine currency one of the highest gold reserves in the world. In addition, there is on deposit abroad to the order of Argentine embassies and legations an amount of gold equal to more than $11,000,000 and against such deposits there have been issued in Argentina approximately 26,000,000 paper pesos (not included in the foregoing calculation) with respect to which the gold reserve is accordingly 100%.

Application will be made to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange

These bonds are offered, when, as and if issued and accepted by us and subject to the approval of counsel, Messrs. Sullivan & Cromwell of New York, who as to questions of Argentine law will consult with Dr. Benjamin Garcia Victorica, Buenos Aires. We reserve the right to reject subscriptions in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount applied for and to close the subscription books at any time without notice. Temporary Bonds or Interim Receipts deliverable in the first instance at the office of The First of Boston Corporation, 100 Broadway, New York.

Oranges Bring Equal Returns

Members of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange received almost identically the same return for slightly more than 4,000,000 boxes of navel oranges sold this season as for about 6,250,000 boxes last year, Dana C. King, orange sales manager of the exchange, announces.

"With every indication pointing to a continuance of the present strong situation in the orange market, growers are in the best position they have occupied for some time," he said. "The average size of navel oranges continues to increase with the increase last month more than one-half size. The advance in prices has been due largely to the acceptance by the public of these sizes and the fine eating quality of the fruit."

COTTON-SEEDING PLANS ADVANCE

Conditions in Central Belt Best for Years

MEMPHIS, March 23. (Exclusive) Spring preparations for the coming cotton crop are further advanced in this section of the belt than for several seasons. Practically all of the soil has been plowed and much of it has already been put into shape for seed beds, awaiting planting time which will open early in April. There seems to be an ample seed supply, plenty of fertilizer and labor and hence, with weather permitting, the crop will get off to a good start.

While acreage reduction indications in the Mississippi Valley are not so pronounced, word comes from Northern Alabama that drastic cuts are in prospect in many counties. In Madison county, the biggest producer in the State, where more than 50,000 bales were grown last season, bankers are making "gentlemen's agreements" with the larger planters to reduce cotton acreage considerably before funds are advanced for the crop.

Sales of fertilizer in Madison county are smaller than last season, except with the County Farm Bureau. From this region, too, comes the first real complaint of damage to seed from cold weather of November and December, which found much of the cotton left in the fields. Most of the earlier seed was sold, the farmers depending on late pickings largely for the seed for the next year's crop.

Similar conditions exist around Muscle Shoals and at Millport, private advices say.

All through Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee general dissatisfaction is expressed by farmers over current cotton prices and these may exert the most powerful influence of all in acreage reduction.

The spot market at Memphis remained quiet, with the factors' unsold stock practically stationary at 53,000 bales, out of a total stock on hand of 373,000 bales. The total stock declined 7000 bales for the week, but is still 150,000 more than at this time last season.

Inquiry has been a little more active since the market has shown more stability, but actual buying has been comparatively small. Total sales for last week were 10,000 bales, including 2035 bales of actual spot turnover. Total receipts were 26,200 bales, which is 15,000 bales less than the same week last year. Total shipments to market were 33,300 bales, some 8000 less than at this time last season.

PERISHABLE SHIPMENTS TRAVEL FAR

Pacific Coast Leads in Long Hauls and Amount of Fruit Shipped

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23. (Exclusive)—Pacific Coast shipments of perishables, including fruits, vegetables and flowers, not only constitute the largest share of the perishable shipments of the United States, but travel the longest distances to reach markets.

Figures released by William C. Fitch, member of the perishable freight service of the Southern Pacific, show that California alone originated 299,558 carloads of perishables, or 28 per cent of the total loadings in the United States last year. Refrigerator-car service is responsible for the huge bulk shipments and the fact that long distances are covered to reach the markets. The Pacific Fruit Express, with 40,000 cars, owned jointly by the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific, is the main service for California.

Of the fresh fruit and vegetable shipments from this State, 15 per cent traveled less than 1000 miles; 23 per cent between 1000 and 2000 miles, and 35 per cent 2000 to 3000 miles before reaching the consumer. California products go to sixty-five principal market centers.

AMERICAN WOMAN IN LONDON JAIL

Fraud Suspect Asserts She is Daughter of Late Millionaire Packman

LONDON, March 23. (Exclusive) Asserting she is the daughter of an American millionaire, Mrs. Grace Agnes Stewart Andrews, 50 years of age, was charged today in Westminster Police Court with attempting to obtain a gold cigarette case valued at $175 under false pretenses. After a confused explanation of the affair she was remanded to custody.

According to the testimony of a clerk in a jewelry store Mrs. Andrews presented herself as Mrs. Paul E. Derrick, wife of the president of the American Society of England. The clerk telephoned Mrs. Derrick, however, who stated that she had not authorized any other woman to order the case in her name. Mrs. Andrews then broke down, declaring, "Nothing but a state of abject terror for the welfare of my little sick mother could have made me contemplate doing a dishonest thing."

She says she is the daughter of the late Edgar Packman, American millionaire, who, however, left her little when he died.

AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

NEW EUROPEAN LINK PROPOSED

I.M.M. Planning Passenger and Freight Venture

Project Awaits Award of Ocean Mail Contract

Admiral Liner Collides With Main Channel Beacon

BY WALDO DRAKE

Complete plans for operation of an American-flag express passenger and freight service out of Pacific ports to the United Kingdom and North Europe have been laid before the Post Office Department by P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Marine Company. Mr. Franklin proposes, according to official statement by the Post Office Department, to maintain a four-ship, twenty-one-day schedule in competition with fourteen foreign lines; being prepared to build at once three eighteen-knot turbo-electric liners and using as the fourth ship the Atlantic Transport liner Minnekahda.

Inauguration of the service awaits only award of an ocean mail contract, according to the announcement. The new service would run from Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles Harbor via Panama to London, Le Havre or Dunkirk and Antwerp.

FRUIT CARRIERS

The new ships, to make the run to Europe in twenty days, are to be equipped with about 100,000 cubic feet of refrigerated cargo space for carrying Northwest and California fruits to Europe and for carrying Central American bananas homeward. They also would have accommodations for approximately 200 passengers.

Kirkwood H. Donavin, Pacific Coast operating manager of I.M.M. is now in New York for a series of conferences with Mr. Franklin. It is believed Mr. Donavin's unannounced New York trip is for the joint purpose of discussing both the European-Pacific situation as well as I.M.M.'s plans for building its fourth, fifth and sixth electric liners for the Panama-Pacific Line intercoastal service. The new vessels are all expected to be built at the plant of the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company.

OTHER FACTORS

Two other important factors have recently entered the European-Pacific situation. Kenneth D. Dawson, youthful shipping wizard of Portland, who has announced that he and his New York associates plan a Pacific-Europe service, is now on a protracted visit to New York and Washington with W. H. Poett, President of Williams, Dimond & Co. Consolidation of resources of the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd fleets, just announced, is expected to result in combination of their now-competitive European-Pacific fleets into a single twelve-ship service, operating on a weekly frequency. This powerful foreign-flag combination, with which the Dawson interests would gain friendly association through Williams, Dimond & Co., would exert great influence on the European-Pacific situation.

HARBOR MISHAP CAUSED BY FOG

An early morning fog which enveloped the outer harbor yesterday caused the outward-bound Admiral Line passenger steamer Admiral Sebree to ram and carry from its main channel moorings Beacon No. 2.

Survey showed the steamer to be only slightly damaged about the bow and she was permitted to proceed to San Francisco. The beacon was towed into the pilot station by a Wrigley tug. It will be repaired and remoored today by a lighthouse tender.

The huge Sun motor tanker Chester Sun, last of four sister-ships built at the Chester (Pa.) yards of the Sun Shipbuilding Company for Los Angeles-Philadelphia trade, was in port yesterday loading her initial cargo of 119,000 barrels of gasoline for the North Atlantic ports. Her earlier sisters are the Sun Oil, Philadelphia Sun and Pacific Sun.

Her master, Capt. S. S. Hegglund, announces that two more units of these sisters will be commissioned in August, next, and that still two more are scheduled for completion about March, 1931.

Offshore passenger business will be brisk at the port today, with eleven liners in foreign trade due. They include the Nippon Yusen Kaisha motorship Asama Maru, from the Orient; the Barber-Dodwell liner Baby Castle, from around-the-world via Newport News; the North German Lloyd liner Schwaben, from Bremen; two Italian liners of the Navigazione Libera Triestina fleet, the Feltre, from the Mediterranean, and the Leme, bound homeward; two Panama Mail liners, the Ecuador from San Francisco for New York, and the City of San Francisco, from Central America; the Lasco steamer Diamond Head, from Hawaii; the Furness liner Siamese Prince, from New York bound around the world, and the McCormick steamer West Camargo, from the north for South America.

Dollar Line's trans-Pacific steamer President Cleveland, on arrival from Yokohama yesterday noon, completed her ninth year in trans-Pacific trade and has negotiated 787,000 nautical miles without casualty. She first arrived here from New York in March, 1921, as the then Pacific Mail liner Golden State. Her original skipper, Capt. George Yardley, is still aboard.

Study Made of Radiant Energy

BERKELEY, March 23. (AP)—Ability of ordinary radiant energy to penetrate human body tissue has been determined, R. S. Danforth of the department of pharmacology of the University of California has announced.

He found the ray having the greatest power of penetration was the infra-red, which is invisible to the eye. Ultra-violet light, violet light, and almost all of the green and yellow lights are not capable of going through flesh, Prof. Danforth discovered. Ordinary radiant energy does not include the X-ray or radium.

Curative powers of infra-red waves was largely undetermined, Prof. Danforth said.

Suicide Threat Divorce Reason

VISALIA, March 23.—A husband who continually threatens to commit suicide, and exhibits the gruesome apparatus he intends to use in carrying out his threat, is not the pleasantest sort of a person to have around, Mrs. Maude Kraft stated in a divorce complaint filed here against Conrad Kraft.

He did not stop at threats to harm himself, the wife asserts, but threatened to kill her, and frequently cursed and swore at her. He also insisted that she work outside the home, although he was capable of earning enough for their support, Mrs. Kraft declares.

They were married in 1917 and separated on September 17, 1929. There are no children.

Suits Brought for Large Sums

ARVIN, March 23. — Two suits aggregating more than $20,000 have been filed in two separate actions in Kern county by J. B. Quick as plaintiff for work done on property in the Arvin district and in the Fourth Home Extension Colony tract, according to complaints prepared by Aldrick & Mack.

In his first complaint Quick names Julius Cohn and others as defendants and asks judgment for $9900 for improvements consisting of irrigation ditches, pipes, fences and structures on land in Sec. 5, 31-29.

In the second complaint Quick asks judgment against Emile E. Kahn and others for similar improvements in the Fourth Home Extension Colony.

Terra Bella Oil Well Cemented

TERRA BELLA, March 23.—"Mudding" of the test hole of the Terra Bella Oil Company having been completed, the cement has again been pumped into the hole. A number of tons of mud were put into the hole by a 900-pound pressure, after a bridge had been put in at the bottom of the casing. Fred Gholson, driller in charge, believes that the cementing job has been satisfactory and that a complete water shut-off has been effected.

It required 101 sacks of cement to fill the hole before the mud appeared at the top under pressure. It will require from fifteen days to three weeks for the cement to harden sufficiently to permit the testing of the oil sand at the bottom of the casing, at a depth of 865 feet.

ORCHESTRA HAS GUEST CONDUCTORS

St. Louis Music Lovers to Hear Many Noted Concert Artists

ST. LOUIS, March 23. (Exclusive)—Continuing the policy of guest conductors which has been so successful in the past three years, the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra will bring to St. Louis for the 1930-31 season an internationally famous guest conductor new to this city. He is Emil Cooper, the Russian conductor, formerly of the Imperial Opera at Moscow and director of the Moscow Conservatory. He made a brilliant success this season as one of the conductors of the Chicago Civic Opera.

E. Fernandez Arbos of Madrid who opened this season, will also open next and will remain until Christmas. George Szell, general music director of Prague, Czechoslovakia, will follow him for four weeks, or, should Cooper's engagement be extended beyond three weeks, as is hoped, Szell's engagement may also be lengthened to bridge the gap so that there will be but three conductors for the season.

Among the soloists already engaged are two vocalists, Claire Dux, soprano, and Heinrich Schlusnus, baritone; five pianists, Walter Gieseking, David Barnett, Jose Iturbi, Carlo Zecchi and Indebrando Pizzetti, and three violinists, Efrem Zimbalist, Nathan Milstein and Yelly d'Aranyi.

Kern County Sportsmen in Annual Meeting

BAKERSFIELD, March 23.—The annual meeting of the Kern County Fish and Game and Protective Association will be held in the basement assembly room of the Masonic Temple on Friday at 8 p.m., Louis Roux, president of the association, announced today.

The meeting will be called for the annual election of fifteen directors for the association which has approximately 800 members at this time in the county.

Roux said today that a member of the Fish and Game Commission will be present to make an address and that fish and game commission films will be shown during the evening.

The matter of establishing a game farm for Kern county, to serve as a refuge for the tule elk herd as well will be considered during the meeting.

The status of the game-farm plan at this time is one of waiting for a reply from the State Park Board, Roux said. The game commission of the State is willing to contribute $15,000 cash, fence the land and maintain the farm and refuge providing the park board and county will contribute funds for the purchase of land for the game farm.

Youth Presses Button, So Fire Siren Does Rest

LINDSAY, March 23.—George Delano, Jr., wandering about Lindsay's new firehouse, noticed a bright red button conveniently placed on the wall and wondered what it was for. He pressed it to see. Business came to a standstill throughout the city, autos drove to the curb and parked while other machines, carrying members of the fire department, raced for the engine-house.

Delano, somewhat bothered about the spontaneous response to his idle gesture, at first tried to pretend he had nothing to do with it, but on being assured he would be permitted to live a little longer, confessed to pressing the button. This act might have resulted in turning on the lights or the radio or the heating apparatus, or any number of things—but it sounded the fire alarm.

There is another button, a black one, immediately beneath the red one. It turns off the fire siren. Members of the fire department request visitors who feel an urge to press something, to work on the black button.

SHORTAGE DUE IF BONDS FAIL

Water Board Stresses Need of Prompt Action

Summer Aqueduct Flow Only Half Adequate

Tax Financing Will Not Burden Taxpayers

Only those who have registered since January 1, last, will be eligible to vote in the Los Angeles special water bond election slated for May 20, it is pointed out by the citizens' water and power committee. All registrations taken during 1928 and 1929 are canceled automatically for all purposes on the 31st inst. Registration for the water bond election will close at midnight April 19, next.

Emphasizing the fact that the issuance of water bonds will not increase taxes in any form, the members of the City Board of Water and Power Commissioners today issued a plea to the citizens of Los Angeles to give their wholehearted support to the proposed $38,500,000 water bonds at the May 20 election.

Only through the development of conservation of additional water supplies, which will be made possible by this bond issue, will Los Angeles be protected against a serious water shortage, it is pointed out.

BOARD STATEMENT

The following is the statement issued by the members of the Water and Power Commission:

"The members of the Board of Water and Power Commissioners are conscious of our responsibility to the people in the operation of the city's great water and power systems, and desire most emphatically to impress upon every citizen the gravity of the water situation confronting Los Angeles.

"Los Angeles is face to face with a serious water shortage unless adequate additional supplies and storage facilities are provided. An exhaustive study of the problem reveals that $38,500,000 is the minimum sum required to obtain these water supplies and provide other necessary facilities.

"The $38,500,000 can be made available only through the issuance of bonds. Consequently, a bond issue for that amount is to be submitted to the people on May 20.

REASONS ASSIGNED

"Approval of this issue is urged for the following reasons:

"(1) These water bonds will not increase taxes; they will be paid off, principal and interest, out of water revenue.

"(2) A water shortage is probable unless the Owens Valley land and water rights purchases provided for in the bond issue are authorized.

"(3) While the purchase of the Owens Valley lands and water rights is safeguarded by law for the present use, purchase of the Mono Basin water is necessary for the city's water supply in the immediate future. Purchase of this water is provided for in the bond issue.

"(4) Additional water storage at the Los Angeles end of the Aqueduct must be provided immediately in order to carry the city over the hot summer periods. During the summer months Los Angeles now normally consumes nearly twice the volume of water that can be delivered through the Aqueduct.

"(5) Four billion dollars is the conservative value of property owned by the people of Los Angeles and every dollar of this enormous investment depends for its security upon the maintenance of an adequate water supply. Only by the approval of the proposed bond issue can an adequate supply be assured."

FORTUNE IN STRANGER'S GUISE BESTOWS GOLDEN SMILE ON WOMAN HERE

When good fortune smiled on Mrs. Lillian Mallrup five years ago in the form of an unexpected bequest of $60,000 in the will of an uncle in Australia, she declared at the time that she was the "happiest woman in the world." But yesterday her happiness was increased tenfold when good fortune smiled upon her again in the form of a $700,000 inheritance bequeathed to her by a lifelong friend of her late uncle.

Mrs. Lillian Mallrup

The news came in an official letter from the public administrator in Paris. It stated that Henri de La Salle, 89 years of age, died two weeks ago and his will directed that she be given his entire estate of $700,000. A provision of the will directed the creation of a trust fund of $100,000 by Mrs. Mallrup, the interest of which is to be used each year to send some boy or girl to college.

The story of Mrs. Mallrup's good fortune during the last five years reads like a chapter of a fairy book. Until ten years ago she was an actress known as Lillian Elliott. She retired and went to live in Chicago. Her only living relative was George La Lamontdier, who took part in the California gold rush of 1849 and later in the rush to the Yukon.

During that stirring period he always was accompanied by Henri de La Salle, a boyhood chum, who had come with him from France. Later the two men separated, La Lamontdier going to Australia and De La Salle to France.

Frequently in letters to his niece La Lamontdier mentioned the name of De La Salle, and referred to him as "his pal of the sourdough days." Mrs. Mallrup, however, never had seen De La Salle, and otherwise was not interested. La Lamontdier died in Australia in 1925 and willed his fortune of $60,000 to Mrs. Mallrup on condition that she move to California and live here five years. Mrs. Mallrup followed the conditions of the will. Three years ago she was married to Fred Mallrup.

Since the death of her uncle she never had given a thought to his old friend De La Salle until last August, when he unexpectedly paid her a visit. It was their first meeting and De La Salle stated he was passing through Los Angeles on a trip around the world and "merely dropped in to get acquainted," with the only living relative of his friend of the gold-rush days.

He remained in Los Angeles five days and each evening visited at the Mallrup home.

"He never mentioned anything about having any money or even intimated that he contemplated making me his heir," Mrs. Mallrup asserted yesterday. "My husband and I often speculated if the old gentleman was in need of money and really had come out here in the hope of getting aid, but, of course, nothing was said.

"We never heard a word from him from the day he left, until I received the letter from the public administrator in Paris yesterday. It was like a bolt from a clear sky. I was completely overwhelmed."

The Mallrups live at 1631 Winona Boulevard.

HARBOR NEEDS SET FORTH

Chamber of Commerce Lays Plans for Deepening Channels Before Federal Board

Dredging projects that materially will increase the capacity of Los Angeles Harbor to keep pace with its rapidly mounting commerce are urged in a communication sent to the Federal Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors by the Chamber of Commerce through A. G. Arnoll, secretary. The Federal board is scheduled to conduct an open hearing tomorrow in Washington in connection with additional dredging operations requested by the chamber, together with the Board of Harbor Commissioners at a hearing last July by the United States District Engineer here.

Manager Arnoll informs the board that the chamber has given further consideration and study to a channel communicating with the turning basin, also improvements in Cerritos Channel, at the easterly side of the outer harbor, in Fish Harbor channel, in the West Basin and in the channel along the northerly side of the East Basin.

PASSES BILLION

Emphasizing its contentions, the chamber calls attention to the fact that the port's annual business has passed the $1,000,000,000 mark and that last year there was handled through the harbor a total of 26,-

Safety Button Use Defended

The Pacific Electric Railway Company, in a communication to the City Council, upholds the practice of outlining safety zones at car stops with the round metal buttons. The letter was occasioned by a complaint from the West Hollywood Chamber of Commerce.

The street-car company states that the use of the buttons is the least objectionable method of designating the zones and requests the Council to take steps at once to install such markers at all car stops along Santa Monica Boulevard. The matter was referred to the Police Commission.

Undersea Rum Boats Hunted

Watch is being kept by the Federal Coast Guard cutters and members of the Federal dry enforcement department, acting under Administrator Woods, along the coast between Oceanside and San Diego, it was learned at dry enforcement offices.

Rumors are that reconditioned German submarines have been taking on liquor traffic and are now under illegal liquor on the California coast. Some of the landings are said to have been south of Encinitas beach, near Oceanside.

CANCER CLINIC PROJECTED

Hospital Leased for Coffey-Humber Treatments; Other Coast Cities Also to Have Offices

Establishment in Los Angeles of a clinic for cancer treatment that will equal any in the world, one that will be conductedly primarily for the injection of the new Coffey-Humber cancer extract, but will be equipped with every device known to science as an aid to cancer sufferers, was announced yesterday by Dr. Walter Coffey and Dr. John D. Humber.

The Kaspare Cohn Hospital, 3942 Whittier Boulevard, has been leased, and as soon as it is evacuated and new equipment installed permanent headquarters for the Coffey-Humber treatment will be opened.

Simultaneously, it was learned, permanent clinics at Santa Barbara, San Francisco and San Diego will get under way. Funds already are available for the Los Angeles and Santa Barbara foundations and money for San Francisco and San Diego buildings are expected to be forthcoming soon.

W. K. Kellogg, Battle Creek (Mich.) food manufacturer and philanthropist, is backing the local clinic, it was stated. Provisions have been made by Kellogg to assure the local clinic's permanent operation as well as for its immediat establishment.

Dr. Coffey, chief surgeon of the Southern Pacific Railroad, with headquarters in San Francisco, home of the new gland-extract treatment, and Dr. Humber attended the temporary clinic in the Pacific Electric Club auditorium yesterday. Dr. Coffey stressed again that the extract is to be given only to sufferers who have tried all other treatments and have been declared by their physicians as inoperable cases. It is understood that the new clinic, however, will offer surgery and X-ray treatment to sufferers in addition to the extract treatment.

Room for seventy-five bed patients will be available at the new clinic, with other buildings to be devoted entirely for conducting injections and examination of patients who are able to travel to and from home.

"We are able at present only to make cursory records of cases being treated," Dr. Coffey explained. "In a permanent clinic it will be possible to keep an accurate check on every case. Instead of injections being offered only once a week to

BRIDE GIVES AIR TO SKY LOCHINVAR

"Red" Mohun's Flyer in Matrimony Winds Up in Bad Spin

Mrs. Mohun, Going Home to Tucson, Tells Husband Goodbye

THE second air romance of Phillip (Red) Mohun, pilot adventurer, has gone into a spin and his bride of two weeks has had enough of a Hollywood honeymoon and being the wife of a flyer without an airplane. Mohun and Mrs. Mohun admitted last night.

So Mrs. Mohun is on her way back home to Tucson, Ariz., where the flyer met her three weeks ago in the office of the United States District Attorney, while the Federal grand jury was investigating charges that Mohun violated the United States neutrality laws.

"It's all off," according to the bride, nee Miss Willa Mae Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Phelps of Tucson. "That is, for the present. If Red gets his international affairs straightened out and stops flying around, may be we will go on another honeymoon—but not in Hollywood. Tucson suits me."

It all started when Mohun was called to Tucson along with ten other asserted neutrality violators, some of them former high-ranking Mexican army officers.

Mohun appeared in the Federal Building, saw Miss Phelps in the office of the United States District Attorney where she worked as a secretary, and before the grand jury decided whether he should be indicted, he married her.

For breaking up his office routine by this unexpected move, Mohun said the Federal attorney put him in jail—for a day until Mrs. Mohun prevailed on her former boss to let him out.

Members of the grand jury, still undecided on the aviator's fate, chipped in and bought the couple a wedding ring and Mohun was released on his own recognizance. He

NEW ROAD ADVANCES IN MEXICO

Stage Line Official Looks for Early Completion of Border-to-Capital Job

More than 1000 miles of hard-surface highway from the Mexican border at Laredo, Tex., south to Mexico City and on to the Pacific port of Acapulco, will be completed by the Mexican government before the end of this year, the first transcontinental highway in the southern republic.

This is the assertion of A. L. Hayes, founder of the Pickwick Stages System on his return from a 3500-mile tour of the company's lines in southern States and from Laredo into Mexico.

"The Mexican government has 15,000 men at work on the Laredo-Mexico City highway," Hayes said. "The road is hard surfaced as far as Monterrey and oiled part of the way. Surfacing is now in progress on the Monterrey-Ciudad Victoria stretch. From there the road runs almost due south to Mexico City with branches at Valles running east to Tampico and west to San Luis Potosi.

"With the completion of this new highway, Pickwick will expand its operations over the entire route from coast to border."

NETS WIDENING IN JULIAN CASE

Forgery and Conspiracy Put on List of Crimes

Grand Jury Will be Asked to Act Tomorrow

Witnesses Face Summoning Singly to Testify

Forgery and criminal conspiracy were added yesterday to the calendar of crimes which may involve many in the sweeping investigation of the Julian Petroleum Corporation collapse to be continued by the grand jury tomorrow.

Indications that the jury inquiry will be asked to consider startling revelations of a network of criminal activities covering perjury, grand theft, wholesale use of fictitious names, in addition to a maze of conspiracies, came from Special Prosecutor Stafford.

It also was intimated that a number of brokers who handled stock of the defunct oil company and those who furnished the cash with which the deals were manipulated will be asked to explain discrepancies found in sworn testimony.

NAMES KEPT SECRET

The calling of these business men, familiar names in the recent Julian trials, will be preliminary to the placing before the grand jury of information of criminal activities which are not believed barred by the three-year limitation or banned by the assertedly corrupt jury verdict which freed seven defendants in the conspiracy hearing of 1929.

Identity of those to be questioned in the informal move will be kept secret, according to Dist.-Atty. Fitts, and they will not be advised that they are wanted until the arrival of the summons. In order to keep the various moves of his office veiled as far as possible and to prevent information seeping to other interested parties, Fitts plans to call the members of the different groups one at a time. As fast as one has answered such interrogations as cover the discrepancies in the grand-jury transcript and the testimony as sworn at the trial, another will be called. This, according to Fitts, will prevent a comparison of information and place each individual on his own resources.

SPECIAL SESSION

A special extra session of the grand jury will be held today, but it will not be concerned with the Julian cases. The plan of action as outlined calls for the jury to complete routine matters, conclude some investigations that have been started on other cases, and clear the calendar for at least three days of intensive work on the petroleum-collapse inquiry.

Fitts pointed out that the inquiry into the older revelations will be pushed on account of the pressure of time, and that he expects to bring these cases to the indictment stage before taking up a further investigation of the corruption disclosed last week of the Julian conspiracy jury.

Three distinct angles in the investigation were outlined, and each will be taken in turn, according to the District Attorney and his deputies. The first is concerned with the new criminal activities uncovered through avenues disclosed last week and directed toward prominent business men active in Julian

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS KILL SIX

Three Meet Death When Automobile Hits Street Car; Other Week-end Victims Reported Dying

Six persons were dead last night, several others reported dying, as the result of a series of automobile accidents in the city over the week-end. Three of the dead were killed when a wildly careening car, with a speed, according to police reports, of approximately sixty miles an hour, crashed into a loaded street car at Sixth and Witmer streets. Three other occupants of the automobile were seriously injured and two passengers of the street car were severely cut by flying glass.

Adolf F. Chavez, said to be a city fireman and living at 1081 Calzona street; Miss Becky Krieger, 24 years of age, 323 North Grand avenue, an unidentified girl known to the other occupants of the car only as "Peggy" were killed when the automobile driven by Chavez crashed into a "D" street car in charge of Motorman M. G. Johnson and Conductor F. Cleveland.

THOSE INJURED

Miss Marie Sala, 21, 1820 Bridge street, received a skull fracture, Mike J. Maisterra, 20, 516 West Seventh street, severe head lacerations, and Victor Griego, 21, 131 North Hix street, head lacerations, the other passengers of the automobile were treated at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. Mrs. Helen Asher, 26 625 South Burlington street, and Jack Charlip, 24, 625 South Burlington street, passengers on the street car, received minor injuries.

According to the reports of eye-witnesses, the car driven by Chavez speeded past another automobile as it neared the intersection, swerved to the left side of the street and struck the street car head-on.

CAR CUT IN TWO

The body of the car was sheared completely in two and the shock of the impact scattered the bodies of the occupants for more than a hundred feet. The car itself skidded for approximately 200 feet before it was brought to a stop against a curb.

An investigation by Detective Lieutenants Condafer and Corsini revealed that the men in the car had apparently been drinking. Broken bits of bottles strongly scented with liquor were found in the wreckage, according to Condafer.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

ONE of the most amazing stories ever printed is the life story of Mata Hari, the spy, which has been running in the Forum Magazine.

She was not an oriental. She was a Dutch girl from New Amsterdam and her name was merely an exotic touch. She became a courtesan and a dancer and a German spy.

Perhaps there has not been in all modern history the record of another such successful vamp. And like Du Barry, she was not especially beautiful. The great vamps have seldom been very beautiful. A very beautiful girl doesn't have to be a vamp.

SACRIFICED!

Her record as a spy shows the astonishing lengths to which the secret service chiefs would go to get information.

On one occasion the German government ordered Mata Hari to get a job as a French spy. To do so it was necessary to supply her with really valuable military information which she could take to the French as an evidence of what was to appear as her good faith.

The Germans gave her fast which resulted in the sacrifice of two submarines and the lives of their crews.

OUTWITTED

The ruse got the girl the job she was after; but all the facts she got from the French were fakes. Realizing that she had outlived her usefulness, the German secret service sent her back to Paris to certain death at the hands of the French.

A message picked out of the air by a French radio expert had revealed her identity. When she came into the French secret service office, she was greeted with: "Good morning Mlle. H 21; how long have you been a German spy?" And she knew the end had come.

NO QUITTERS

Her story, which is written by a British officer of the secret service, states that for a spy to refuse an assignment during the war meant certain death. In other words, no one could be a spy for awhile, then retire. Once a spy, she was a spy to the end—and the end was usually uncomfortable.

INDIAN SPIES

It will be a surprise to most people to know that old Geronimo, the Apache, in his warfare against the white men, had one of the most efficient and well-organized spy systems of modern times.

The white soldiers, on the other hand, couldn't even find Geronimo's army; let alone not being able to get a spy into it. That chapter of history wherein is told the story of our army's campaigns against the hostile Indians should rightfully be written on a dumbbell.

The West Pointers who went to the border country to fight the Indians were invariably outthought and outmaneuvered. They whined that they didn't know the country; but it was part of their job to have known the country.

GREAT SOLDIER

When the real list of the great military leaders this country has produced is written the names of Crazy Horse, Gall, Chief Joseph, Geronimo, Quanah Parker, Red Cloud and Capt. Jack, the Modoc, will be written in much larger type than the names of Crook, Miles and Sheridan. These generals were not all West Pointers. The West Pointers were worse.

LEWIS WILL GO ON STAND AGAIN

Appearance Today May be Prevented by Illness

Ex-Julian Corporation Head Must Expand Story

Deposition Being Taken in Judge Tappaan's Court

E. C. Lewis, former president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, but now convicted in Federal court of having used the mails to defraud, under indictment in the same courts on a similar charge, and the central figure in the Julian jury bribe cases, probably will resume the witness stand in Superior Judge Tappaan's court today. Lewis is to complete a deposition being given in connection with a Julian stockholders' recovery action against the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and a group of brokers.

Early last month Lewis first took the witness stand in the civil action, and told a startling story that the exchange and the brokers assisted in the overissue which wrecked the Julian company. He insisted that he is not alone to blame for the crash which wiped out many small stockholders and declared that the brokers and the exchange had a large part in the affair and "made millions."

It was just after the cross-examination of Lewis was well under way that he left the witness stand to appear in Federal court in San Francisco and arguments on demurrer to the action have occupied the attention of the court for the last fourteen days. Friday morning Judge Tappaan took the demurrer under consideration and with the way clear announced that Lewis would be recalled.

From what was learned yesterday, however, it is possible that a further continuance may be necessary, as it was announced that Lewis is sick, suffering from a bad cold contracted while in jail on a charge of bribery growing out of the latest Julian developments.

Counsel for the stockholders who examined Lewis at great length when he first was called to the witness stand, announced yesterday that in view of the recent startling developments in the Julian mess a lengthy redirect examination is to be conducted and it is expected that the deposition will not be completed this week.

STUDIO HAS TEN FILMS UNDER WAY

First National at Peak of Production in Its Studio at Burbank

With the launching of four pictures simultaneously today, First National studios at Burbank will reach its peak of production, shattering all records in the past two years for studio activity, according to announcement yesterday.

When the studio opens today it will have ten pictures actually "shooting" and seven in the cutting room, recently finished, in addition to a number in script form ready to launch. The ten pictures in production do not include Vitaphone Varieties, the short subjects produced at this lot.

The ten pictures now under way are all features, three of them all in color, all in dialogue, and five of them "all-star" productions classed as specials. The pictures are being made with such players as Richard Barthelmess, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Edward Everett Horton, Walter Pidgeon, June Collyear, Sidney Blackmer, Lila Lee, Fred Kohler, Raymond Hatton, Olive Tell, J. Farrell MacDonald, Conrad Nagel, Loretta Young, Alice White, Paul Page, Myrna Loy, Bernice Claire, Joe E. Brown, Ann Harding, Billie Dove and Edmund Breese.

The ten-picture production peak according to Hal B. Wallis and C. Graham Baker, studio executives, is likely to be held well into summer with vehicles being prepared for such stars as Marilyn Miller, Otis Skinner, three more all-star specials now in the hands of scenarists and operettas being prepared by such musical composers as Oscar Straus, Jerome Kern, Otto Harbach, Sigmund Romberg and Oscar Hammerstein.

OTHER PHASES

The second phase covers the bribing of the jurors in the trial, for which six now are under indictment and will enter pleas tomorrow at 10 a.m. before Superior Judge Wood.

The third is the further investigation of the $75,000 extortion plot charged to Morris Lavine, newspaper reporter, and Miss Leontine Johnson. The grand jury is interested in the report that knowledge of a $120,000 political campaign fund was used by Lavine and Miss Johnson as a threat in extorting $75,000 from Charles Crawford, Kent Parrot, Abraham Morris and Jacob Friedlander.

Four of the six defendants named in indictments as principals in the two bribery cases wherein $31,000 is asserted to have been used to buy the votes of Julian trial jurors prepared yesterday to wage a bitter fight against the charges.

Frank C. Grider, a juror accused of selling an $8000 house for $16,000, will be represented in his court actions by Attorney William B. Beirne of Rush & Beirne.

PLEA OUTLINED

Grider will enter a plea of not guilty and will contend that his action in the sale of his home was legal and that his indictment is the result of a story concocted by Jacob Berman, also known as Jack Pinnett. Berman and his brother Louis are also under indictment, but their position on the charges have not been made clear. It was reported they will seek immunity and become witnesses for the prosecution.

Louis Krause, asserted go-between in the bribery plot, will be represented by Attorney Hahn. Both Krause and his attorney declare that they will have some startling information on the asserted conspiracy to divulge when the case is called for trial.

TRAFFIC TAKES LIVES OF SIX

automobile racing driver, died last night in General Hospital from injuries received yesterday afternoon when his speeding car overturned during a race at the American Legion Speedway. Stoddard was making a turn on the fifty-seventh lap of a scheduled 100-mile race when his car skidded and crushed him beneath it.

The injured racer was rushed to the hospital, where it was found that he had received a skull fracture and was suffering from numerous lacerations.

Stoddard had been known as a racing driver in Southern California for five years. He was unmarried and lived with his mother, Mrs. M. Stoddard, at 502 North Rampart street.

A youth riding a stolen motorcycle was killed in a collision with a car driven by a deputy sheriff in front of 3210 Griffith Park Boulevard last night. The boy was identified as Clyde Hill, 20 years of age, 2326 Duane street, by a paper found in his pocket.

At the time of the accident another youth was on the back seat of the motorcycle with Hill, but during the confusion following the accident he escaped. The deputy's car was driven by Carl Riefe and he was accompanied by Deputies Frank Bowers and F. R. Fletcher. According to the deputies, the motorcycle passed them and made a left turn in front of their car.

Evidently the motorcycle operator had not judged the distance correctly and was struck by the Sheriff's car. When they reached the Sheriff's office they learned the motorcycle had been stolen at the Ascot Speedway shortly before dark. It belonged to Brooks Walling, 7254 Shoup street. The deputies assert they know the identity of the boy who escaped.

Richard Holland, 22, died at Golden State Hospital yesterday as a result of injuries suffered Saturday afternoon when the truck which he was driving crashed against a pole at Avenue 26 and San Fernando Road. Officers reported that Holland lost control of the heavy truck, and attempting to miss several parked automobiles, hit the pole. The body was removed to the County Morgue.

In a collision between two automobiles in the 2400 block on Cincinnati street, two women were probably fatally injured. They are Mrs. Della Fonstein, 45, of 2507½ Houston street, who suffered a possible skull fracture, and Mrs. Rosa Schmeidman, 69, of 553 North St. Louis street, who received possible internal injuries and concussion of the brain.

Mrs. Fonstein was in a car driven by her husband, Harry, while Mrs. Schmeidman rode with her husband, Abraham, 69, and grandsons, Elliot, 11, and Daniel, 8, in the other machine, driven by Sam Bernstein. Mr. Schmeidman had his right shoulder fractured and the boys were cut and bruised. Bernstein and Fonstein were not reported seriously hurt.

Probable fatal injuries also were received by Mrs. Goldie Jordan, 43, of 3395 Budlong avenue, when the automobile in which she was riding with Fred H. Kempton of 1240 South Los Palos street, collided with a car driven by Walter Newton of 4923 Linfield street. She was treated at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for skull fracture and then transferred to the Methodist Hospital.

Kempton and Mrs. Jean Newton, 32, wife of Walter Newton, were painfully cut and bruised but not reported seriously hurt. The accident occurred at Third and Los Angeles streets.

Victim of a hit-and-run driver, according to police, Walter S. Fox, 59, of Belvedere, was run down at Seventh and Central avenue and taken later to the receiving hospital with possible internal injuries and a fractured right leg. He was later removed to the General Hospital.

Albert Maxham, 52, 923 South Union street was reported last night to be dying in Georgia-street Receiving Hospital from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by H. D. Mitchell, 3424 South Flower street.

IMMIGRATION OFFICER KILLED AT OCEANSIDE

OCEANSIDE, March 23. (Exclusive)—Harry Vincent, an immigration officer, residing at Chula Vista, was struck and probably fatally injured at 10:30 o'clock tonight and his companion, James Renshaw, also immigration official, was badly bruised when D. Dossett, a sailor from the San Diego naval base, ran them down, according to police.

Dossett stated that he had just purchased the machine at Long Beach and was just learning to drive. He is being held in the Oceanside jail pending the outcome of Vincent's injuries. The immigration officer has a badly fractured skull, doctors stated.

We are certain we have something, but we repeat that the extract is an experiment and we are as anxious as patients and other members of the profession to be able to conduct treatments where results can be more definitely tabulated."

Dr. Coffey and Dr. Humber have just returned from Washington, where they stated their case in connection with the resolution introduced in Congress by Senator Harris of Georgia, that asks for appointment of a commission to determine how the Federal government can aid in furthering the Coffey-Humber experiments.

Approximately 900 patients were treated at the free Pacific Electric clinic, in local hospitals and at Long Beach over the week-end. These included persons ranging from an 18-month-old child to a 96-year-old woman.

This Golf Game Begins to Have Real Hazards

The game of golf sent a woman and a young man to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital yesterday for medical treatment.

Mrs. Ina Bergstrom, 33 years of age of 153 East Thirty-sixth Place, was using a niblick on a golf course at One Hundred and Twentieth street. Her club hit the turf instead of the ball and the little finger on her right hand was broken.

Robert Mercer, 19, of 631 West Twenty-eighth street, was sitting on a log watching his friend, L. E. Johnson, 20, of the same address, practice driving shots. Johnson's driver missed the ball, the turf, the log and hit Mercer a glancing blow on the side of his head. The injury caused a slight concussion of the brain in addition to a deep laceration.

TWO MEN DETAINED IN DEATH OF GIRL

Two men, one of them a doctor were held by the police as material witnesses following the death yesterday of Magdalyn Reber, 22 years of age, at her home, 1116 West Forty-eighth street. The doctor is Roy Millsap, 1126 West Forty-sixth street and the other man is Freeman Gulbransen, 22 years of age, 938½ West Forty-seventh street, the asserted sweetheart of the girl. The doctor admitted he had been treating the girl for pertonitis, but denied knowledge of an illegal operation. An autopsy will be performed by a Coroner's physician today.

Two groups of songs in French will be given by Gertrude Childs Huntington, accompanied by Claire Mellonino.

NEW LIGHT SHED ON DESLYS PAST

Several Say Dancer Was 50 Years of Age in 1910

Evidence Found Hinting She Was Born in Indiana

Pasadena Woman's Hunt for Babyhood Clews Pushed

Belief that Mrs. Edna C. Stiles of Pasadena is the secret missing daughter of the late Gaby Deslys was strengthened during last week by the discovery of a number of persons who assert they have first-hand knowledge that the dancer was around 50 years of age when she died in 1910. The discovery of the witnesses led Judge A. W. McGovney, attorney for Mrs. Stiles, to file a formal claim for his client to the $2,000,000 estate of the dancer.

Evidence tending to reveal for the first time that the dancer was born in Indiana and only posed as a native Parisian for stage purposes is in the hands of Judge McGovney and will be forwarded to Paris, where a number of claimants are fighting over the fortune. Letters written to friends in California by Miss Deslys from New York before she was heard of in Europe are asserted to reveal that she began her dancing career in a skating rink in New York in the early nineties.

LETTERS FORWARDED

These letters were in the possession of a woman in New York who has forwarded them to Judge McGovney. The New York woman has relatives in Pasadena. According to Judge McGovney, Miss Deslys confided to the New York woman that she had given secret birth to a child. This was while she was working in the New York skating rink, according to Judge McGovney.

Mrs. Stiles's chief belief that she is the daughter of the dancer is based on a scar in the form of a cross on the little finger of her left hand. A nurse in Paris recently testified she had cut a cross on the finger of Miss Desly's asserted secret baby when it was born. The deep cut was fresh on the baby's hand when it was delivered to a foundling home in Peoria, Ill., in 1888.

When it became known through The Times that Mrs. Stiles was seeking proof of her identity she was besieged with offers of aid in clearing up the mystery. A dozen persons who assert they knew Gaby Deslys almost fifty years ago have volunteered depositions to aid in fixing the approximate age of the dancer.

For obvious reasons, Judge McGovney desires to keep the identity of his witness secret until all the stories are checked. The evidence is considered of sufficient value by the attorney to request the law firm of Rivet & Vaillant, 48 Rue de Province, Paris, to file a claim in the French courts on behalf of Mrs. Stiles. The Paris attorneys' reply was received yesterday by Judge McGovney and they asserted the evidence he had sent to them is of "unusual merit and value" and urged that he procure further proof as to the probable age of Gaby Deslys.

"We have photographs of Gaby Deslys taken twenty-five years ago, which show her then to have been a woman nearer 40 than 30 years," Judge McGovney said. "Also I have depositions from many responsible men and women, who say they know much of the secret history of the dancer.

"Besides persons now living in Los Angeles I have heard from people all over the United States who add valuable fragments to the generally unknown history of Gaby. I now have a man searching records in several county seats in the central section of Indiana. One person wrote me that about forty years ago a will of a woman was filed that mentioned the name of the dancer. In the will, according to my informant, the testatrix stated that 'Gaby Deslys was a daughter who had forsaken her name and kin.'

FRIEND IN BERKELEY

"From Berkeley I have information that Gaby had a life-long friend in that city who knew her when they both were small girls. I am endeavoring to locate this woman and attempt to have her divulge Gaby's well-kept secret. By scanning photographs of Gaby, it is obvious that she was from fifteen to twenty years older than she said she was.

"I had an X-ray taken of Mrs. Stiles's scarred finger, and the photograph shows that the instrument used in cutting the cross had sliced off a tiny portion of the bone. In comparing pictures of Gaby and Mrs. Stiles one is instantly struck with the resemblance, but we are not basing our claims on this fact."

In the meantime Mrs. Stiles, who lives with her foster mothr at 992 Emerson street, Pasadena, is aiding Judge McGovney in running down the clews that come to them daily.

There were no airplanes for him to fly and Mrs. Mohun didn't care so much for the change from the comparative calm of Tucson. Then came word that the grand jury had indicted Mohun. Mrs. Mohun and her husband decided she had better go home—at least until he gets his affairs straightened out.

The Federal trial will not be conducted until next fall, according to Tucson press dispatches.

The latest tangle in Mohun's 26 years adds another chapter to a series of escapades since he left his Virginia home to learn to fly.

Since then he has joined revolutions in China as a pilot; fought the first air battle of the most recent Mexican revolution, peppering away with an automatic pistol from a cabin plane at an enemy pilot similarly armed; made a forced night landing in a plane loaded with nitroglycerin; spun to the ground in a plane and landed in a tree—his only serious accident, but one that left him with a silver plate as part of his present skull and a knee cap that used to be part of his shin bone.

LAND SHOW HERE EVERY YEAR URGED

Exhibitors Hold Meeting on Last Day of Affair; Large Crowd Attends

Unanimously indorsing the California Land Show, which came to a close last night, exhibitors, at a luncheon yesterday, in a set of resolutions urged that the show be made an annual affair with Los Angeles as the exposition city. The luncheon was held in the lecture tent.

Assemblyman Van Bernard of Glenn county presided. Speakers included Edwin G. Hart, general chairman of the realty board committee; J. A. Kerr, Chamber of Commerce; Glenn D. Williaman, secretary, State Real Estate Board; Tom Ingersoll, Los Angeles Realty Board; F. H. Brooks, representing the city of Los Angeles, and Fred Shaffer of Yolo county.

The show covered forty of the fifty-eight counties of the State, the exhibits being in various designs and carrying fruits, flowers and other products of the various counties. The show was housed in a huge tent which was transformed into a redwood forest.

The closing day saw one of the largest crowds of the sixteen days of the show. Notwithstanding six days of rain, more than 150,000 persons visited the exhibits.

Discharged, He Seeks Damages

James I. White, former [illegible] conductor, has filed suit in the United States District Court against the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad and two special agents, James Addison and W. H. Rush, for $5000 damages.

The plaintiff asserts he was discharged ten days after an accident in which a Salt Lake train was derailed at a bridge near Pine Grove on February 15, 1927, and that two agents asserted he was drunk and partly responsible for the accident.

White said he had received a "slow down" signal prior to the accident though, he asserts, the company had been notified that track in that section was not safe.

One of numerous works of Los Angeles artist to be displayed in Pasadena.

PERSONALITY portraits of Southland men and women and beauties of the film colony will be placed on exhibition today in the Hatfield Galleries, Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, by Graziella Jacoby, an artist who has lived in Los Angeles for the past two years. The exhibit is to continue for two weeks, and will be open evenings. It includes dozens of pastels, water colors and charcoal portraits.

Prominent among those portrayed by Miss Jacoby are John C. Austin, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Estella Cabrillo Del Valle, Maria Jeritza, Mme. Tito Schipa, Lady Diana Manners, Frank Bacon, Alla Nazimova, Elizabeth Rethberg, Colleen Moore, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Cardinal Piffl of Austria. Colorful studies of cowboys, Indians and screen actors augment the portrait studies.

Miss Jacoby, who has exhibited in New York, Chicago and New Orleans, said that she strives to get away from the "wooden" type of portrait and to express the sitter's personality in color. She studied with John Bellows, Alfred Mucha of Prague and Leopold Seyffert. During the Eucharistic Congress at Chicago in 1926 she made portraits of high dignitaries of the Catholic Church. During the past two years she has been engaged in portrait work here.

GASOLINE PRICE AGAIN REDUCED

Southern Stations Chain Sells for 16 1-2 Cents

Meets Reduction Made by Van Fleet-Durkee

Some Small Dealers Cut Still Lower

While the quoted wholesale price of all the major gasoline companies remained at 15½ cents yesterday, the price warfare among the retailers continued, with the chief move of the day being another reduction by the Southern Gasoline Stations, Inc., handling Standard Oil products, and having about seventy-five of the 200 stations in Los Angeles and vicinity.

On Saturday this chain had reduced its price at its local stations to 17½ cents to meet a similar reduction by the T. A. Winter chain, which handles Richfield products. It was decided yesterday by the executives of the Southern chain to reduce the price another cent to 16½ cents, which brings it to the figure established several days ago by the Van Fleet-Durkee stations. The latter sell Shell gasoline.

The 16½-cent figure is that which ruled yesterday at the majority of the independent stations, which handle the products of the major companies, but other stations which sell gasoline of some of the smaller producers quoted prices as low as 14 cents a gallon.

While the executives of the chain station companies and the executives of the producing companies continued to insist that the price warfare was confined only to the retail field, with the wholesale figure remaining static, it was learned that at least one of the major companies has granted at least some of the dealers handling its gasoline a reduction of 1 cent a gallon.

None of the interests concerned, either wholesale or retail, was willing yesterday to make any predictions concerning what might happen today. None of them was certain, however, that today will not see further general price-slashing.

Aaronson and Orchestra Here

The proverbial "key to the city" was discarded in favor of a key to the Blossom Room of the Hollywood Roosevelt, Saturday, when Irving Aaronson and his "Commanders" were greeted at the Southern Pacific depot upon their arrival here from the East by Manager Frank Cummings, Jr., of the film-capital hostelry. This musical organization whose phonograph recordings and radio programs are well known, is to begin an indefinite engagement in the Blossom Room at the Roosevelt Wednesday night.

During the past several months the "Commanders" have been entertaining visitors to Florida's beach resorts and prior to that time played engagements in London, Paris and Ostend. Last year they were featured for a period in the Roosevelt Blossom Room here, but their engagement was necessarily brief owing to previous bookings. Their premiere Wednesday night will be in the nature of a welcome-home party with hundreds of friends and others in attendance.

Tax Adviser Pleads Today

J. Ira Angus, Hollywood income-tax adviser, accused of aiding in the making of a false and fraudulent income-tax return for Earl Foxe, a motion-picture actor, is to appear today in the United States District Court for arraignment and entry of plea. He now is at liberty on bond.

Eucalyptus Tree Variety Shown

Eucalyptus trees of fifty-three varieties now adorn the Grove of Honor in Mandeville Canyon, Martha Nelson McCan, chairman of the executive committee of the California Botanic Garden, announced yesterday in inviting organizations which have planted trees there to arrange spring picnics in their midst. Wildflowers also are beginning to bloom in profusion.

The announcement states that, in spite of the current reorganization, members are privileged to visit the garden on presentation of their cards at the office.

Native Africans Will Greet Lion

Mutia and Riano, natives of the African jungle, will be among those who will gather at the City Hall at 10:45 a.m. today to welcome Leo, globe-circling trade-mark lion of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, on his arrival here after an absence of more than two years. The blacks were imported by the company recently to play in "Trader Horn," and are planning to make friends with the beast which in their native land is regarded as an arch enemy. Following a reception, Leo will be escorted to the studios, where he will perform his routine of tricks. Tomorrow he will be on exhibition at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

CHILD-WIFE GETS DIVORCE

When Benjamin C. Sutphin became angry with his child-wife he twisted her nose, according to Mrs. Tirzah M. Sutphin, who was granted a divorce from him by Superior Judge Bowron on the grounds of cruelty. Only 16 years of age at the time of her marriage in 1927, Mrs. Sutphin brought action through her mother, Mrs. Ada P. Tondro, as guardian. She was represented in court by Attorney J. E. Ricketts.

FLIES USED TO GUAGE GROWTH OF LOS ANGELES

A colony of small vinegar flies, living in a milk bottle and eating a tastefully prepared banana pudding, had a lot to do with the determination of Los Angeles to increase its water supply! It was among the factors, but not the deciding one, that led the experts of the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power and its associated municipal departments to believe that seventy years from now the population of this city will be between 8,000,000 and 10,000,000.

In other words, by counting the population of a vinegar fly colony a population curve is found to exist that follows almost exactly the growth of cities. It is known as the Raymond Pearl "fly curve," and, with slight variations, the curve is identical also with the growth of Los Angeles.

Half a score of other factors are taken into consideration in the effort to anticipate the needs of a growing population, according to Clem Copeland, statistician in charge of the research department of the Bureau of Power and Light. Ingenious counts of meters, telephone books, city directory and garbage disposal are made. They are reduced to population curves through an involved process of higher mathematics which might interest an Einstein. All this is in an effort to be prepared for the growth of Los Angeles every year and to anticipate future water needs.

Prof. Pearl describes his "fly curve" device casually as "a ceramic container forming dipteran microcosm spatially limited universe for the propagation of the drosophila melanogaster." All of which means just a milk bottle with flies in it and a piece of banana.

"According to Prof. Pearl," said Copeland, "human population follows in growth the same tendency as shown in the propagation of the dropsophila—fruit or vinegar fly—when it is allowed to increase its population in some space of limited dimensions, such as a partially filled half pint bottle of carefully prepared banana pudding.

"The propagation of this fly has been reduced to a curve which grows slowly at first, increases rapidly over a certain period and then slows down toward the end of the history, never exceeding a certain maximum of density of flies within the bottle. So it is with cities and parts of cities, he declares.

"The curve has been found to mathematically fit the way the United States and France have grown, despite wars and calamities. Now Los Angeles is growing along such a curve and we have been trying to find the equation of the curve which best fits our history so that we may extend it to future years and anticipate the needs of our community. Our researches so far point to a maximum of population of between 8,000,000 and 10,000,000."

Just how accurate the fly curve is as compared to other curves is to be determined, even though past performances seem to point to it having a value, Copeland declares.

"The sky seems to be the limit in California and, while we are in the maximum ascendency of the curve now, we believe it will be many years before we start to slow down," he said. "Meanwhile, the vinegar flies may tell us something else before that time arrives."

Tax Payments Reported Slow

Tax money is coming in slower than usual this year, Budget Director Knox has reported to the City Council, and, therefore, he recommends that strict economy be practiced.

The Council instructed City Clerk Dominguez to transmit a copy of the report to all departments, which are now engaged in preparing their estimates of budgetary requirements for the forthcoming fiscal year.

Today's Bible Text

For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death.—Romans viii, 2.

TRADE NOTE
The big dollar bills have all disappeared, sobs a contemporary. It is a chronic condition with us, also, brother.

NO PADDING
"Figures don't lie," declares a trade journal. Of course it refers to the digits used by business men in statistics and bank balances.

A NOVEL EXPERIENCE
When a young fellow thinks he can read a girl like a book, he is in for finding his first real piece of fiction. And the story may end the usual way.

NEW RACKET
A Chicago miser provided so little food for his wife that he got her a pair of magnifying glasses to wear as she ate. He was a kindly soul.

THIRTY-ONE YEARS TO GO
It has been said that the Grim Reaper "is no respecter of titles." He proved it in the case of the man who wrote "How to Live 100 Years" and died before he was 70.

CAR-HOPPERS
Once the farmer was called a clodhopper. But since 5,000,000 automobiles are said to be on farms, the stigma has vanished. They have become car-hoppers with the rest of us.

FIRE WATER
The fire commissioners are considering a resolution to hold garages and filling stations responsible for releasing automobiles to drunken drivers. Fire water, as it were!

WITHOUT THE DISCOMFORT
Tourists to Southern California may shiver when they read the news from the Middle West, but as they ride through the orange groves and watch the snow-covered mountains they see what an advantage it is to have the Santa Claus scenery in the back yard.

MORE YANKEE NUTMEGS
The New Englanders have conceived the bright scheme of scrapping all their old rickety automobiles as a part of the national Highway Safety Plan. Maine will retire 2490; New Hampshire, 1510; Vermont, 1230; Massachusetts, 14,070; Rhode Island, 2210; Connecticut, 5870. Four hundred thousand will be junked at a sacrifice of $15,000,000.

THE DANGEROUS AGE
It is four times more dangerous to be an aged pedestrian than a middle-aged or young one. Six-tenths of the automobile fatalities in the United States are caused by cars striking pedestrians and four out of five of these are elderly.

About two-tenths are due to cars colliding. That is, one out of every five is killed over the much-disputed right of way.

Three per cent of the drivers who get into trouble are drunk. A new factor that has not heretofore been exploited is to discover what proportion of pedestrians who are killed were drunk. These statistics come from a study of casualties in the year 1928 by the National Safety Council of Chicago. Another significant element enters that is not usually considered. We add up the fatalities without taking into consideration the enormous increase in the number of cars. While the deaths have doubled since 1920, there are many more than twice as many cars on the road than there were ten years ago. As a result, while the number killed is tragic, yet the fatalities in proportion to the number of motors has decreased about one-third. Evidently America is learning to drive and the safety propaganda is fruitful.

While America is shamed by the announcement that our car death rate is the highest of any important country on the globe; yet it is explanatory to know that almost three-fourths of the motor vehicles of the world are in America.

The most dangerous thing a child can do is to play in the street. He often invites disaster by a spirit of bravado. Parents who permit their children to play in the street are criminally negligent.

GAG-LAW TEST COMING
A real test of the Minnesota "gag law," which puts the public expression of opinion and the public revelation of facts both at the mercy of the whims of a court, is now being sought. The law, which has been upheld by the Minnesota Supreme Court, is being carried into the United States courts, in a fight for the constitutional right of a free press. It is an important fight, not so much for the newspapers, which can accommodate themselves to any situation, but for democratic government, which cannot function if those who operate it, the people, are shut off from their source of information.

The Minnesota law provides that a court may suppress, by a permanent injunction, the publication of any newspaper which it considers to be "malicious, scandalous or defamatory;" and moreover, may do so without a trial. It was aimed by the Minnesota Legislature at pestiferous "scandal sheets" such as hang about the edges of journalism and which exist, in many cases, by quasi-blackmail or by sale of their news and editorial columns to the highest-bidding propagandist. If this was its purpose, the motive was praiseworthy. The difficulty is the remedy adopted is likely not only to kill the disease, but the patient as well.

The power arbitrarily to end the existence of any publication without a hearing is entirely too much power for any court to possess, since there is and can be no guarantee that it will not be abused.

"Such a statute," declares the attorney who will argue the case before the Supreme Court, "could be used by corrupt governments and officials to muzzle all expression of public opinion.

"Back in ancient times to speak contemptuously of the crown was a crime punishable by death in England. The people had no ballot, there was no ministry. When England adopted the ministerial system, libels on government were found inconsistent with a system which reposed on the rights of the people. So libels on government were abolished fifty years before our American Constitution. Freedom of peaceful gathering, free speech and free press were principles fought for by the colonies in the Revolutionary War.

"How the Tweed ring in New York could have wiped out the newspapers which afterward caused its fall had there been a Minnesota gag law in New York!

"If a newspaper may be constitutionally suppressed, then a person may be constitutionally suppressed. Were such a law carried to its logical outcome rival candidates might be running to courts seeking injunctions, without notice, to restrain each other from criticism."

Laws to punish written scandal, or libel, already exist in all States. If the Minnesota law is not adequate to deal with any situation that arises there, it may properly be strengthened if in a proper direction, that is, in the direction of surer or more severe punishment for any offense after it is committed. But to stop any man's mouth or pen or typewriter, on the theory that what he may say might be actionable, is oppressive and wrong and would lead to far worse evils than the ones it would cure.

Free criticism, especially of public officials, is one of the conditions under which popular government is carried on, and the Minnesota gag law, which attempts to prevent such criticism, is a blow at popular government. There might be some argument for permitting a court to restrain a man from publishing scandalous matter, though this would be going beyond any power any other State has conferred upon its courts; but to allow it to restrain him from publishing anything at all, on the ground that that is necessary to prevent him from publishing scandal, is to overstep the bounds.

The Minnesota gag law does overstep the bounds, and in a very dangerous way. The public has no protection against official corruption in any State which has such a law on its statute books.

WRITING ON THE ROCKS
Former President Coolidge faces the difficulty of compressing the history of the United States into 500 words to be carved on the rocky face of Mt. Rushmore, South Dakota. And who than Mr. Coolidge is better qualified to put the condenser on?

However, he is not the first to write history on rock. The most notable precedent is that of Nature herself. She has written a record of bygone ages for the geologist to read. It is the story of the climb of a mollusc up into a man.

But within the range of recorded human history King Darius was one of the original stone penmen. Nor was he afflicted with any false modesty as he told his prowess on the mountain at Behistun, Mesopotamia. He wrote cuneiform phonography and squeezed some 5000 words into less space than has been allotted to Mr. Coolidge.

He was in the fix of many Californians. He said he could tell many other exploits; but they were so unusual that folks would think him a liar. We know how he felt.

The cliff of Nahr el-Kilb near Beirut contains the autographs and comments of various generals who passed that way in Palestine and Syria. If we are to judge by the line, "Fools' names as well as faces," etc., some of the bloody warriors of that day might have been engaged in better business.

A third mountain memorial stands in Switzerland. The Lion of Lucerne has a tablet with the names of twenty-six officers who died in defense of Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette. Not a great cause!

The huge head of Washington, sixty feet from brow to chin, is almost finished on Rushmore Mountain. It is one of the group of four, including Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt. It was designed by Gutzon Borglum. He hopes to unveil the faces of Washington and Jefferson the coming Fourth of July.

Three years more will be required to complete the heads of Lincoln and Roosevelt and add the 500-word story by Coolidge. This will be engraved in letters so large that they may be read three miles away. And California is to be one of the big words in it.

LEE SIDE O' LA
BY Lee Shippey

"FELLERS," announced the hostess, "our next-door neighbor, Mr. Gaze, is going to sing."

LESLIE GAZE

Montague Glass, next to whom we were sitting (he having a pocket full of cigars,) looked about uneasily. For an exit, we suspected. But then he looked back toward the piano, relieved and surprised. It sounded almost as if Lawrence Tibbett had come into the room. There was something ringingly alive about "Mr. Gaze's" singing. "Bravo, bravo," cried Glass when he had finished. And "Monty" knows all about music.

"Who is this village prodigy?" some one whispered.

"Oh, just one of the many fine singing teachers in Los Angeles," said the hostess. "But think back a few years. Why, he was the original Chocolate Soldier in London!"

They All Come Here

So next day we dropped in on Leslie Gaze in the Beaux Arts Building, to find out something about him, for we're always interested in the way people are drawn here from far places, to aid in making Los Angeles a cultural center. And Gaze got out a couple of scrapbooks of press notices which would make many a Hollywood star goggle-eyed with envy. He was a New Zealander who had gone to England to study medicine, but in 1901 had been the star of an amateur musical show which had appeared before the King. Then he had turned professional and in numerous comic operas, including "San Toy" and "The Toreador," had made the baritone role stand out so that the London critics continually spoke of his as the best performance in the show. He had been brought to America by Frohman in 1908 and Alan Dale, among others, had found his performance outstanding and had said so in print. Frohman had been so impressed by his acting that he had given him the lead in a straight dramatic production, "The Englishman's Home." Hartley Manners had asked him to take the leading role in another play, but Reginald DeKoven had urged him to become a teacher, as he was always coaching other members of his companies.

JOHN McCORMACK

Chummed With John McCormack

After launching "The Chocolate Soldier" in London, Gaze headed a company which took that enlivening masterpiece to Australia. John McCormack was singing in Australia at the same time, and they became great friends. Gaze was an all-round athlete, held an amateur record for the 100-yard dash, had almost swum the English Channel, getting within three miles of the French shore before he had to give up. Gaze was also a splendid boxer and he persuaded McCormack to take up that athletic exercise. For weeks the two were constant companions, training and dining together daily. But Gaze was good enough to box with professional champions and again was chosen to take the leading role in a play, a dramatization of Conan Doyle's "Rodney Stone," the hero of which is a boxer.

First Talkie Star?

Back in 1908 the Cameraphone Company seriously attempted to make talking pictures in New York and Gaze was given the lead in their first attempt. But then the talkie mechanism was so faulty that the effort did not succeed.

All through his stage career Gaze was coaching other singers, for nothing. And all that time he had been longing for a quiet home about which he could putter in a garden. So when he came to Los Angeles he decided to settle here and teach. Now the man who has been a matinee idol of England, America and Australia gets more satisfaction out of making his roses grow and painting his garage and helping gifted young people develop than he used to out of his more exciting life. He has declined several offers to return to the stage and doesn't ever want to leave Southern California where he can make flowers blossom all the year.

The Herford Strain

Of course you've seen the sign, "Slow—Men at Work." Well, in our office we have a sign which used to read: "Quiet." But the other day Will Herford dropped in to see us, and after he had gone we noticed that the sign had been changed. Now it reads: "Quiet—Men Sleeping."

Isn't that just like those Herford boys, Oliver and Will?

Somewhat Mangled

A tenor named Packard saw a manuscript copy of a new song by a New York composer now in Hollywood and asked permission to sing it at a recital. After the show he asked:

"Well, how did it sound? I only had time to run over it twice before I sang it."

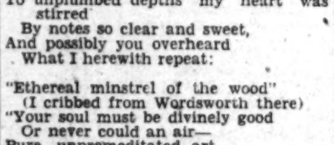
"Not badly," said the composer, cheerfully, "considering the fact that it had been run over twice by a Packard."

The New Comparison

We used to speak of colors of the rainbow
When we of many-colored zones would blurb
But now poor motor parkers,
Distressed by many markers,
Descant on "all the colors of the curb."
MAXIM WILDE.

BLESSED ARE THE POOR
Will Rogers's State, Oklahoma, has the most pretentious poorhouse on the planet. A long waiting list queues the front door. Kay county has the $60,000 institution and it is all built out of oil taxes. Dormitories, rooms with private baths, a ritzy dining-room, private hospital, a first-class chef in the pantry and no bill collector in the basement! The inmates are paid spending money for light work. We now understand the independent spirit Will manifests each morning.

SHOULD BE THANKFUL
It was a good thing for Oklahoma that Texas won the boundary dispute. The tax appraisers won't have so much territory to cover in trying to locate lots that have been blown away over night.



ONCE MORE TO A MOCKING BIRD
By James J. Montague

When first I heard your song resound
From that full, throbbing throat,
And wake the echoing woods around
To answer every note,
To unplumbed depths my heart was stirred
By notes so clear and sweet,
And possibly you overheard
What I herewith repeat:

"Ethereal minstrel of the wood"
(I cribbed from Wordsworth there)
"Your soul must be divinely good
Or never could an air—
Pure, unpremeditated art
(See Shelley) rouse the best
And noblest thoughts that move the heart
Within the listener's breast."

But quite before another verse
Was I the author of
You swooped, with something like a curse,
Upon an orange dove
Which gave a frightened coo, poor thing—
A gurgle of despair—
And on a badly damaged wing
It fled away from there.

Since then I've seen you harry wrens
And blackbirds by the swarm;
I've even seen you fly at hens
And shriek and rage and storm.
To brighten our dull human lot
Perhaps may be your mission,
But like all singers you have got
The artist's disposition.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

A MAN AND HIS MONEY
[Philadelphia Public Ledger]

Notwithstanding that during his lifetime and since his death in 1919 approximately $350,000,000 of Andrew Carnegie's fortune was distributed as gifts to philanthropic and educational undertakings, and despite his pronouncement that it was a disgrace to die rich, the Carnegie estate now amounts to $35,201,133. It has increased by $10,445,193 in eleven years. This is shown in an accounting filed by his executor and trustee. Bequests, annuities, pensions and other provisions made by the famous "iron master" for gradual disposal of the estate have not nearly equaled the income. As more than $4,000,000 of the principal gain was due to "reversion of interest on the trust funds created," it may be assumed that the estate will continue to grow. The annuity trust funds amount to more than $6,650,000, and the beneficiaries are passing away.

Able management of the estate and insufficient provision for its ultimate distribution strikingly exemplify the Scotch proverb: "The best-laid schemes o' mice an' men gang aft agley."

HE SEEMS A LITTLE WORRIED
[Detroit Free Press]

After having been the glowing beneficiary of a considerable number of imaginary "attacks," which provided him with prolonged exposures to the limelight, Tom Heflin ought to be actually exultant upon finding himself the object of an actual "persecution." But apparently he doesn't appreciate the beauties of his position.

Instead of lashing himself into a frenzy of defiant denunciation, Tom is now commencing to reconcile himself to the role of suppliant. A day or two ago, he sent a long telegram to the Democratic executive committee of his State, begging that the ban against candidates in the party primary who refused to support Gov. Smith for the Presidency, be lifted and a "fair-for-all white Democratic primary be allowed."

This is somewhat of a departure from the Senator's confident assertion of a week or two ago that he could be elected by 100,000 majority on an independent ticket, and it suggests the probability that he is beginning to see a difference between rising on the floor of the Senate and knocking out mythical issues, and facing a real, tangible situation.

REPEAL THE ONLY REMEDY
[Kansas City Star]

At a conference of safety officials in New York it was brought out that industrial and traffic accidents have been on a steady increase in the State. This can mean but one thing, the wets would say. Laws and rules designed for safety purposes cannot be enforced. People are inclined to be careless and they won't observe such regulations. Outright repeal of all safety laws is the only way to make people secure on the streets and highways or anywhere else. It's the way to build up respect for law, too.

MIGRATORY ART
BY FRED HOGUE

From Leicester Square in London to Pershing Square in Los Angeles is a "long, long way," if one counts the miles; and from England under George I to the United States under President Hoover is also a long way, if one counts the years; but the handsome, jovial Earl of Leicester, who was Vice-Chamberlain under the first of the Georges, stepped across time and space and came to look down on me this afternoon from the walls of the Biltmore Gallery.

Little matter that his Tory contemporaries called him a "vile Whig" and the Hanover satellites of the English King who could speak no English tried to displace him, he is every inch of a courtier in his scarlet waistcoat, the color of blood and wine, as Sir Godfrey Kneller, prince of painters and painter of princes, painted him.

The earl is in his early thirties. His face is round and red; not a line of dissipation or care. His blue eyes look down upon me, fearless but not arrogant. One feels that he would be equally adroit, handling a foil or riding to the hounds. In his day he was illustrious; but he shines now only in the luster of the great artist who painted him.

Sir Godfrey Kneller succeeded Sir Peter Lely as the painter of aristocracy and royalty. His record has never been equaled. Ten sovereigns, in England and on the continent, posed for him. His art was reserved for gentle blood.

Born in what is now Germany, he studied art in the Low Countries, and in his youth was a pupil of Rembrandt. As I looked at the canvas I seemed to sense the hand of the dead master directing the brush of his pupil. Rembrandt himself might have mixed the colors for that glorious scarlet coat. Well disciplined was that brush, for Kneller passed his apprenticeship in a school where great painters were made. Alike in coloring, in draughtsmanship and in the treatment of light and shade one senses the touch of the master. Before such a canvas the voice of the critic is mute. He can only admire.

When I saw Leicester this afternoon, he was in goodly company; for to the right was a glorious canvas of Mary of Orange, one of England's queens, painted by Sir Peter Lely, and to the left was pretty Nell Gwynn of Old Drury Lane, mistress of Charles II. These canvases are but part of a noted collection that Robert Vose of the famous Vose galleries of Boston has brought to the Biltmore for his annual exhibition.

Mary of Orange is painted in all the jewelry and panoply of a princess of the seventeenth century; but no pendant hangs from the coral ear of Nell Gwynn; no necklace of pearls encircles her throat; no bracelet on her slender wrists; no rings on her tapering fingers. Here is beauty unadorned. Legend has it that one of the courtiers asked Lely why she was not permitted to wear the gems so lavishly showered on her by her royal lover. And the illustrious painter replied, "The King can make her rich, but only I can make her beautiful."

From these portraits I turned to another canvas; this time a landscape, bathed in the warm atmosphere of the south of Europe; an anthem to nature, painted in the romantic, poetic style of the early eighteenth century by Richard Wilson, a painter whose canvases enrich twenty noted galleries and museums, but who was hounded by poverty from his cradle to his tomb.

What a contrast his life offers to that of Lely and Kneller, the spoiled favorites of royalty! In turning to my art library I find that Allan Cunningham, the great Scotch art critic on the Napoleonic era, wrote of him:

"Wilson, alas, was always in the power of fortune. His fine spirit was chilled and the daringness of his imagination rebuked by poverty. With a pot of porter and a crust of bread and cheese beside him, and a want of comfort visible around, did he toil on, in the hope—nay, belief—that honor and fame would come. It came, indeed, but too late for him, and he went to his grave unconscious, or at least uncertain, what his future station in art would be."

For Wilson there were no royal or aristocratic patrons; for Wilson painted only landscapes, and the smug, vain, purse-proud English nobility of the eighteenth century were as proud and stupid as so many strutting turkey cocks. The only art for which they would pay, from king to baron, was a portrait to hang in the ancestral castle.

Cunningham was fairest to him of the British critics of that era, most of whom, including Hazlett, were prigs and sycophants. They found excellence where royalty found it, and what royalty overlooked, they found unworthy. Cunningham alone, with his Scotch sense of justice, dared to give to genius in distress its due. He wrote of Wilson:

"He was one of the most poetic painters of inanimate things that ever lived; he had the rare faculty of extracting whatever was lovely or grand from the aspect of nature, of uniting the beautiful of what he saw with the beautiful of what he imagined, and forming the whole into one magnificent picture, in which all that was fair on earth was blended with all that was sublime in heaven. Nothing was to Wilson so depressing as a common scene, nothing so elevating as a poetic one; in this he resembled our great poets. A landscape of his reminds us as much, as the harmony of colors can, of the scenes in the Seasons of Thompson. All with him was poetic. He admitted nothing amusing or ordinary upon his canvas. He went out into the valleys and mountains, not so much to look upon them as to hold conversation with them. With him, romantic glens lived, picturesque hills breathed, haunted rivers spoke and the assembled clouds of heaven, edged with sunshine or touched with lightning, were something spiritual which exalted his mind and communicated supernatural brilliancy to his fancy . . . If his clouds seem overcharged with their burdens, figures of angry gods are seen dimly in them, discharging arrows at the sinning sons of men. If the scene threatens a barren magnificence, he brings us back to our sympathy by a shepherd hurrying his flock over it, or by the figure of some traveler bewildered in the splendor of hills heaped upon hills, and Alps on Alps. Or if he chooses to depict some quiet and lonely lake with the heron on its winding margin, and the shadows of lambs on its bosom, he connects it with sterner times with the outline of some castle, or keep, standing like a sentinel by the silent water, or with some now neglected temple for worship, where gods of wood or stone had niches or altars."

This criticism which I have quoted at length was written, alas, fifty years after Wilson was dead, but written a century ago. The description fits well to the canvas in the Vose collection. Wilson was proud in his poverty. He sought no commissions to paint debauched paramours of courtiers and kings. He possessed that sterling character of which Burns wrote:

"What though on hamely fare we dine,
Wear hodden gray and a' that,
Give knaves their gold and fools their wine,
A mon's a mon for a' that."

Perhaps this quotation is not literal. I have not my Burns with me at the office, and I quote only from memory. But the sense is there, although the words may be unexact.

Wilson found his divinity in nature, not in kings. He was a democrat when democracy was unpopular. Gainsborough turned from landscape to painting tinseled British aristocracy, because it was more profitable; likewise Reynolds, Lawrence, Romney and a long list of lesser lights. Great artists, they commercialized their art. Perhaps I permit my sentiment to encroach on my critical judgment, but to me Wilson was greatest of them all. And that canvas, with its radiant, singing skies, its broken rocks and its rustling trees, its poetic fancy that imparts to nature the soul of the artist is the most to be desired of the whole Vose collection.

I see the artist painting in a bare chamber under sloping English eaves, painting without hope or prospect of sale, from tubes that he starved to buy; painting to give unsullied expression to that divine spark of genius in his soul which the good God who "made and loveth all" had planted there.

One canvas I admire in the collection is a landscape by Gainsborough of "Blue Boy" fame. Gainsborough was always a landscapist at heart. I suspect that he accepted commissions for portraits that he might eat while he painted the Sussex countryside that he loved. Those landscapes are few; and each is worth many times its weight in gold. They are as simple as his portraits are ornate; always the "homely nature of rustic truth." In his landscapes are the tenderness and pathos of the lyrics of Burns. They recall "The short and simple annals of the poor."

And I have found in the study of his landscapes, especially those in the National Gallery in London, that he antedated by fifty years the French Impressionist. I quote again from Allan Cunningham, a contemporary of Gainsborough who knew him well.

"It is certain that all those odd scratches and marks, which, on a closer examination, are so observable in Gainsborough's pictures, and which, even to experienced painters, appear rather the effect of accident than design—this chaos—this uncouth and shapeless appearance, by a kind of magic, at a certain distance assumes form, and all the parts seem to drop into their proper places; so that we can hardly refuse acknowledging the full effect of diligence under the appearance of chance and hasty negligence."

That form of painting is familiar now. It has been exaggerated by many Southern California landscapists and carried to excess, but this is the earliest criticism I have found, written more than a century ago, of the beginning of modern impressionism.

There are a score of other canvases, by British, Dutch, Italian masters, equally worthy of critical comment. A canvas must be a gem in its class to find place in a Vose exhibition; he is too trained a collector to be caught by tawdry or counterfeit canvases.

Queen's Stockings in Play

Stockings once owned by Queen Victoria were featured by Renee Kelly on the opening night of her new play in London. Publicity had made the stockings famous, and she appeared in them in a bedroom scene. Immediately afterward they were taken off and placed in a fire-proof safe. "Indeed, I hardly had a chance to look at them myself," said Mis Kelly, "but I did see signs of almost a ladder so that I shall be afraid to wear them again."

Stray Pigeon Causes Fire

That a pigeon had caused a fire in a house has been reported by the fire department of Paisley, Scotland. The stray bird flew into a kitchen window during the absence of the housewife and alighted on clothing spread on a rod before a fireplace to dry. One of the articles fell in to the fire, setting the other garments ablaze and melting a gas pipe. The escaping gas fired the house. Firemen found the bird, with badly singed wings, fluttering about the floor.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

I'd hate to be a hungry boy requesting coin to buy sauerkraut, because with every sum, a lecture long is dished out. All voters dearly love to preach, to fill the air with wholesome sound; some of the lessons they would teach are useful precepts they'd expound. But few will listen to our words, men have their errands to be run; sue, they scoot around with less speed to gain another one or two. They do not care a hoot what high opinion we may hold, they will not heed a word while we shoot from the hip the words of gold. We would expound on the pebbled beach, we would journey everywhere, and preach, have little chance to hear a bear. But when a vagrant comes along and asks us for a recipe, we feel it surely would be wrong to lecture while he must drag by. The hungry man would stand and hear, if he would get some food and and drink; a chance explain, in language choice, faults that put him on the blink. If he had done as we have done, he would from us be free; he might be toiling in the sun, or rusting near the banyan tree. If he had to turn the rusty crank of some old grindstone, as we did, and put his savings in the bank, he would not wear so pants a hole he had occupied a pew in church upon each Sabbath morn, devoting all the godless crew, he'd be tattered and forlorn. If he had sought the bubbling brook when he desired to refresh instead of an illicit still, he'd be a nobler, better skate. While we talk all afternoon, while we have anything to say, and hand the man a prune and him Godspeed on his way, rather work and earn my bread or do without the meals I've had than stand and listen to the spiels that open-faced men shed.

JAMES J. PENNY IS ON VOYAGE

Long Beach Newspaper Man Stricken in Yokohama

Sudden while promenading about deck after breakfast, James J. Penny, veteran Long Beach publisher, died unexpectedly yesterday aboard the Buenos Aires in the harbor of Yokohama, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage, and cut short a world tour Mr. Penny was making in company with his wife and the latter's niece, Mrs. Nell Goodrich. It was announced last night by Mrs. Nell Taylor of Wilmington, daughter of Mrs. Goodrich, that the body would be cremated and the ashes sent to Long Beach.

Mr. Penny went to Long Beach in 1905 from Murphysboro, Ill., where he had published the Murphysboro Independent. He bought an interest in the Long Beach Telegram, founded by the late Frank C. Roberts, serving as secretary-treasurer until the death of Mr. Roberts in 1923. At that time he assumed, in addition, the editorial direction of the paper. Two years later the Telegram was merged with the Long Beach Press, whereupon Mr. Penny retired to private life. He was widely known for his activity in civic affairs of Long Beach.

The trip he was making when he died was Mr. Penny's second extensive sea voyage. A few years ago, accompanied by Mrs. Penny, he visited Europe and South America.

Mr. Penny lived at 4815 Vista street, Long Beach. Shortly before embarking on his last voyage he sold the home to Mr. and Mrs. Karl Pope, the latter a niece of Mrs. Penny.

The typically modern mind, he says, is characterized by a spirit of adventure which hails every promising change with a robust intellectual gusto.

Bowl to Draw Easter Throngs

With the probability that Easter sunrise services in the Hollywood Bowl will attract a record-breaking throng to the film capital, members of the Hollywood Boulevard Association have volunteered to assist in the preparations to accommodate the crowds, according to Gilbert Beesemyer, a director of the organization.

Work on the enlargement of the seating capacity of the Los Angeles Coliseum for the Olympic Games in 1932 prevents the staging of the usual sunrise services there, it is stated, and it is expected that the Hollywood Bowl will attract the majority of those attending interdenominational ceremonies on Easter morning.

PARK SONGBIRD ON AIR TODAY

Glenn Hood Brings Spirit of Yosemite Firefall

Designer Adrian to Appear on KHJ Program

KFI Presents Hopper in "Casey at the Bat"

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

To have been heard by close to 1,000,000 people while singing and playing beneath the firefall at Yosemite Park has been the privilege of Glenn Hood, "Songbird of the Yosemite." Each Monday on The Times Forum at 1:30 p.m. the spirit of California's national playground is brought to you by Glenn and his guitar.

Nestled beneath the sheer precipice of Glacier Point, towering 3254 feet, is the campfire circle of Camp Curry. A fire-builder on the crest of the point toils all day building a fire, the coals of which are to descend at night, a mighty fall of lava-like fire against the curtain of night. Glenn is also the stentor who cries, "Let the Fire Fall" as the camp lights are dimmed and quiet settles over the restless crowd.

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m.: Glenn Hood, "Songbird of the Yosemite." World-wide news at 12:30, 4:20 and 10 p.m.

MAJESTIC SIGHT

In the eerie-like stillness, a flood of embers creeps over the lip of the cliff above—a majestic spectacle. Down-down the face of this famous cliff pours a river of fire.

Far below sits Glenn singing the songs of the Yosemite as the stream of fire flows down to die in the lower crevasses. As the fireball passes, the lights come twinkling on again and Glacier Point is cloaked once more in its ebony, star-flecked blanket of night.

It is this spirit Glenn brings to you in his bits of song and music—a bit of life not strewn with boulevard stops and traffic tags.

KHJ at 4:30 this afternoon brings Adrian, designer, who will dress Julia Faye, film actress, before the microphone on the M.-G.-M. lot. Earl Burtnett and Raymond Paige will furnish the music for this Voice of Filmland Hour. At 7 tonight on a nonadvertising program, June Parker will sing "Turn on the Heat" and "Remembering." Charlie Wellman singing "Lady Luck" and a male chorus in "March of the Musketeers" will also be part of the broadcast. At 7:30 p.m. Lou Alter's "Manhattan Serenade," especially arranged for Merle Johnson's saxophone quartet, will be featured. Percy Grainger's "Gumsuckers' March" will also be heard. At 8 p.m. comes the Blue Monday Jamboree.

KFI at 3 p.m. presents the Los Angeles Public Library book reviewer in the first of a series of weekly talks on the newest and most significant books. At 6:30 De Wolfe Hopper will recite "Casey at the Bat" in company with Connie Mack, baseball manager, and Graham McNamee. Connie Mack will talk about baseball from the training camp at Fort Myers, Fla. At 7:30 p.m. Horace M. Albright, director of the National Park Service, will appear as guest speaker. "The Doctor's Verdict" is the title of a romance which will be enacted during this program. At 8 Rudy Seiger's Symphonists will feature musical comedy and opera excerpts. Guest artists will be Easton Kent, tenor, and Marian Gilbert, contralto.

MAE BUSCH ON PROGRAM

KNX at 7 tonight brings the Trojan Women's Trio, with Walter Ferner, 'cellist, and Nell Sheridan, accompanist. At 7:30 p.m. Mae Busch, stage and screen star, will appear in a playlet entitled, "Glad Rag Sadie," while at 8 the KNX Symphony, with Rosalie Barker Frye as guest artist, will include "Danse Boheme" from "Carmen" and "Reverie," by Leoncavallo, in an hour of chamber music and song.

KFWB features a book review at 9:30 a.m. and an aviation talk by Lieutenant-Commander Miller at 1:30 p.m. At 8 tonight "An Evening in Paris" presents Nanon and her playmates. At 8:30 a Wampas Club program will include many stars of the First National banner, among them being Joe E. Brown, Lora Lee and Alexander Grey.

Radio station KTBI, Bible Institute of Los Angeles, has been granted an increase in power from 750 watts to 1000 watts.

COLLEGE TO START NEW TERM TODAY

Sound Recording Radio and Aviation Among Modern Subjects Taught

Evening college courses in radio communication, sound recording and reproducing, aviation, air law and other modern subjects are included in the program of the 1930 spring quarter of university college, downtown division of the University of Southern California, which opens today in the Transportation Building.

Heredity, prevention of poverty, social legislation, preschool education, growth and development of the child, and education for citizenship are social scientific evening classes to meet at the Trojan night school between March and June.

Lectures on "The Presidency—its history, powers, duties and responsibilities" will be given by James Mussatti; "Kipling as an Interpreter of Indian Life" will be discussed in a series of twelve lectures by Dr. Karl T. Waugh, dean of the college of letters, arts and sciences.

Practical night classes for tailors, modistes and those interested in constructing clothes will be given in pattern designing and theory of garment making. These courses are also designed for teachers of domestic science. Adaptation of commercial patterns will also be taught.

The teen age will be studied scientifically in a course in the psychology of adolescence, in charge of Dr. John W. Todd.

Nearly forty evening courses for business men and women are listed, including advertising, accounting, investments, income-tax law and procedure, foreign trade, real estate, store operation, store organization, business statistics, credit management, economics and business law.

For club women special courses in public speaking are announced; evening classes in art and architecture, music and languages are also provided for adults.

Chambers Back New Street Car Rerouting Plans

Proposed rerouting of "C" and "P" line street cars to establish a cross-town line on Third street, as advocated by the Central Business District Association in a petition to the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation, has been indorsed by the Los Angeles and Hollywood chambers of commerce. Indorsement is expressed in letters received by Harry Philp, chairman of the traffic committee of the association.

"In approving this suggestion," says the letter from the Los Angeles chamber, "the board believes the elimination of seven curves in the downtown business district will facilitate movement of traffic and materially aid connection between Hollywood and Hollenbeck Heights via the Fourth-street viaduct."

The Hollywood indorsement reads in part as follows: "Our transportation committee is of the opinion that such a change would be helpful not only from a street-car operation standpoint, but from a general traffic standpoint as well."

Fortune Smiles on Newcomer to Hollywood

While some may complain of Hollywood's cold and unsympathetic behavior toward ambitious young women seeking their fortune there, Claudia Dell has found it very cordial. Within three days after she had arrived virtually unheralded, Warner Brothers assigned to her the stellar role in "Sweet Kitty Bellairs," a feature picture now in production.

CLAUDIA DELL

Although Miss Dell has scored successes in Ziegfeld productions in New York and London, she was without screen prestige when she arrived in the film colony. She attributes her good fortune partly to luck and partly to her ability to survive rigid tests as to her voice and screen personality once a chance was given her.

She is a blond of an unusual type and her type of beauty is said to screen remarkably well.

MEMORY OF FRIAR WILL BE HONORED

Lloyd of the American Catholic church will speak on "Revering the Saints."

Orra E. Monette will act as chairman and will speak, representing officially John Austin, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The committee having the matter in charge is composed of Orra Monette, chairman, Everett P. Teasdale, secretary, Mrs. Florence Dodson-Shoneman, Mrs. Oliver C. CROPS LOOK GOOD, SAYS RAIL MAN

Santa Fe Official Can See No Depression in Business, He Asserts

"If there is anything wrong with the country at present it is due to the fact that we are suffering a little from growing pains," declared F. B. Houghton, vice-president of the Santa Fe system lines in charge of traffic, upon his arrival from the East last night.

"There is no great business depression," he said. "The stock market disturbance is behind us and before long all industries will again equal or exceed the record of 1929. The improvement will be gradual. We had a peak year in 1926, but along came 1929 and the record fell. This will happen again within another year or so as history is bound to repeat."

Houghton came to California for a stay of two or three weeks following a trip through several other Santa Fe States where, he says, the agricultural outlook at this season of the year never was better. The prospects for a wheat crop are particularly bright, and recent rains have been a great help to the livestock industry.

The Santa Fe, he says, is looking forward to a heavy summer travel to California, about May first when low round-trip excursion rates will be in effect from all points in the East. Freight tonnage is off slightly due to a curtailment of production in a few lines of industry, such as copper and coal, but Mr. Houghton says there will be a general return to normalcy when the Hoover building campaign gets under way.

Japanese to Give City 100 Flower Trees

Although Federal plant quarantine authorities recently turned down the proposal of K. Mutow, Japanese restaurant man, who offered to send to Japan for 100 cherry trees and donate them to Los Angeles, the city is to get the cherry trees after all.

Mutow has managed to locate 100 of the seedlings in Seattle and his offer to donate them has been accepted by the Park Commission, which will have them planted in North Hollywood Park. The commission also have given him permission to plant one of the seedlings in the State grove in Exposition Park, at a date to be announced later, the planting to be accompanied by some ceremony.

Mutow, who has been in the United States thirty years, says he desires to show appreciation in this manner for the courtesy extended to him by Americans.

CONTEST SPURS PATRIOTIC ZEST

Constitutional Study Aids Winning of Aliens

Foreign-Born Pupils Write Commendable Essays

Love of Country Regarded Educational Influence

There are probably more nationalities represented in the public schools of California than in the schools of any other State of the Union, excepting New York. The founders of the Oratorical Contest on the Constitution had this in mind when they conceived the idea of introducing such a contest into the schools of the State. To absorb the foreign-born children or children of foreign-born parents into the body politic and make patriotic American citizens of them by grounding them in the fundamentals of American institutions through a more thorough knowledge of the Constitution than can be gained in the short time given to it in high school courses, was one of its compelling motives.

MANY FOREIGN BORN

There are communities in the State that were colonized almost exclusively by one nationality. For instance, 90 per cent of the students of Kingsburg High School are Scandinavians. Of the Fowler High School, 42 per cent are Armenians, with a scattering of other nationalities. Then there are schools with mixed nationalities. Last year Owensmouth had five winning contestants in their preliminary tryouts, all of different nationalities. The Fresno Edison Technical High School would represent a modern Babel if all the pupils of that school talked in their own languages, for there are twenty-eight different nationalities attending this school.

It is interesting to note that the schools of foreign-born pupils attack the Contest on the Constitution with even more zest than the schools of the native born. In reporting activities at Edison Technical School, Fresno, Blanche Cotti, student reporter, says: "It is likely the best orations will be written by students of the various nationalities."

Referring to the subject of children of foreign-born parents in the public schools of California and the responsibility of educators in molding them into patriots of their adopted country, Prof. Alan Nichols, director of the Times Oratorical Contest Bureau, said:

"H. G. Wells, in his series of articles planning to end war, which has just been concluded by The Times, says that patriotism is not innate but an 'acquired characteristic,' a matter of suggestion and tradition. It depends entirely upon the educational influence brought to bear upon the child. Patriotism is made a little by home and social atmosphere, to some extent by books, more, perhaps, by newspapers, and mainly by the teaching of history in our public schools."

He illustrates by saying a baby of Italian parents raised from birth by English foster parents, will become a "passionate English patriot," and vice versa, a baby of English birth raised in Italy by Italian foster parents, will grow up a conscious and determined Italian."

GRAND DUKE QUOTED

"In view of these facts, which were well understood by the founders of the Contest on the Constitution, it is the part of the educators of this country to teach the children, and especially the children of foreign-born parentage, the history of America and the meaning of the Constitution and the blessings that flow from it. Moreover it is the duty of educators to stamp out any heresies that may wedge in among the students.

Grand Duke Alexander of Russia is in Los Angeles and is reported as saying, "America must be alert to the danger of Red propaganda obtaining a foothold for sovietism over here. They are very clever propagandists and have an organization highly disciplined, as illustrated by the recent Red demonstration all over the world. The Oratorical Contest on the Constitution is doing its part, in an educational way to keep the youth of the the land true to American principles and ideals."

DAUGHTER OF MEXICO WILL WED

Senorita Vasconcelos to Marry Man of Choice at Plaza Church Today

Senorita Maria del Carmen Vasconcelos, daughter of Jose Vasconcelos, defeated candidate for the Presidency of Mexico at the last election, will be wed in Los Angeles today to Hermino Ahumada, Jr., Mexican athlete. The marriage will be solemnized at 10 a.m. in the Church of Our Lady of the Angels at the Plaza. It will be strictly private in nature, only a few intimate friends of the couple and their respective families having been invited to attend.

Senor Vasconcelos, father of the bride-to-be, will be absent, business having detained him in Guatemala. He extended the parental blessing before his departure. In his absence Senor Juan B. Ruiz, who acted as his manager in the pre-election campaign, will give the bride away in the presence of her mother, Senora Carmen Vasconcelos. The bride will be attended by Senora Elena A. Ruiz as matron of honor and the bridegroom by Andres Peprero as best man.

After the ceremony the couple will spend a honeymoon in Northern California and on their return will make their home at Chula Vista.

Senorita Vasconcelos is a student at University of California at Los Angeles. The bridegroom is a brother of Francisco Ahumada, assistant general manager of the Agua Caliente Company. He is a graduate of the National University of Mexico and represented his country at the Paris Olympic Games. He met his bride-to-be while stumping for her father.

SCHOOLS OF ORCHESTRA CONTRASTED

Victorian Tschaikowsky Dominates Program at Philharmonic

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Dr. Artur Rodzinski, conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, presented Giles Gilbert, a young pianist, in Debussy's rarely heard fantasie for piano and orchestra yesterday. The balance of the program was from the pen of Tschaikowsky; the "Pathetique" symphony, the Polonaise from "Eugene Onegin" and a stunning military finale with much beating of drums and flaring of fifes, the "Marche Slave."

The contrast of Gilbert's Debussy, played with a French delicacy, subtlety of nuance and refinement characteristic of this composer against the Tschaikowsky, even though superbly played, was marked and welcome. Gilbert is quite evidently in sympathy with the French impressionistic school and in this work he exhibited the innate grace and unusual elegance which it requires.

This was, according to the program, the first presentation in America of the Fantasie, and it is also stated that the number was not allowed to be performed until after Debussy's death, because of his published disparagements of the classical form. The point referring to the form is not very well taken, for although it adheres to the sonata skeleton, it is very free and seems to float dreamily over lines and rules. This indefinite outline was well handled by the pianist, and the orchestra managed not to spoil this charm, although the kindest thing one could say about the accompaniment is that it was fairly adequate. Certainly its orchestral possibilities were not realised.

Mr. Gilbert is unusual in knowing his own style, which is distinctly the Debussy type. He is developing a personality and has the necessary equipment both mental and technical, so Los Angeles may congratulate itself on acquiring a new and promising artist.

Dr. Rodzinski's interpretation of the familiar sixth symphony of Tschaikowsky reached again a high peak of achievement.

NOTABLES TO ATTEND PREMIERE

"Rah Rah Daze" Starts Run Tomorrow Night at Mason Theater

Harold Lloyd, Jack Oakie, Joan Bennett, Jack Mulhall, Nancy Carr... and other prominent film stars have made reservations for the premiere of Fred Waring's new musical show, "Rah Rah Daze," at the Mason Theater tomorrow night.

Waring's Pennsylvanians, noted orchestra entertainers; Dorothy Lee, youthful R.-K.-O. dancing star of "Rio Rita;" Jack White, comedian from George White's "Scandals;" Evalyn Nair, specialty dancer, and Three Girl Friends, crooning trio, are featured. There are also a brilliant supporting cast and chorus.

"Rah Rah Daze" scored with capacity audiences at the Lobero Theater, Santa Barbara, Friday and Saturday nights. These two performances are said to have whipped the show into smooth running order for tomorrow night's premiere.

Roy Del Ruth Invents Film Laugh Meter

A laugh meter is Roy Del Ruth's newest contribution to motion pictures. He introduced the result of his invention at the local premiere of "Hold Everything" at Warners' Hollywood Theater.

By this means he has solved the puzzle of adjusting the dialogue of a picture, so that the laughter of the audience will not cover up speeches subsequent to comedy situations. It is said to be an unviolable rule on the stage that actors must not proceed with their dialogue or business while the audience is laughing. If the spectators perceive that a character is talking, they will suppress their laughter to hear what is being said. This, says Del Ruth, defeats the purpose of comedy, which is to allow laughs to have their full momentum.

But on the screen it has been difficult to allow for this requirement. Laughs do not always come at the same place and with the same volume at every performance. Del Ruth believes he has solved the problem by spotting the probable laughs as the picture is run, and allowing for a lapse in dialogue by resorting to pantomime, which does not retard the progress of the story and permits the comedy to have full play with the audience.

New Version of 'Phantom' Next Criterion Film

"Men Without Women" closes its engagement at the Criterion Theater tomorrow night. On Wednesday morning the Criterion will present the new version of "The Phantom of the Opera," starring Lon Chaney.

Everyone but Lon Chaney talks in the Universal film. A symphonic orchestra of 150 pieces has been added.

Mary Philbin and Norman Kerry have their first talking-picture roles in "The Phantom." One of the interesting features of the new picture is the means by which talking by the Phantom, played by Chaney, is avoided in the production, it is said.

Gaston Leroux's mystery is known the world over. It provides spectacle with a cast of 5000. The sewers of Paris and the underground passages underneath the Paris operahouse are the scenes of much of the action.

Beauty Marks "Happy Days"

Sharon Lynn

Is one of the prominent members of the large cast which enacts the first film to be made in Grandeur, and which is now showing at the Carthay Circle Theater.

WESTERN FILM ANNOUNCED

"Under a Texas Moon," featuring Frank Fay with a notable cast, comes to Warner Brothers Downtown Theater Friday. It is an adaptation of Stewart Edward White's "The Two-Gun Man."

This picture recounts the gay adventures of another Don Juan, an ingratiating liar, who, with two guitar-strumming companions, makes pilgrimages through the cattle country, capturing thieves and barely escaping capture—only to ride jauntily on, hunting new adventure.

The cast is headed by Frank Fay as Don Carlos. Included are Armida, Raquel Torres, Myrna Loy, Mona Maris, Betty Boyd and Edythe Kramers. Western villains are played by Noah Beery, Tully Marshall, Georgie Stone, George Cooper and Fred Kohler. Michael Curtis directed.

"Under a Texas Moon" is said to capture the spirit of romance. There are scenes of pasture-lands with thousands of cattle, Indians in gay blankets, beads and feathers, Spanish beauties, rose-covered haciendas, cloud formations, trees and shimmering water.

Pirate Days Recalled in 'Hell Harbor'

"Hell Harbor," film drama which starts at the United Artists Theater on Wednesday, with the tempestuous Lupe Velez in the starring role, tells a story of the glamorous days, when pirates roamed the seas—sporting cutlasses and black eyes. It is said to wind its way through a series of exciting events, and finally concludes as all stories must conclude—with the vivacious heroine in the arms of her mate.

Henry King, the director, sought for many months for a suitable location in which to film the story, and finally settled on Rocky Point, a promontory a few miles east of Tampa, Fla. Here the technical staff constructed a large set representing a Caribbean village, and assembled a vast amount of sound-recording equipment, transported from the studio in Hollywood.

Fifteen weeks were spent in Florida in filming the picture. Lupe Velez's supporting cast in "Hell Harbor" includes Jean Hersholt, John Holland, Gibson Gowland and Al St. John.

Grace Stafford to Enact Chief Role in Drama

When "Broken Dishes," the Martin Flavin comedy now running in New York, is presented at El Capitan, starting Sunday, the chief feminine role will be enacted by Grace Stafford. The actress, last seen here in "Girl Trouble" with Eugene O'Brien, will have the role of Elaine Bumpsted, the youngest daughter of the Bumpsted household.

Percy Pollock, noted character acter—last seen here in "Lightnin'"—heads the cast as Cyrus Bumpsted, the downtrodden and overworked husband and father, and others include Alma Chester, Joan Warner, Helen Kleeb, Melville Ruick, Thomas Chatterton, Thomas L. Brower, Lloyd Neal and Donald Campbell. Edwin H. Curtis is directing the rehearsals.

Stage Supplants Planter Career for Peter Shaw

By a curious twist of fate, Peter Shaw, who injects spontaneity and boyish enthusiasm into the role of Kenneth Ragland in "Rope's End" at the Vine Street Theater, became an actor. The stage has not been his real goal since he was a youngster. It was, rather, a plantation in Malaya, where he went as a youth, caught black water fever, and was sent back to London.

Shaw played juvenile leads in "Sally," "The O'Brien Girl," "The Last Waltz" and "The Maid of the Mountains" in London and Australia. He appeared in two talking pictures in London and then came to California. Though Shaw is on the way up the ladder of success, he still wants to be a planter.

THRONGS USED

Walter Lang made use of one of the largest stages on the Educational lot to accommodate hundreds of extras who appeared as the audience in the fight scenes for "The Big Fight," which he is directing for James Cruze Productions. Larry McGrath, former champion, supervised these scenes.

Noted Musical Show Scheduled for Majestic

"The New Moon," musical romance with Perry Askam and Josephine Houston in the leading roles, is now in its tenth and final week at the Majestic Theater. Lillian Albertson, the producer, has announced that before the operetta is taken to San Francisco, she will present a revival of "The Desert Song," the spectacular musical, starting Sunday night.

PERRY ASKAM

The cast of "The Desert Song" will be headed again by Perry Askam as the Red Shadow, a role in which he formerly scored. Josephine Houston, gifted prima donna, will appear opposite.

Members of the original cast who will again appear are David Reese, Gary C. Breckner, John Merkyl, Nanette Vallon, Myrtis Crinley, Charles Villar, John Wagner, Dee Lorstta and Howard Nugent. Cecil Stewart will lead the orchestra.

"The Desert Song" was offered over 700 times during its former run on the West Coast.

'She Steps Out' Starts Thursday at Loew's State

"She Steps Out" and Singer's Midgets will vie in a private popularity contest between screen and stage at Loew's State Theater starting Thursday.

The picture is said to be a hilarious Fox Movietone comedy of family life. The stage attraction will be a Fanchon and Marco presentation of the renowned midget organization. This will be its first visit to Los Angeles in some time.

William Collier, Sr., duplicating on the screen the brand of humor that gained him note as a leading comedian of the stage, is featured in the film production with Marguerite Churchill, Elizabeth Patterson, Charlotte Henry, Dixie Lee, Rex Bell and Charles Eaton.

Ritz Will Hold Temple Benefit

A benefit will be given Tuesday afternoon at the Ritz Theater for the Temple Emanu-El. The temple has suffered financial difficulties, it is said, and the benefit will assist in providing sufficient funds to save it.

A new picture that has never been shown will be donated by Fox, as well as the theater. Several movie and radio favorites will make personal appearances. George Harris will be master of ceremonies and Joe Adams and Tom Murray, who will be seen in Pan-American Pictures, will sing.

JANNEY FINISHING

William Janney finishes work this week in "The Right of Way," the First National picture in which he plays brother to Loretta Young and brother-in-law to Conrad Nagel.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

WITH a trifle more fanfare than attended her departure as a slip of a girl from these parts some odd years ago, Miss Madge Kennedy, now one of the country's leading actresses, arrived in Los Angeles last night.

She came, with ten fellow-performers, to appear in "The Perfect Alibi," the A. A. Milne mystery comedy which Charles L. Wagner is presenting, beginning tonight, at the Biltmore Theater. The play will be shown for one week only, as Miss Kennedy is due back in San Francisco a week from today to appear in her favorite comedy, "Paris Bound."

As a matter of fact, rehearsals for "Paris Bound" will be held in Los Angeles, Miss Kennedy confided to me last night. Donald MacDonald, who played in the original production, will arrive from New York this morning for the first rehearsal at 11 o'clock. Richie Ling will be seen as Miss Kennedy's father.

If Los Angeles playgoers like "The Perfect Alibi," Miss Kennedy says that Mr. Wagner may bring "Paris Bound" south also. The play is not booked here as yet.

Tonight's performance should take on the radiance of a welcome home party for Miss Kennedy. It marks her first appearance here since "Little Miss Brown," some ten or so years ago. And that was her only local portrayal, although she is a Los Angeles girl.

For Miss Kennedy, as most people up on their celebrities know, attended the old Santos grammar school and was well into her first term at Los Angeles High School when her mother, who accompanied her as far as San Francisco on this trip west, moved east and Miss Madge went along. Then it was art school, instead of high school and in a year or so the stage.

Her first engagement proved a lead in a touring company of "Genius" with Henry Woodruff. Next, she followed Margaret Lawrence in "Over Night" and then came her big chance on Broadway in the title role of "Little Miss Brown." Later she brought this play west.

There have been any number of successes since then.

With Miss Kennedy in the A. A. Milne comedy starting tonight will be Richie Ling, Alan Bunce, A. P. Kaye, Barbara Hastings, Horace Sinclair, Sidney Paxton, Lionel Hogarth, Carson Davenport, Ada Sinclair and Leo G. Carroll.

Ian Maclaren in Part

Ian Maclaren is holding down the part which Boyd Irwin had in "The Romantic Young Lady" at the Music Box. Maclaren, who created this role in the New York production, went into it on a few hours' notice at the Saturday matinee when Irwin signed a contract to appear in the new Cecil B. De Mille picture, "Madame Satan."

Children Give Novel Program at Music Box

Children had their day yesterday when the Children's Playhouse presented a varied program at the Music Box Theater. Dancing, singing and vaudeville stunts were all offered by children for children who have acquired a taste for such things via the movies and vaudeville stage. Then there were the little fantasies which children of all ages and places have loved.

A lot of professional talent made up this program; and a lot of talent, though not professional, which was equally good. The dances which Philippe De Lacy and Anita Louise performed drew "Oh's" and "Ah's" of hero-worship. Billy Seaey and Dick Winslow were other "notables" who contributed. The latter, in his "Little Bit of Everything," displayed an artistic and musical versatility. One of the rare inclusions of grown-ups in the program was Phil La Toska.

The extremes in ensembles were given in a sophisticated group of singing and dancing numbers by very young misses, and in the Mother Goose number in which a number of children portrayed the nursery-rhyme characters.

There seemed to be as many grown-ups as children in the well-packed audience who took to the show in much the same manner as fathers do to Junior's Christmas train of cars. A repetition of the program will be given Sunday afternoon.

Lillian Harmer Takes Original Role in Drama

Lillian Harmer plays her original role of the faithful serving maid, Tibbie McNair, in "Helena's Boys" with May Robson and the Henry Duffy Players at the Hollywood Playhouse. Miss Harmer created the part when Miss Robson first starred in the comedy a few seasons ago.

For fifteen years Miss Harmer has played in Miss Robson's company. She was engaged originally as the comedienne's private secretary and she found herself thrust on the stage as the result of the illness of an actress in the company. Since then she has been acting continuously and has created a long list of eccentric comedy characters.

NEED OF SUPERNATURAL IN RELIGION SET FORTH

Adjt. Howell of Salvation Army Declares Morality and Ethics Alone Will Not Suffice

Religions based on morality and systems of ethics are lacking in that spiritual dynamic necessary for their preservation and essential for the complete comfort of the heart of humanity, according to Adjt. Frank Howell. In his sermon at Salvation Army Temple yesterday he declared that when the supernatural is eliminated from religion "there remains only the husk of a dead, formal human organization."

"Wherever there is no open vision, not only do the people perish but the very spirit of religion dies," said Adjt. Howell. "The Bible is full of visions, from Moses to Revelation. Paul was made by a vision. Luther had a vision and the Reformation came. John Wesley had a vision and Methodism was born. Gen. Booth had a vision and the Salvation Army came into being. God of old spoke to His people through prophets, and later through His Son. Only through and by visions does God speak to us today."

"WETS" SCORED BY DR. BRUCE BROWN

Listening to "nonsense" and the unwillingness to face facts cause most of the troubles of humanity, according to Dr. Bruce Brown who preached yesterday at South Park Christian Church. Dr. Brown said in part:

"Here are some of the fool statements that people accept as gospel truth: 'There is more liquor being sold now than ever before.' And this in face of the fact that we are only a few years away from the old saloon days. 'The prohibition law can't be enforced.' Yet anybody can know that it is being enforced far better than any other law regulating liquor ever was enforced. 'We are not in favor of the return of the open saloon.' What would the places be called where wines and beer would be sold? 'We are in favor of true temperance.' Yeah? That's what every brewer, distiller and booser always says. Of course they think that less liquor would be sold if they had their way!"

PASTOR DISCUSSES CASE OF INNOCENTS

"Every pastor has experienced the unfavorable attitude shown by many persons toward the teaching of the Bible that 'without shedding of blood there is no remission of sins,'" said Dr. George Dorn in his sermon yesterday at Hollywood Lutheran Church.

"Some persons say that it is unjust that one should suffer for another, that such an idea is revolting to reason," said Dr. Dorn. "However, there is nothing more plain in history than that men and women suffer the natural punishment for sins of which they are not guilty. Shall any person who ever suffered for another find it hard to understand Christ's suffering for humanity? The principle of sacrifice is the dominant note in our religion."

PROPER EDUCATION HELD WORLD'S HOPE

"The problem of education is not to eradicate human nature but to harness it and express it through useful and beautiful channels," said Rabbi E. F. Magnin in his sermon yesterday at Temple B'nai B'rith. Dr. Magnin spoke in part as follows:

"We cannot change the world quickly. Revolutions make only for temporary changes. When things quiet down people resume their old ways of thinking and of living. They get back into the same old rut. This has been proved time and again. Our hope is the slow, gradual, constructive, patient and intelligent method of education in the home, school and through the medium of our religious institutions. Occasionally outstanding individuals arise, fired with genius and vision, who strike hard and desire rapid changes. Most people are not of their type and the masses never understand them, and generally distort what they say. In the long run most of our problems cannot be handled that way."

WRITINGS OF SAVIOR IN HEARTS OF MEN

"The Message of Jesus" was the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Rev. M. E. Dutt at University Christian Church. Mr. Dutt said in part:

"We have no words from the hand of Jesus; no fragment of granite, no bit of parchment or papyrus bearing any authentic message from His own personal hand. We have what other men wrote down a long time after he went away. Jesus, Himself, left no books. He had something better in mind. We wrote His message in the hearts of men. After He was gone He did not want them to spend their lives musing and mumbling over what He might have written. He wished them to be living vessels carrying a great spiritual dynamic."

CONCENTRATION HELD KEY TO ALL PROGRESS

"Scientific Concentration" was the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Bramacharee Nerode at Mt. Washington Center. Excerpts from the sermon follow:

"According to the expert evidence of all occultists, concentration is the technical basis of all progress and undoubtedly it is the way to perfection. If we go back to the teachings of the ancient savants of Egypt, India and other lands, we will find that the practice of concentration constitutes the main basis of progress of all nations. The great sages have always laid stress on concentration. Concentration in relation to perfection stands as a scientifically proved fact."

MATTER DISCUSSED BY CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS

"Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof; but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever." These words of John constituted the Golden Text in the lesson-sermon on "Matter" yesterday at all branches of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

One of the Bible texts presented Paul's exhortation, "And be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, says: "It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for sinful beliefs to enter the kingdom of heaven, eternal harmony. Through repentance, spiritual baptism and regeneration, mortals put off their material beliefs and false individuality."

PRAGMATISM TOPIC IN SWAMI'S SERMON

"The Pragmatism of Jesus and Buddha" was discussed yesterday by Swami Dhiranada at Figueroa Playhouse. The speaker said in part:

"If a thing works it is true. This is the heart of pragmatism. It is the philosophy of the practical men and hence so much emphasized in this country. If a thing produces good results, it is all right. 'A tree is known by its fruit.' This pragmatic statement of the New Testament has spiritual significance. What conduces to the welfare of man and society is sanctioned by pragmatism and what is a mere jumble of words is condemned by it. So say Jesus and Buddha. However, unlike modern pragmatists, both pointed out in what the true welfare of man consists. Jesus says it is in worshiping God and loving man. Buddha says it is in the contemplation of Being and compassion toward all."

AMERICAN CHURCH CONSIDERS RUSSIA

The condition of religion in Russia was the subject considered at the service of the American Church, Westlake Theater, Sunday morning. The speakers were Archbishop Frederick E. J. Lloyd of the American Catholic Church and Dr. Frank Dyer. The Archbishop said: "Our sympathies are very strong for the Russian people. They are suffering from a wrong method of repression and persecution followed in the past, in which the present leaders of Russia saw religious organization bound up with oppressive policies and who are now unfortunately following the same policies themselves. Two wrongs do not make a right. We join our prayers with the faithful in all lands that the freedom of religion and freedom of the state may both be established. Dr. Dyer said: "When we pray for the Russian people in the great hour of their need we are taking them to our own hearts and we are lifting them up to the heart of God."

SUPPOSED MARRIAGE DESCRIBED

Self-Asserted Wife Says Jack Kearns Was Wed to Her in Atlantic City

Details of her asserted marriage to Jack Kearns, manager of pugilists, are revealed in a depoeition by Mrs. Legann Kearns, filed in Municipal Court in connection with her suit against Kearns for $3000, asserted due on an agreement to pay her $500 a month until the couple are divorced. The deposition was taken in New York the 10th inst.

In the deposition, the woman swears that she and Kearns were married August 4, 1921, in the office of Mayor Keeler of Atlantic City by a man named Burns, whom she describes as the marriage clerk in the Mayor's office. There were no witnesses present, she asserts. Following the ceremony, the deposition relates, she and Kearns left the office and the latter sent her to California immediately. He gave her a platinum wedding ring before the ceremony, she says. They finally separated on November 10, 1923, she says.

A photostatic copy of the agreement, which Kearns, in his answer to the complaint admits signing, is on file in Municipal Court. In it he agrees to pay her $500 monthly from March 24, 1924, until such time as one or the other obtains a divorce. Kearns, in his answer, declares that the agreement was made under coercion and threats that he would be "ruined financially and disgraced publicly by adverse publicity" unless he signed. The complaint asserts that Kearns failed to pay the woman the $500 due her in September, October, November and December, 1929.

SCOUT LEADER WILL TALK

James B. West, national chief Scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, will discuss the necessity for character-building features in child welfare work at a meeting of the Council of Social Agencies, composed of county, city, Community Chest and private charitable organizations to be held in the auditorium of the Broadway Department Store at 11 a.m. today. Social workers not affiliated with the council, whether within or without the city, are also invited.

E. B. DeGroot, chairman of the character-building committee of the council and local executive of Boy Scouts, will preside.

Mr. West has held his present position of chief executive of the Boy Scouts since 1910, the year of its inception. He is a member of a committee of President Hoover's child welfare investigation and in the past has acted as counselor for four Presidents of the United States on social welfare matters.

Man Accused of Following Girls Cuts Up Capers

When Nellie and Ruby Graves of 1425 South Hoover street were followed to their home early yesterday morning by a strange man, they locked the front door and called police.

A few minutes later Officers Malmowski and Marienthal, accompanied by the girls, apprehended a man giving the name of Louis F. Buchanan, 29 years of age, of 336 South Hope street in the vicinity. The girls stated he was the man who had followed them home.

On the way to the Georgia-street Police Station Buchanan is said to have kicked his feet through the windshield of the police car and to have struck at the driver. As a consequence he was given first-aid treatment at the Receiving Hospital before being booked on a charge of drunkenness.

GREAT NORTHERN CUTS TRAIN'S RUNNING TIME

A reduction of one hour and fifteen minutes in the westbound running time of the Empire Builder, operating between Chicago and the Pacific Coast, has been announced by the Great Northern Railway, according to an official telegram received from St. Paul yesterday by W. E. McCormick, general agent in Los Angeles. Beginning the 30th inst., the train will delay its departure from Chicago one hour and a quarter, leaving there at 10:15 p.m. and arriving at Portland and Seattle at 10 a.m. of the third morning out. About a year ago, the Great Northern reduced by five hours the fastest passenger schedules in the Northwest.

The five were arraigned before Commissioner Head. John F. Smith furnished bail of $5000 and was released, pending hearing.

It is asserted that the five planned to transport the Chinese from a point below Mexicali, first by automobile and then by airplane on the American side. George V. Grey, Harold A. Sweet and Eddie Collins are being held under $2500 bail. George E. Flaherty, said to be owner of the plane, was released on bail of $2500.

The attempt is said to have been made on the 12th inst., on which day, it is charged, Smith, Grey, Sweet and Flaherty held a conference in a Hollywood cafe.

YOUNGSTERS TRAVEL ALONE

Escorts Unnecessary on Long Trip

They're Here, Bag and Baggage

Richard Smythe plays conductor at end of journey from Chicago, while Cecilia Lewinski, from Duluth, Minn., clings to role of passenger.

THE Union Pacific Los Angeles Limited had a new conductor when it arrived at Central Station yesterday—and it was his first run.

"All out for Los Angeles," shouted 6-year-old Richard Smythe as the limited pulled into the station and he swung from the platform like a veteran—wearing the conductor's cap.

Richard made his first trip on a train—and alone—from Chicago. Nearly a year ago his mother came to Los Angeles from the Windy City while Richard stayed with other members of his family until she sent for him.

On the same train was Cecilia Lewinski, 11, who also traveled from Duluth, Minn., alone.

Judge Bullock Raps Separate Laws for Sexes

Opposition to restrictive legislation based on sex was expressed yesterday by Municipal Judge Georgia Bullock speaking before Seventh District delegates to the spring conference of the Zonta Club, international service organization, at the Breakfast Club.

Judge Bullock expressed herself as favoring "education that will instruct industry how to treat both men and women without resorting to legislation that discriminates on account of sex."

In the belief that restrictive legislation will form a major matter for consideration at the forthcoming Seattle convention of Zonta Club International, delegates at yesterday's session were instructed to inform themselves of its various phases.

The next meeting will be luncheon at the Biltmore tomorrow, at which Judge Bullock again will speak.

County Board Head Improves

Supervisor R. F. McClellan, who has been ill for the past few days at Santa Monica Hospital, is doing nicely and will be able to be out again within four or five days, according to his attending physician, Dr. A. B. Hromadka.

The official took a cold several weeks ago and was unable to get rid of it, finally reaching a stage where hospital attention was necessary.

Film Pair Must Appear in Court

Failure of Sally O'Neill, film actress, and Barry Norton, juvenile screen actor, to appear in Traffic Court last week, disappointed Municipal Judge Valentine. The judge is so anxious to see the pair that he issued bench warrants for their arrest, with instructions to police officers to give them a free ride to court if they fail to go voluntarily.

Miss O'Neill, court records revealed, parked in a bus zone at Orange Drive and Hollywood Boulevard on the 3rd inst., and failed to post bail or to appear in court to explain her infraction of the traffic laws. Her address, as given to the arresting officer, is El Royale Apartments. Young Norton, who resides at 1761 Yucca street, failed to make a boulevard stop at Western avenue and Hollywood Boulevard on February 28, last, the complaint against him recites. He failed to appear to answer the charge.

TREE PLAN APPROVED

Use of oaks and shrubbery native to this section of California in reforestation of the burned area in Griffith Park, recommended by the tree planting committee of the American Green Cross, has been approved by the Park Commission.

OFFICER'S BEAT BEATS ALL FOR NIGHT OF EXCITEMENT

Offering his reports in evidence, Policeman L. O. Lawson of Georgia-street division yesterday was challenging fellow-officers to narrate a more exciting succession of adventures than had beset his own Saturday night beat.

Lawson, the records reveal, first arrested a burglary suspect lurking in the shadows near Hoover and Twentieth streets. The man is booked as James H. Mahoney, 25 years of age, no address. Next, the policeman took two seamen in custody for vagrancy at Hoover and Pico streets. They are Cornelius Van Dernierwuendyk and George Butler.

And then came the climax to Lawson's nocturnal melodrama.

"I was standing in front of a chop suey parlor at 1371 West Twenty-fourth street," he said, "when I saw a young man run out of the place, dash across the street, jump into an automobile and drive away at a speed of sixty miles an hour. I leaped into my own car and pursued him, but after driving for several miles I gave up the chase as he had eluded me.

"I returned to the vicinity of the cafe and in a few minutes I saw the same car drive up to another machine parked across the street. I stepped out into the street intending to investigate the suspect when he suddenly put his machine into second gear and drove it directly at me.

"To keep from being run down I jumped back onto the sidewalk, but he kept coming toward me. The front wheels of the car leaped the curbing and I had to dodge back into a near-by doorway to keep from being run over.

"All this happened very quickly so by the time I could get my revolver out I noticed that there were two men in the car and that one of them was leveling a revolver at me. He did not fire it as his companion suddenly drove the car away."

Officer Lawson stated he did not discover who the men are or why they attempted to run him down. After he reported the occurrence squads of officers searched the neighborhood but failed to rediscover the juggernautical machine and its mysterious occupants.

That guns are used as local currency in Northern Rhodesia has just been revealed by the action of the government in reducing the customs duty on muzzle-loading guns.

"I have been using a Ben-Hur Healthful Coffee-Maker with Ben-Hur Drip Coffee since they first appeared on the market. Before that time I could not drink coffee except in the morning. A night's sleep was too big a price to pay for a cup of coffee. Now I can take a cup of Ben-Hur Drip Coffee and go to sleep an hour later.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

Formal announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. George B. Alexander of 1335 North Vista street, Hollywood, of the engagement of their daughter Dorothy to Rahmel F. Nelson, son of Mrs. Nellie A. Nelson of Melrose avenue. The news was told at a charmingly appointed affair given St. Patrick's Day at the new Sigma Kappa Sorority house at University of California at Los Angeles in Westwood.

Both Miss Alexander and Mr. Nelson were graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles, the former being affiliated with Sigma Kappa and the latter a member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity. The wedding is to be an event of the early fall.

Smart Affair

Honoring Miss Dorothy Thayer of Springfield, Mo., who is a guest of Miss Louise Gordon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Gordon in South June street, Mrs. Fred Le Blond, sister of Miss Gordon, is entertaining tomorrow afternoon with a luncheon party, the affair to take place at the Gordon home.

Miss Thayer has been visiting here for some time, being house guest of Mrs. Gerold Mangenheimer as well as Miss Gordon.

Dinner Party

Honoring their daughter, Mrs. Alfred Dewey Davey, Mr. and Mrs. John Gillespie Bullock are giving a dinner party at their home in South Plymouth Boulevard Thursday evening.

Smart Affair

Among the delightfully appointed affairs of recent date was the luncheon and bridge party given at the Beverly Hills Hotel by Mrs. Edward Moses and Mrs. Arthur Moses honoring Mrs. L. E. Moses, formerly of Kansas City, Mo., who is now making her home at the Women's Athletic Club, and Mrs. John Moses of San Francisco. Fifty-two guests were bidden and garden blossoms and ferns carried out a springtime motif in decorations. After luncheon the guests went into the garden tea house to play contract, for which lovely prizes were given.

Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Sherman of Beverly Hills entertained with a dinner party at the Sea Breeze Club in Santa Monica Monday evening, a St. Patrick's Day motif being charmingly carried out with centerpiece of flowers and lighted tapers, while shamrocks formed the place cards and appropriate favors marked covers for Mr. and Mrs. Vern Landreth, Mr. and Mrs. George Ziegenfels, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bergan, Mr. and Mrs. Merle McGinnis, Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Parsons and the hosts. Dancing was enjoyed during the dinner and afterward.

Progressive Party

Tau Lambda Gamma Sorority of Woodbury's College entertained with a delightful party honoring St. Patrick's Day at the homes of Miss Marie Seybold and Miss Doris Rear in Huntington Park. At the former the decorations carried out the green motif and a shamrock was pinned on each guest upon entering. Sharply at 12 o'clock festivities were suspended for the announcement that all would motor to Miss Rear's home, where the St. Patrick's Day motif was carried out to the smallest detail. Cunning place cards marked the covers at small tables. Those included were Miss Marie Seybold, Miss Doris Rear, Miss Marianne Howell, Miss Jane Layton, Miss Irene Hillyer, Miss Lucille Ingersoll, Miss Elaine Beach, Miss Ramona Wall, Miss Dorothy Rockwood, Miss Beverly Blake, Miss Ruth Bumpas, Miss Aileen Perriguey, Miss Mildred Olson, Miss Esther Scott and Harold Wilson, William Meyer, Tom Shott, Leroy Houghton, Robert Tilandy, Wilbur Perriguey, Howard Lindow, Louis Frederick, Virgil Kingsley, Walter Ashman, Frank Carson, Wayne Kurtz, Frank Gillelen and Allen Rear.

At Casa De Manana

Among the Angelenos who are enjoying a visit at Casa de Manana, La Jollywood, are Mr. and Mrs. James Parrott, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Norton, Mrs. R. P. MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Calkins, Earle C. Kenton, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Barber and Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Brooks.

Felicitations

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Esther Loge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Strassburg of 448 Eighteenth street, Santa Monica, to Arthur H. Franklin, son of Mrs. Wilma Franklin of Howard street, Santa Monica, was solemnized the 20th inst., the ceremony taking place in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Glendale, with Rev. Walter Traeger officiating.

The bride wore an orchid chiffon velvet ensemble with lace hat and carried an arm shower of pink rosebuds and lilies of the valley, while Mrs. Herman F. Rosebrock, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore a green velvet ensemble and carried yellow daffodils and orchid sweet peas. Miss Alma Wilkes, maid of honor, wore rose chiffon velvet with lace straw hat to match and carried pink rosebuds.

Ray Gregory served as best man and Herman F. Rosebrock and Rudolph W. Wilkes ushered.

Following a wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Franklin left for a wedding trip. They will make their home in North Hollywood after their return.

Luncheon-Bridge

One of the lovely affairs of the past week was the bridge-luncheon with which Mrs. Louis Lewis entertained at her home in Shatto Place, honoring Mrs. Arthur Volker, twenty-four guests being bidden.

The house was lovely with spring flowers carrying out a pink-and-green color scheme, which was augmented by the luncheon table centerpiece of pink roses. Old-fashioned corsages of pink roses at each place carried out the charming motif.

TINTS AND DYES

MODES OF THE MOMENT

by Honore Booth

FASHION EXPERT OF HARPER'S BAZAAR

NEW YORK, March 23. (Exclusive)—I want to tell you about the details of some of the new Paris models which I have seen among the recent imports. For it is primarily in its details that this season differs from those which have preceded it, and by the cutting, the intricacy of which is often beyond verbal description.

It is a flower season, both for hats, daytime and evening dresses. Ardanse makes a printed gray chiffon evening dress with a bunch of misty pink roses at the back where the dress is bloused below the decolletage. Sometimes the flower of a print is the same as the artificial flower used to trim it. But posies are no longer simply plastered on the left shoulder. They are used as an integral part of a complex decolletage, in the drapery at the front of the skirt of the dress, or wherever the interest and importance of the dress centers.

Marcel Rochas, Maggy Rouff and several other couturiers are employing fan plaiting, not in satin (as it was done in earlier collections without great success) but in supple crepes so that it falls decoratively and forms a graceful "architectural" detail.

Knitting to the Fore

Tweeds are as often simulated as real, perhaps more often. Patou, in particular, declared himself in favor of making sports and country clothes of other materials. Lightweight knitted fabrics are coming into their own. Their advantages: First, they are more flexible than tweed, hence better adapted to fanciful cutting; second, while they have a certain amount of warmth they are light, an attraction in America's summer climate; thirdly, they permit of intricate patterned weaves.

It seems not unlikely that Agnes precipitated the whole movement with her marvellously original knitted hats. She made us discontented with the eternal sameness of felt, and felt and tweed have been close allies for years past. Worth makes a full-length street coat of a knitted material. All of which is not to be interpreted as a decoration that tweeds are "out." They can never be, but they become more specialized; hence, in a way, more important, as is the trend of the mode.

London Trades and the houses which specialize in the sports, tweed and tailor classification are making jaunty, narrow, high-set belts out of belting.

The Mode Scalloped

Scallops are being heard from. Chanel makes a clear blue and white polka-dotted silk suit, with scalloped hem, and a scalloped peplum jacket. A sheer white blouse with wide scalloped collar worn outside has cuffs which follow the same line of thought. Dog-tooth edging and picoting are also in evidence. This is all very youthful and spring-like but beware of injudicious adaptations and ragged edges which tend to fussiness.

Worth quilts taffeta evening coats, very demure and reminiscent. Schiaparelli braids summer ermine for trimming. Cheruit decorates crepe Elizabeth with taffeta sashes and bows. Blouse and coat yokes are a positive mania with Goupy. Molyneux makes a printed shantung sport dress with plaited culotte skirt. Vionnet has a waist line which you may adjust as you will by tying it at any height.

TENNIS TROUSERS MAY INVADE COURTS

Wimbledon's tennis rules committee, which insisted on women wearing stockings in last year's tournament, may have to deal with the trouser problem this season. European women, judging from the summer sport styles shown in exclusive houses definitely approve of tennis trousers. The common version is ankle length cotton pique trousers worn with a sleeveless, and sometimes backless, jersey or vest. A fashionable house which dresses many women of the smart Riviera set sponsors tennis dresses made of flowered wash silks with divided skirts which reach four inches below the knees.

PALE PATTERNS MARK AFTERNOON CHIFFONS

Midsummer afternoon chiffons in their newest form have pale printed patterns in shadow shades on white grounds. Patterns may be formalized designs or flat color floral prints. Some printed taffeta is shown for afternoon and evening.

SLIPS FOR DRESSES

Flower prints for gay afternoon costumes combine several flat colors on a white ground. Many of the print dresses are made up over colored slips which reach just below the knees, although the chiffon skirt may be ankle length. Evening prints are much like those for afternoon with flat colors predominant on white or black grounds.

ENGLISH WOMEN VOTE AGAINST WIVES' JOBS

Nearly 7000 women members of the Civil Service Clerical Association in London believe women should not be allowed to keep their jobs after marriage. Votes on an association ballot showed an overwhelming majority in favor of compulsory resignation along with the wedding bells.

The Rain and "Run-Off"

In the study of the matter of rainfall it has been gradually realized that the "run-off" calls for just as much investigation as the precipitation. In fact, it has been found that the "run-off" is even more variable than the rainfall. The "run-off" is that part of rainfall which finds its way to the streams and is available for generating hydro-electrical power. This "run-off" is not a fixed percentage. When the ground is very dry it absorbs all the rainfall and there is no "run-off." When the earth is saturated practically every drop of rainfall runs off. Thus, when a severe drought strikes an area usually well watered, the drop in run-off" is much more pronounced than the shrinkage in precipitation. All of this has been known in a general way, but it has taken a prolonged dry spell to make it really appreciated and water power plants that were planned from rainfall records without proper allowances for the still greater fluctuations in "run-off" have suffered.

The recognition of this relationship will undoubtedly save the industry many millions of dollars in unprofitable investment and will safeguard the consumer because of greater reserves that will be provided hereafter.

A Year's Lamp Consumption

During 1929 a total of 632,000,000,000 large and small incandescent lamps were purchased by the public, this figure representing the largest in history.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

Some people always want to see
Before they'll believe a thing can be.
—Bowser the Hound.

FLIP ISN'T SATISFIED

Flip was upset. Yes, sir. Flip the Terrier was very much upset. I might say that he was doubly upset. Bowser the Hound had knocked him right over onto his back. He had done it just as Flip was about to show that he wasn't afraid of Prickly Porky the Porcupine. So he was upset bodily and also he was upset in his feelings. Probably there was never a more surprised dog than was Flip when Bowser interfered.

Bowser had frankly confessed that he himself was afraid of Prickly Porky and had explained why. At first this had been sufficient for Flip. He was satisfied to sit down and watch Prickly Porky climb a tree. When Prickly Porky was safely out of reach, Flip and Bowser trotted on to see what more they could find. All the time, however, Flip kept thinking about Prickly Porky. The more he thought about him, and the more he thought about the way Bowser had interfered, the less satisfied he became with having left Prickly Porky alone.

"Bowser probably meant all right," thought Flip. "I'll give him that much credit. I guess Bowser isn't much of a fighter. Prickly Porky didn't look to me as if he could do much fighting. He moves too slowly to be a fighter. I should like to ask Bowser why he is afraid of Prickly Porky, but he might not like it if I did."

At last curiosity got the best of Flip and he ventured to say to Bowser: "Why are you afraid of Prickly Porky? Does he throw a bad-smelling scent that smarts when it gets in your eyes, and chokes you, the way Jimmy Skunk does?"

"No," replied Bowser promptly. "He hasn't any bad-smelling scent."

"He's very slow moving," said Flip. "He doesn't look as if he could fight." Bowser grinned. "He is slow moving," he agreed. "He is slow moving with the exception of his tail. He can flip that tail around fast enough. It is a good thing that that tail isn't any longer than it is. Yes, sir, it is a good thing that Prickly Porky's tail isn't long like the tail of his cousin who lives way down in a place called the Tropics. I've heard Scrapper the Kingbird, who spends his winters down there, say that Prickly Porky has a cousin down there with a very long tail, only his tail is bare. If Prickly Porky had a longer tail, more people would get hurt than do get hurt now."

"I don't understand," said Flip. "What has his tail got to do with hurting people?"

"I don't understand," said Flip. "What has his tail got to do with hurting people?"

"Everything," replied Bowser very promptly. "You see, that tail is covered with little spears, and if he should happen to hit you with that tail he would leave a lot of those little spears sticking in you and they hurt. I know, for I have felt them. And it hurts still more to have them pulled out. So you keep away from Prickly Porky. He's covered all over with those little spears, excepting underneath."

"I didn't see any little spears," replied Flip. "I saw a lot of queer-looking stiff hairs."

"No, you didn't," replied Bowser. "What you call 'stiff hairs' are the little spears I have been telling you about. Prickly Porky is one of the people whom you want to leave absolutely alone. Keep away from him. As I told you once before, if you do not keep away from him, you'll be the sorriest dog that ever lived."

Flip said nothing more, but he wasn't satisfied. He couldn't imagine how it was possible for Prickly Porky to really be so dangerous. You see, he knew nothing about those little spears and he wanted to know more. So the first chance he got he slipped away and went back to where he had been Prickly Porky.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

LOBSTER MARINER STYLE

Cut into dice the meat of a medium-sized lobster, place in a saucepan, three tablespoonfuls of butter, two medium-sized onions, chopped, one small piece of garlic, one and one-half cupfuls of white stock, and allow to cook until the onion is tender, then add the yolks of two beaten eggs, a seasoning of salt, white pepper, and one tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Place this mixture in a double boiler, add the lobster, and allow to simmer slowly for twenty minutes. Then add one tablespoonful of lemon juice and one-fourth of a cupful of cooking sherry, place triangles of hot toast onto a hot platter, and cover with the mixture.

PINEAPPLE PUDDING

Mix in the top of a double boiler one-third of a cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, one-half a cupful of pineapple juice, and three-fourths of a cupful of water, stir and cook for fifteen minutes, add one cupful of crushed pineapple, one teaspoonful of lemon extract and the well-beaten yolks of two eggs, stir and cook for two minutes, pour into a buttered baking dish, cover with a meringue, made of the whites of the eggs, and bake in a slow oven for twenty-five minutes.

RABBIT MOLD

Disjoint a medium-sized rabbit, place it in a saucepan, and cover it with boiling water, add one-half of an onion, a sprig of thyme, two crushed bay leaves, one stalk of celery, and one branch or parsley. Simmer gently until the rabbit is tender, remove the meat, from the bones, and chop fine, add to the meat, two hard-boiled eggs, that have been chopped, four tablespoonfuls of capers, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, and two chopped pimientoes, season the liquid in which the rabbit was cooked, then strain. Reheat, and add one tablespoonful of gelatine that has been dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of cold water, and boil until the gelatine is dissolved. Cool slightly, pour over the rabbit mixture. Brush a mold with melted butter, line the sides with slices of hard-boiled eggs, and carefully pour in the mixture. Place in the ice box and allow to harden. Serve on lettuce-garnished plates.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 months to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, suitable toys for baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in orderly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, spinach juice, lime water, rupture, ulcers and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question, read one of these subjects; it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you prefer. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

DON'T CURB CHILD'S GENEROUS IMPULSES—GUIDE THEM

The child's first lessons in generosity are learned from his parents. If he sees them offering to lend a book or carrying over a plate of fresh cake to a neighbor the child is eager to do the same with his toys.

This is right and proper, and a spirit we want to cultivate. But Mrs. V. S. has a little boy with such a blunted sense of property values that he insists on giving his toys to a small girl playmate and is angry when his mother won't allow him to.

Mrs. V. S. is fearful that if she prevents it she will make him selfish, yet she is naturally averse to having him give all his toys away.

Since the boy's generosity should be encouraged, we might handle this problem in two ways until he is old enough (he is now only 3) to better understand the intrinsic value of some possessions, and have greater regard for them and for what may have been the parent's sacrifices in procuring them for him.

First, when he is going to play with this little girl let him make some gift for her. He may cut out pictures from a magazine and put them together with colored yarn. He may stuff a sack of bright cotton full of cut-up papers which his mother may sew together and make a harmless bag for throwing. He may even color a picture for her with his crayons. Thus his joy in giving is not destroyed and his toys are reserved for his own use.

RESPECT CHILD'S POSSESSIONS

Secondly, perhaps the child could understand that he may share his toys with his playmate by lending them to her. She may use his toy wagon for a week and then her mother will return it; in the meantime he will be using the other child's set of blocks. The fact that these exchanged toys must be treated with extra care, because they belong to the other child, will be a wholesome lesson for both to learn.

Possessions mean very little to most children, chiefly because their first toys are of small value and the parents treat them as such. The spirit of "Oh, don't bother about that old ball, I'll get him another," belittles objects so that the child puts all he possesses in the same category. The masses of toys which the children see in the 10-cent store and the ease with which they assemble whole boxes full of toys are not conducive to a real appreciation of them.

The parents can help this by their attitude toward the child's property—by their respect for his bits of string and old tin cans and battered spoons which are so dear to him. If we treat all his possessions as if they had value, the child copies our attitude and cherishes his things. If we can, at the same time, show him the joy to be obtained from sharing them with others, we have brought home the double lesson of appreciation for possessions and unselfishness in their use.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

The Daily Lunch

A roll of inch-wide gummed paper is convenient for the woman who packs a lunch every day. Packages can be wrapped in a hurry when one does not have to worry about the string part of it.

All Shriveled

If your hands are the sort that wrinkle and shrivel when in water for a length of time, rub them with salt or vinegar, well into the skin, and you will find that unpleasant feeling leave and the flesh be soft and fine.

A Pencil Pocket

The young son will be pleased if mother would run a row of stitching about three-quarter-inch from the left side of the blouse pocket from the top to the bottom of the flap. It will form a narrow pocket for a pencil that will hold it fast and prevent its slipping out of the looser pocket.

Large Bags

Save that large grocery bag after unpacking the order. It will come in very handy when emptying your electric vacuum cleaner bag. Insert the opening of the bag into the paper bag and shake well. There will be no scattered dust and the dirt is ready to put out with the trash.

STEAMER LIBELED IN SUIT

For the asserted loss of 600 cases of avocados, valued at $6143.97, the Calavo Growers of California have filed libel suit in United States District Court against the steamer California of the American line. The steamer was released on posting of $8000 bond.

CO-EDS ASK TO GOVERN SELVES IN COLLEGE

Co-eds at North Carolina State College do not like student government if the boys have anything to say about the rules.

The Pioneer Club, composed of seventy-two girl students, has been organized with the purpose of setting up a student government separate from the one which now controls both boy and girl students.

A plan of government for girls only has been drawn up and will be submitted to the student council for its decision.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

A DISSERTATION ON PIG

Most people think that beef is the most popular of all meats, but statistics show that we actually eat more pork than beef. In 1928 the average person ate 73.9 pounds of pork and only 51.7 pounds of beef, or an average of 22.2 pounds more pork per capita than beef.

Part of the popularity of pork depends on its great amount of fat which makes it a fuel that appeals to those in cold climates or with heavy work to do. The price, too, is always reasonable, due to the efficiency with which pork and bacon can be marketed.

Anyone who likes pork should read Charles Lamb's famous essay on the "Dissertation on Roast Pig," in which he suggested that the first roast pig was an accident, caused by a house burning down around the pig's ears. The owner of the house, in dragging out the pig, got some of the grease on his fingers and was burned; whereupon, putting his fingers into his mouth to relieve the burn he enjoyed a new flavor. For some time thereafter it was the custom to burn down a house in order to enjoy roast pig.

The idea that pork was poisonous seems to have grown up from religious taboos against eating pork which the Hebrews, Egyptians and Arabians have against eating pork. However, pork meat is not poisonous, but makes a good protein food for those with strong digestions. There is an excess of fat in pork which causes the particles of protein to be coated with fat, and the digestive juices have a hard time to attack the meat itself. For this reason people with digestive troubles do not handle pork as well, but the person with a good digestion will find that pork is not harmful and makes a welcome change from beef or other proteins.

Pork meat should be thoroughly cooked to avoid the danger of the disease called trichinosis. Practically all cases of this disease can be traced to the eating of raw sausage or improperly cooked pork. In this disease certain parasites from the pig are eaten by the human. The eggs develop in the intestines and finally reach the muscles, where they may be found in the form of small worms. By cooking all pork thoroughly the danger of such infection is avoided. Never serve roast pork rare, since this would indicate that the interior of the pork has not been heated enough to kill off any of these parasites that might exist. You can absolutely protect your family from all danger if you cook every piece of pork that comes into the kitchen until it is well done. Never eat raw sausages. The heat used in broiling slices of ham and bacon will render them perfectly safe.

A combination of applesauce and pork is good if non-starchy food is taken at the same time. The best way to serve pork is to roast it in a hot oven, allowing twenty-five minutes for each pound of meat, basting as required. In boiling ham, first soak it well for one hour. Place in cold water, boil moderately, allowing twenty minutes for each pound, adding more water to the pot as necessary. When done, take off as much fat as possible and put in the oven until brown. When using eggs, it is all right to use a small amount of ham or bacon. For those who are losing their digestive powers, to avoid pork and ham digestion is sufficient to handle these meats and you will find that pork and ham are welcome additions to the diet when combined with the fruits and green vegetables.

BLAZE SWEEPS WELLS CANYON

Fiery Debris Fire Spreads Over Thirty-five Acres

Force of Hundred Men Bring Flames Under Control

Fireman Receives Serious Injury When He Falls on Ax

Flaming debris from the destruction of the Palmdale short-cut to Highway early yesterday morning swept beyond its limits and into the heavy underbrush bordering the new road. Before it was put out several yesterday afternoon it had covered thirty-five acres of blackened waste and ashes in Wells Canyon at the head of the Arroyo Seco.

A force of more than 100 men fought hastily from the forces of the United States Forestry Service, the Angeles County Forestry Department and aided by men from several Pasadena, Arcadia and La Canada fire departments, was called when the fire was finally subdued.

BLAZE IN EARLY MORNING

The first report of the blaze was received at 5 a.m. when a group of forestry men, headed by Supervisor L. Coulter, district ranger, were able to confine the blaze within a small area. Shortly afterward, however, the fire broke out of control again with the rise of a strong wind and reinforcements from the county and near-by towns were called.

Several planes the fire burned within a few feet of the snow line and at times threatened destruction to a number of summer homes. The danger was confined, however, to underbrush, valuable as a covering to the Wells Canyon watershed. Officials of the county forestry department declared that the canyon is one of the important sources in the district and the destruction of the underbrush will permit much rain water to run off instead of seeping into the natural spring sources.

NO CASUALTY REPORTED

No casualty was reported, although several men were almost overcome by smoke and heat. The fireman who was Zachary Dunkerson, 1185 Glen avenue, Pasadena, was injured while fighting the flames on a ridge where the mountainside was a veritable inferno. In falling, Dunkerson attempted to throw his fire-ax to one side, but failed and he fell with such force that he was badly cut. He was given necessary treatment by Red Cross men stationed near by and was removed to a Pasadena hospital.

The fire was believed to have been started by a careless smoker.

HOLLYWOOD PIONEER GONE

Mrs. Amelia Hartell, "Grandmother" of Film City, Will be Buried at 4 p.m. Today

Farewell tribute will be paid today to the "grandmother of Hollywood," Mrs. Amelia Ryan Hartell, 93 years of age, whose death occurred Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Madge Connell, 208 North Irving Boulevard.

Death came to the aged woman in her sleep, so quietly that even the family was unaware of it until attempts were made to awaken her from her nap. She had been in declining health for more than a year following a severe heart attack from which she never rallied completely.

MRS. AMELIA RYAN HARTELL

When Mrs. Hartell first came to Southern California she made her home in Ontario. Some fifteen years ago she came to Los Angeles to live with a daughter, Mrs. Wilcox Beveridge, whose husband owned a 100-acre ranch, which included the present heart of Hollywood's business district.

Later the family acquired an additional 200 acres, which area embraced what later became the costliest section of the film city. It was Mrs. Beveridge who named the place Hollywood and her mother was given the title "grandmother" by pioneer residents.

REAL PIONEER

Mrs. Hartell was born in a village in New York State and the family moved to Ohio, when she was 7 years of age. In 1885 she and her three daughters came to Southern California, where the rest of her life was spent. She became a widow in 1880, while a resident of Ohio, and her journey to the West was made on one of the first transcontinental trains.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 p.m. today at Hollywood Cemetery Chapel and the body will be laid to rest in a private mausoleum of the family.

Waco Airplane Distributor to Begin Operation

Aero-Pacific Corporation this week begins operations as Waco airplane distributor for California, Arizona and Nevada. E. E. Huse, president and general manager, said that all departments of sales, airplane and motor repair, and supply are organized for immediate service, with an aviation school to open April 1, next.

The corporation has twenty established Waco dealers in the tri-State territory, and will open a northern wholesale branch in the San Francisco Bay district with R. D. Lose in charge. Activities at the local base will include operation of a complete service department.

The corporation occupies a hangar accommodating twenty planes and utilize all privileges of the United Airport. This newly constructed base represents an expenditure of more than $1,500,000. It consists of 234 acres having six directional runway systems, an administration building and four steel and concrete hangars. Contracts for additional quarters will be awarded this week.

Suspected Red Seized During Harbor Speech

Interrupted in the midst of an assertedly inflammatory address to fishermen and longshoremen at the harbor, Frank Waldron, 24 years of age, of 118 North Mott street, yesterday was booked by police on suspicion of criminal syndicalism. He was taken in custody in Marine Workers' Hall, San Pedro, by Officers Hache and Emerick.

Another speaker was jailed on suspicion of illegal entry when he was unable to produce a passport. He gave his name as George Babich, 35, an Austrian, of 236 Fourteenth street, San Pedro.

Two Mothers Lose Custody

Two mothers were deprived of the custody of their children by order of Superior Judge Crawford, according to court records.

Mrs. Verne I. White, in the course of a proceeding to determine custody, was accused by her divorced husband of an affair with a married man, who has a family. She offered to give up her admirer, but it was too late.

"You can't love your children properly if you defy conventions," said Judge Crawford, as he awarded the children to their father.

Mrs. Edith L. Stuver said she had been working as a taxi dancer to support her two children. She told the court she loved her babies and wanted to take care of them. The father, Theodore E. Stuver, produced a letter his wife had written.

"I want my freedom, you can have the children," said the letter.

So Judge Crawford took the freedom-loving mother at her own word, and awarded custody of the children to Stuver.

ELECTRIC CLUB WILL GIVE ONE-ACT PLAY

A one-act play, "Why Meter, and How," will be staged at the meeting of the Electric Club in the Biltmore Monday noon. The play was written by Miss Marjorie Hobbs, an employee of the Southern California Edison Company, and the cast will be made up of other employees of the utility company. A special entertainment feature will be Billy Hobbs, accordionist. Carl Buratti, of Johns-Manville, Inc., will preside as chairman of the day.

Mrs. Kelly Asks Court to Void Note Given Mate

Mrs. Leah Clampitt Kelly, heir to a third of a $3,000,000 estate, will appear before Superior Judge Gates Thursday to repudiate a $15,000 note given her by her husband John H. Kelly, defendant in a divorce suit, following the filing of an injunction suit to restrain Kelly and D. B. Southard, to whom the note was given, from negotiating the note.

According to Mrs. Kelly's complaint, Kelly told her he had a chance to obtain a good position in Honolulu if he had $15,000. So Mrs. Kelly gave him the note, which was not to be negotiated, except in Honolulu, it was asserted. Later, Mrs. Kelly says, she found some one was trying to negotiate the note, so she immediately filed suit to prevent it.

Superior Judge Doran issued a temporary restraining order, and the hearing before Judge Gates will be to make the order permanent.

Premiere Film Being Sought

Negotiations are under way to obtain the talking motion picture, "Journey's End," which is based on the stage play of the same name, for the opening of the new Pantages Theater in Hollywood in a month or six weeks, Rodney Pantages said yesterday negotiations have been under way for this picture but that nothing has been settled.

The picture was produced by Tiffany-Stahl Productions and executives of that company admitted yesterday members of the Pantages family had seen the picture but that no deal has been consummated. They said several theaters are on the market for the picture and that a decision will be made the middle of next week.

Alexander Pantages, at the County Jail yesterday, declared that a picture for the opening has not yet been selected. Rodney Pantages said this picture as well as four or five others are under consideration.

Test Planned for Veterans

Warner McIntyre, in charge of the local office of the United States Civil Service Commission, announces that the commission will reopen examinations for veterans in tuberculosis cases.

LAW PLEA SEEN AS UNION PLAN

Scheme by Engineers' Local Believed Uncovered

Amendment to Licensing Ordinance at Issue

Demand Affects Operators of Ordinary Engines

An attempt by a section of the International Union of Operating Engineers to increase its potential field of membership is seen as the explanation for at least one of a series of suggested amendments to the ordinance under which the city's Board of Mechanical Engineers operates. These amendments were the subject of a hearing during the last week by the City Council's Building and Safety Committee, but the committee has not as yet come to a decision regarding them.

Ostensibly there is very little union influence in the submission of the amendments for they were presented to the Council by a committee whose members represented not only the Union of Operating Engineers, but also the Craftsmen's Council of Engineers and the National Association of Power Engineers and neither of the latter organizations is in any sense a union, the first of them in fact being a Masonic body.

INSPECTOR URGED

The chief request of the committee was that the Board of Mechanical Engineers employ a special inspector whose sole duty would be to see to it that all the operating engineers who are supposed by law to hold licenses actually are licensed. They were told by the Board of Mechanical Engineers that no funds were available to employ such an inspector but that if the engineers consented to a rise in the license fee to $2.50 such an inspector could be employed.

All the operating engineers in the city, as represented by the union and the two organizations mentioned, supported the demand for the employment of such an inspector. They expressed themselves as being willing to pay the increased fee.

For the purpose of securing this harmony, however, it was learned, the engineers' committee was forced to consent to the presentation of an additional demand in which only a few unionists were interested. This, despite the fact that only about one-fifth of the operating engineers in the city are said to be union men and only one small local of the union, that composed of engineers on hoists and portable appliances, excepting steam shovels, is interested in the additional demand.

OPPOSITION EXPRESSED

This demand is that an amendment to the ordinance be adopted specifying that the operators of ditch-digging and street-paving machines must secure the same type of engineering licenses from the Board of Mechanical Engineers as the members of the union in question. Virtually all such machines are operated by ordinary gasoline engines and are not at all of the type whose operation the Board of Mechanical Engineers was formed to control.

In fact, at the hearing before the Council committee, Louis A. Duni, president of the Board of Mechanical Engineers, said he did not see the necessity for licensing the operators of the ditch-diggers and road-pavers. Contractors are also opposed to the licensing, as it would place an unnecessary burden upon them in limiting the field of their labor supply, but that, of course, is believed to be the objective of the union men.

In the face of the adverse stand of the Board of Mechanical Engineers, it is not believed that the Council committee will recommend the amendment desired by the union men. The chances of the main demand going through, that for a full-time license inspector, are believed to be good, inasmuch as the board favors it, in view of the willingness of the engineers to consent to the increased fee. Another recommendation on which there seems to be unanimity among all concerned is that the ordinance specify that none but American citizens may obtain operating engineers' licenses.

MAKE-UPS PLANNED

Just as the engineer and architect rely on blueprints and sketches in planning creations, at least one actor in Hollywood uses preliminary drawings from which to perfect his make-up. He is Jean Hersholt, character actor, who employs his talent as a draftsman to set down his own conceptions of what his character should look like. In his last three pictures Hersholt "built" his make-up from pen sketches.

CENSUS TAKER CRAVES TO HEAR ABOUT FAMILY

Questions which will be asked and must be answered by residents of the United States during the taking of the fifteenth decennial census, to begin April 2, next, were made public yesterday by local officials of the census.

In urging every inhabitant's cooperation with the 1600 enumerators in Los Angeles county, the supervisors quoted President Hoover's statement that it is a patriotic duty to give all aid and information willingly and promptly.

Attention also is called to the fact that a penalty may be imposed for neglecting to make correct answers.

The United States Census Bureau force is taking a census of population, a census of agriculture and a census of unemployment. The average city dweller in the Los Angeles area will be questioned only on the population census.

The questions which a representative of each American household must answer are as follows:

Name of each person whose place of abode on April 1, 1930, was in this family.

Relation—Relationship of this person to the head of the family.

Home data—Home owned or rented; value of home if owned or monthly rental if rented; radio set; does this family live on a farm?

Personal description—Sex, color or race, age at last birthday, marital condition, age at first marriage.

Education—Attended school or college any time since September 1, 1929; whether able to read or write.

Place of birth—Place of birth of each person and parents of each person enumerated. If born in the United States give the State or Territory. If of foreign birth give country of birth.

Mother tongue (or native language) of foreign-born—Language spoken in home before coming to the United States.

Citizenship, etc.—Year of immigration to the United States, naturalization, whether able to speak English.

Occupation and industry—Trade, profession of particular kind of work, as spinner, salesman, riveter, teacher, etc.; industry or business, as cotton mill, dry-goods store, shipyard, public school, etc.; class of work.

Employment—Whether actually at work the last regular working day.

Veterans—Whether a veteran of the United States military or naval forces; what war or expedition.

It is announced that where no member of the household is at home when the census canvasser calls, the head of the house is advised to go to the nearest supervisor of census for an absent-family schedule. This may be had on request and the householder can fill it out and return it to the local census officer.

TEACHER GETS TRIP TO JAPAN

Colony Pays Way of Good-Will Envoy

Principal to See Land of Her Charges

Mrs. Waliser at school garden with Kimiko and Tama Sakai, Kiyoshi and Tomatsu Matsuno, who also soon will visit their grandparents in Japan.

IT IS a labor of love which Mrs. Mildred Obar Waliser is doing in the East San Pedro schools, where she is principal over twenty teachers and 468 Japanese children.

It is a reciprocating love which goes out also, not only from the children, but from their parents and the Nipponese colony at large on Terminal Island.

They also love their homeland, so it was natural that they should want Mrs. Waliser to love it also. The result is she will sail on the new N.Y.K. motor liner Asama Maru, next Wednesday, for the Cherry Blossom Land, as the guest of the Fu Kai Kei, the harmonious Japanese organization on the island.

"For a dozen years," explained O. Hara, president of the Japanese association, "Mrs. Waliser has been like one of us. She was more than a teacher; she came into our homes and helped us night and day with our problems."

In short, Mrs. Waliser has practically mothered the community, and when it was learned she would consent to the trip, it was necessary to restrict rather than press the response for funds.

It is a colorful month and a half which the itinerary affords Mrs. Waliser in Japan. All the scenic spots both in Japan and Korea are to be visited.

Best of all, according to Mrs. Waliser, however, she will see many of her old Japanese friends who used to live here, and "my boys and girls," as she calls them, who once went to school here and now are grown and succeeding in Japan.

Chosen for her present post because of her past interest in Americanization school work, she came to what a dozen years ago was little more than a barracks on a barren lot. Today the school comprises many modern structures and the grounds are a riot of colorful shrubs; there is a Japanese garden and pool, and many features which exalt it above the average school. The spirit is such that there are perhaps less transfers of teachers than anywhere else in the Los Angeles school system.

Leave was granted Mrs. Waliser at this time by Superintendent Kersey "because of her outstanding accomplishments and because she is an emissary of good will between the two peoples."

Mrs. Waliser will return late in June on the N.Y.K. motor liner Chichibu Maru, a sister ship of the new Asama Maru and on its maiden voyage in the California-Japan run.

FLINT MEMORIAL SITE FAVORED

Board of Public Works and Park Commission Approve Spot on City Hall Lawn for Proposed Fountain; Art Censors Now to Pass on Location

The area south of the City Hall for the location of the memorial fountain in honor of the late Senator Frank P. Flint, proposed by the Flint Memorial Association, of which Joe Scott is chairman and James R. Martin treasurer, has been approved by the Board of Public Works, which controls the land, and the Park Commission, which maintains it, and will now be passed on by the Art Commission.

Tentative plans of the memorial by John Parkinson, architect, to consist of a gray granite fountain to cost approximately $60,000, have been approved by the Park Commission, subject to approval of the Art Commission. The fountain is designed to fit into the architectural outline of the City Hall.

The exact location is immediately south of the junction of the crosswalks on the south lawn of the City Hall, facing First street, between Spring and Main streets. On the proposed site are now a crape myrtle tree and shrubbery, which will be moved to make room for the fountain. The latter will be surrounded by walks corresponding to the lawn crosswalks and appropriate trees and shubbery.

A tentative model prepared by Parkinson provides for panels in the fountain entitled "Wisdom," "Justice," "Labor" and "Engineering." Tribute to the late Senator's work in aiding to put through the Owens River water project, in addition to other assistance given Southern California, is planned in the lettering. A bronze plaque or a bust of the Senator also is proposed.

TWO HELD FOR RETURN TO SEATTLE

Man and Wife Charged With Assaulting Officers During Attempted Arrest

James C. Williams, 30 years of age, and his wife Eva, 30, were arrested Friday night at the home of a relative in Hawthorne by Deputy Sheriffs Wolfe and Bogle, who had a Seattle warrant charging assault on Federal officers.

Williams said that while driving in Seattle in January two men forced them to the curb. They were Federal officers. One snapped a handcuff on Williams. He says he went to the aid of his wife, who was being pulled from the car by a second man. He said that he beat up his captor and put the other to flight, then took the injured officer to a doctor and drove away.

Mrs. Williams was arrested when she went home. She was released in $2000 bail, and they came to California.

Sailor's Bride Finds Rival in Another Port

An international romance was revealed when Kathleen Audrey, blond English girl, went before Superior Judge Keetch seeking an annulment of her marriage with John A. Hibbs, chief electrician's mate in the United States Navy, now stationed in Boston.

They were married in England, on July 6, 1927. Following the marriage his vessel finally was ordered to San Diego, where she joined him, and learned of another woman in his life.

The annulment was given on the grounds that Hibbs was married to a Philadelphia girl at the time he married her in England.

Hibbs, in a letter to his English wife, introduced in the evidence, pleaded that there had been a mistake.

"I was not married and had every legal right to marry you," he wrote. "Some one else may have been using my name, or have the same name. I love you and always will and I want you—of all this world, I want you. Yet I want you to be happy."

LINDBERGHS' RETURN FOR FEW DAYS

Flying Colonel Craves Still More Speed From His Private Monoplane

Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh are back in Los Angeles today following a series of gliding flights by the noted pilot in the vicinity of Carmel and Monterey during the last two weeks.

The couple landed their new low-winged Lockheed monoplane at the Lockfeed factory in Burbank yesterday afternoon after taking off from Mills Field, San Francisco.

No more gliding is on Col. Lindbergh's schedule for the next few days, he said. Business concerning T.A.T.-Maddux Airlines affairs will occupy his time, but if coastal breezes pick up after that it is probable the colonel will go to San Diego for some more soaring attempts, he stated.

The new wing that Lockheed engineers are constructing for the Lindberghs' flying plane is not expected by the colonel to be completed before he and Mrs. Lindbergh are ready to return to the East. The wing will allow the landing gear of the ship to fold up, cutting down wind resistance and adding to the speed of the plane, that already has done more than 190 miles an hour.

The Lindberghs returned as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Maddux. Maddux is president of T.A.T.-Maddux Airlines, of which Col. Lindbergh is chairman of the technical committee.

Reynolds, Aaron Riche, Arnold Wettmand, the architect of the building and Moses Tolchinsky, principal of the religious school, which at present is housed in temporary quarters.

The building, which will cost $30,000 and is expected to be completed in three months, will have eight class and club rooms, a library, an auditorium, a banquet hall and kitchen and a gymnasium.

RED AGITATORS ARRESTED

Police Battle Radicals Who Attempt to Break Up Dinner-Dance at Redmen's Lodge

More than a score of radical agitators were arrested last night following an attempted riot in a public hall at 120 East Twenty-fifth street where members of the Redmen's Lodge were celebrating their seventy-ninth anniversary with a dinner and dance. According to police reports, trouble arose when the owners of the hall refused to allow the asserted Communists to hold a meeting in the hall, which was met with the threat that no other organization would be permitted to gather there.

Rumors of impending trouble reached police headquarters early yesterday afternoon and Detective Lieutenant W. F. Hynes, heading the police Red squad, was detailed with six plainclothesmen to guard the place and were present when a group of about fifty agitators attempted to enter the building with the lodge banquet in progress.

In the melee which followed the seven officers were badly mauled and scratched, and said they had been attacked by twelve women who were part of the invading forces. Hynes and his squad were able to subdue more than a score of Communists, including Frank Spector, recently arrested in the Plaza Red riots. The group was taken to the Newton-street Police Station for investigation.

Following the near-riot, the lodge members continued their banquet and dance guarded by additional forces from the Central Police Station and by volunteer members of the order.

APPEALS COURT RULES ON WINE

Use of Concentrated Grape Jelly Held Illegal

Cannot be Used Even for Home Consumption

Crushed Fruit Juice Only May be Employed

If one buys concentrated grape juice, or jelly, adds water to it, then lets it ferment into intoxicating wine, even though one does not sell it, one is guilty of a violation of the State and national liquor laws. There is no escaping penalty by using the shelter of that provision of the acts which permits the manufacture of fruit juices and cider for use in the home.

One is permitted, however, to squeeze out, or press the juice from grapes and apples to manufacture nonintoxicating wine and cider for use in one's home, but such wine, or cider, shall not be sold, or delivered except to persons having a permit to make vinegar.

This is the opinion of the Appellate department of the Superior Court, which has just handed down an important decision in three "home-wine" cases carried up to it on appeal from the Municipal Court.

While there have been rulings in five similar cases in the Federal Court, there never has been one before in the Appellate courts of California, according to Superior Judge Bishop, who wrote the opinion in the actions here, concurred in by his two associates, Superior Judges McLucas and Shaw.

CASES AT ISSUE

The cases before the court were actions brought by the State against Frank A. Sinicrope, Rafael Patalano and Albert H. Stoddard. All were convicted in the lower court of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor in violation of the Wright Act. In the first two cases the judgment of the lower court was reversed and the actions remanded back for a new trial. The judgment in the Stoddard case was affirmed.

In the case of Sinicrope the record revealed that he had bought grapes, crushed them and poured the juice in a barrel where it was found by the officers. Nothing had been added to the juice. It was not intoxicating and the evidence showed it had been used only by the Sinicrope family.

In Patalano's case the prosecution established that he had five barrels of wine. He contended the possession was legal under that section of the Volstead Act which provides for pressing nonintoxicating juice. Patalano had bought the grapes, crushed them and put the juice in barrels. All attempts to introduce evidence in the lower court to determine whether the resulting liquid was, in fact, intoxicating, or not, were defeated by the rulings of the court.

FINDING UPHELD

In the Stoddard case the Appellate department found that unlawful possession was established. He had made the wine by adding water to jelly-like syrup, bought in the market, the syrup being concentrated grape juice.

"He cannot say it was fruit juice which he made," the opinion says. "If he has, he has done so by operating on a product some one else made. The raw article was never in his hands. He does not come under the class of people who squeeze out the juice of grapes, or apples. He made something from something else." In this case the judgment was affirmed.

The section under which the three cases fall is that portion of the national prohibition act as adopted by the Wright Act which says:

CONTROLLING SECTION

"The penalties provided in this act against manufacturing of liquor without a permit shall not apply to a person for manufacturing nonintoxicating cider and fruit juices exclusively for use in his home, but such cider and fruit juices shall not be sold, or delivered except to persons having permits to manufacture vinegar."

One paragraph of the Appellate department's ruling in the above cases declares:

"We conclude, therefore, that a person does not offend under the act who makes, and after making, possesses exclusively, for his own home, cider and fruit juices, which are, in fact, nonintoxicating."

In no place in the opinion is there any mention made of manufacturing, or having in possession, home brew.

Clew Revealed in Search for Vanished Bride

Reports received yesterday by the Sheriff's office were to the effect that a young woman answering the description of Mrs. Neva Pall Carlyle, formerly of El Monte, has been seen driving toward the Mexican border with a man hidden in the car. This is the first trace officers have had of the car in which the young wife disappeared while on her honeymoon.

Her husband complained to officers at Hood River, Or., that he had taken along two men as travel companions, and that while he was in a lunchroom in the Oregon city, the two men drove off with his bride.

The Sheriff at El Centro yesterday notified the Los Angeles officers that a citizen noticed a woman stop a car outside of a restaurant in El Centro. This observer asserted that the young woman answered the description of Mrs. Carlyle. He added that while the girl went into the restaurant he noticed a man's elbow partly hidden in the rear of the car. The car was driven away southward.

Budgets Make Provision for City Hall 'Gym'

Provision for a gymnasium on the eighth and ninth floors of the City Hall for the use of the 2500 employees in the building is included in the budgets prepared by the Board of Public Works and Playground and Recreation Commission for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The Board of Public Works has made provision for $25,215 in its budget for preparing the interior of the two floors and making them available for a gymnasium and the Playground and Recreation Commission, which would have jurisdiction over it, has directed Supt. Hoyt to include in its budget approximately $9000 for equipment and supervision.

Some time ago an effort was made to provide a cafeteria in the structure, through a petition to the City Council by employees, but the Council turned down the plan following protests from firms located near the City Hall who contended it would injure their food business.

The gymnasium plan, which was favored by former Mayor Cryer, is to be considered by the Mayor and the Bureau of Budget Efficiency in the annual budget before the latter is turned over to the City Council for its official action.

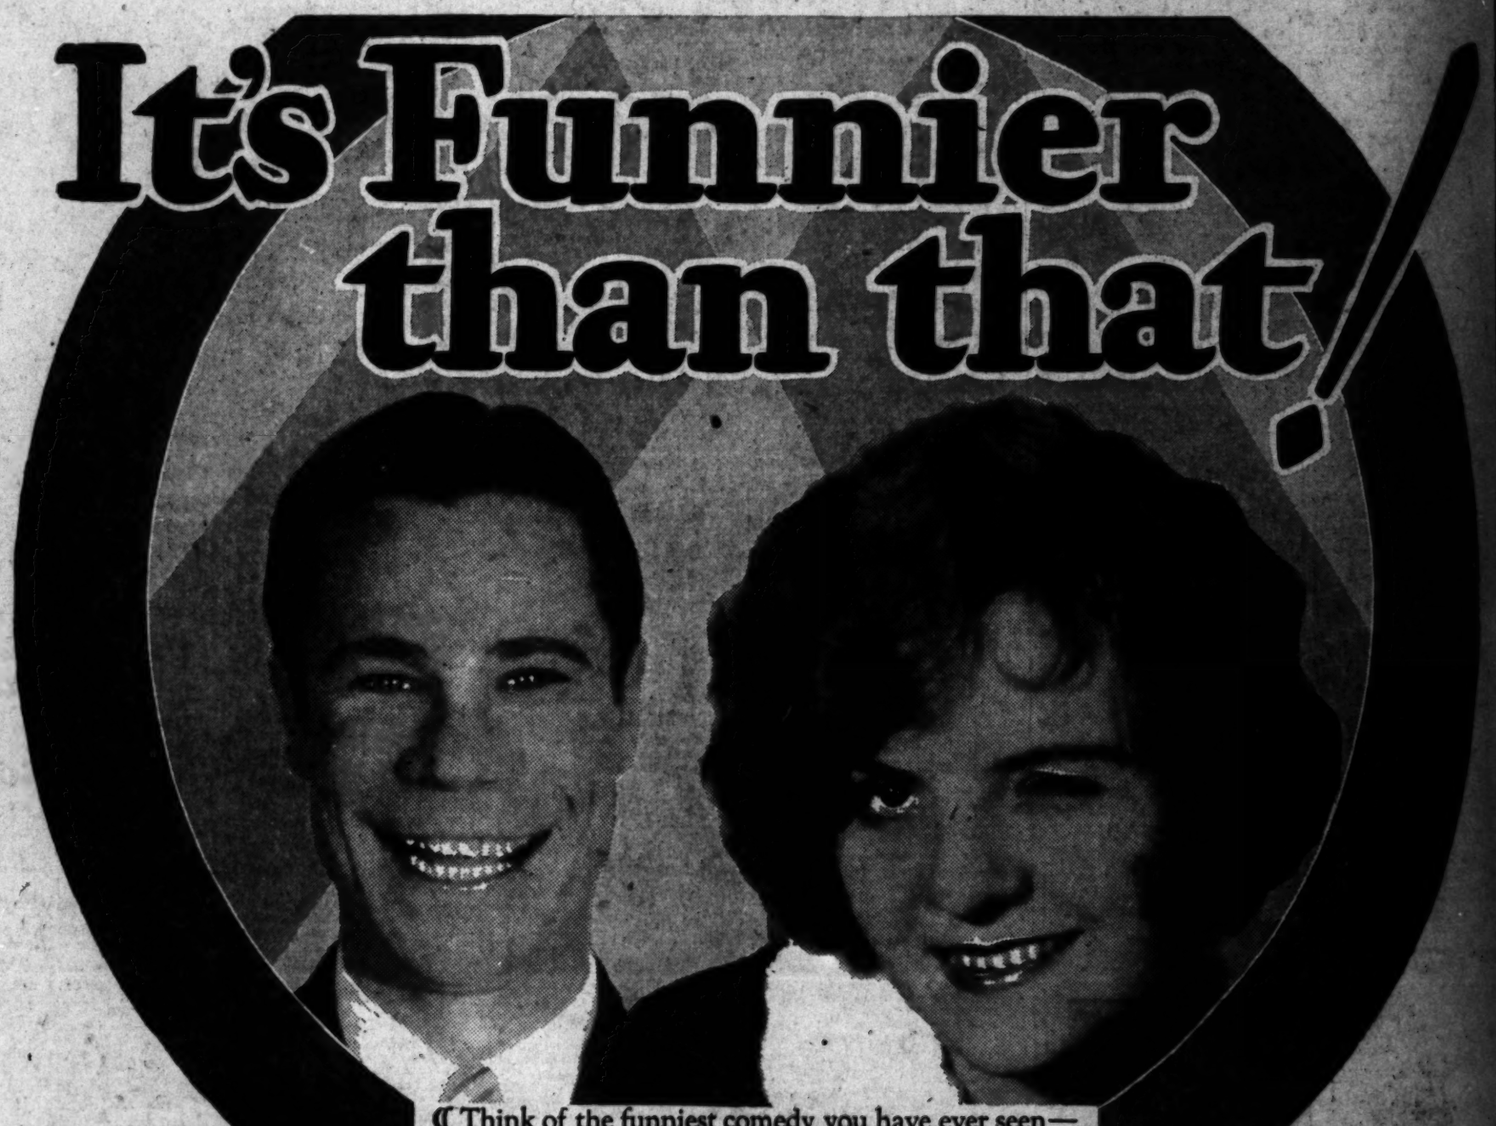
It's Funnier than that!



¶ Think of the funniest comedy you have ever seen—and then forget it! "Hold Everything" is funnier than that! It is positively the funniest comedy ever made—and when we say positively—we mean positively.

¶ "Hold Everything" is based on the comedy which recently concluded a run of a year and three months in New York.

¶ It has a great story, is full of heart interest, has a great cast of stage and screen celebrities, five real song hits, a chorus of seventy-two unkissed sunkist beauties and more laughs than a studio full of custard pies.

¶ Joe E. Brown and Winnie Lightner head the cast of laugh-makers. You have never really seen either one, until you have seen them in "HOLD EVERYTHING."

¶ "Hold Everything" is even funnier than "Gold Diggers of Broadway." It's the best picture ever made by Warner Brothers and the best comedy ever made by anyone. Hold everything for "Hold Everything"—because "HOLD EVERYTHING" Has Everything!
